SILAS GEORGE PUGH
A VENERABLE PIONEER BURIED BY THE MASONS

A large gathering of old pioneers, relatives and friends assembled Wednesday to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Silas George Pugh, who died of heart failure after a very short illness. Rev. P. S. Knight conducted an impressive funeral service at the home of the family, and the members of Pacific lodge, No. 50, A. F. & A. M. conducted the remains to the grave in the Claggett cemetery, and buried the body of their honored member of 40 years' standing according to the ritual of the order. Silas Pugh was 79 years old on February 27, last. He was born at Williamsport, Indiana, and removed with his family to Arkansas at the age of 10 years, started for Oregon with his father, Wm. Pugh, and family, in the immigrant train of 1845. His father died on the plains of fever, but there were some sturdy boys older than Silas, and the family came on through and located in Washington county, then in Linn, and finally settled down at what is now Chemawa, before Salem was even a village. Besides Silas the family consisted of the brothers, William, John and David and the two sisters, Amanda (Mrs. Wheeler) and Sallie (Mrs. Alvin Smith), and they all proceeded to take up donation land claims. Silas, who was only 18, took it by squatter's right under the territorial government, and has held it practically intact to his death, and leaves it in the hands of his son, George Linn Pugh, with whom he has made his home, and who has managed the farm. He had only one other child, Josephine Beatty, who died in 1903, by whom are left two grandchildren, George D. and Otto E. Beatty. Mr. Pugh was not a member of any church, but was a devoted Mason, and a member of the Modern Brotherhood of America lodge at Chemawa. He was a veteran of the Cayuse wars of 1848 and 1849. He was married to Sarah Rose, a daughter of C. S. D. Rose, a pioneer of the immigration of 1847. In 1854 he built him a cabin and broke up the prairie with oxen driven by Chas. Claggett, while he held the plow. Mrs. Pugh survives him. Silas Pugh was a good neighbor, kind hearted to a fault, generous to his family and to the poor. He was sociable by nature, and always had a kind word for every human being. "There was never a better man lived" was heard from many of his neighbors. He has lived a retired life of late, walking over his place a great deal, and, to some extent, directing operations, and was quite spry until last Saturday, when he took to his bed, and after very little suffering passed away at peace with himself and all mankind.

PUPILS OF BLIND SCHOOL GIVE MUSICAL RECITAL

The recital of the musical department of the Oregon Institute for the Blind, at the Christian church, last night, was a delightful affair, and it was also a revelation to many, as showing how the human mind can find light, though shrouded in eternal darkness. The church proper was filled to capacity, and a big overflow half filled the Sunday school room adjoining. There was a little delay, the opening chorus beginning at 8:20, but the evening's entertainment was well worth a much longer wait. The chorus was well rendered, and disclosed some very sweet and clear voices, and also showed careful training and patient practice. Following this was a piano duet by Myrtle Buzan and T. S. Roberts, which was delicately played and heartily applauded. Miss Buzan, in addition to this, had two other numbers, which she played with fine expression, and absolute precision. She was heartily encored, and the audience was loth to let her stop, even after she had responded to an encore. She is certainly talented and versatile, for, in addition to her musical numbers, she gave a recitation, "Sally Ann's Experience," in an imitable manner, catching the tone of voice and expression of the character in a remarkable manner, and, as she sat in a low rocking chair, and knotted her threads as she told the story and "pieced her quilt" at the same time, one could, with but a little stretch of the imagination, believe he was listening to old Aunt Jane herself, as she gleefully told the story. A big bunch of carnations was handed her along with a recall, and she gave a brief little skit entitled "Billy do."

difficult pieces must be played without the aid of notes, the marvel grows. His fingers fluttered back and forth over the keyboard, never making a mistake or false note. After his first number the audience would not be satisfied until he gave them more. The song "Spring's Awakening," by R. H. Leahy, was well sang, and in response to a vigorous encore, he favored the audience with "A Son of the Desert." He has a fine baritone voice, and has it in good control. The number, however, that most pleased the writer, was the selection from "Il Trovatore," on the violin, by William Baller. It was great. Baller is not only a violinist, he is an artist. He has a delicacy of touch and a precision of execution that is seldom equaled, and of which the big audience showed its appreciation. The song by the glee club, "Comrades in Arms," was heartily applauded and deserved all it got. It was a delightful event in every way, and one that speaks volumes for Superintendent Moores and his able assistants. Tonight the graduation exercises will be held in the Christian church, and the pupils will put on the charming little operetta, in two acts, entitled "Sylvia."

Governor Benson is a delegate from Roseburg to the grand lodge I. O. O. F. at Albany, and will attend.

Danderine

EVERYBODY CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR NOW, and they don't have to wait weeks and months for results either. You will notice marked improvement after the very first application.

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

Danderine is quickly and thoroughly absorbed by the scalp and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities. It is pleasant and easy to use—simply apply it to the scalp and hair once a day until the hair begins to grow, then two or three times a week till desired results are obtained.

A lady from California writes in substance as follows: "I have been using your wonderful hair tonic for several months and at last I am now blessed with a wonderful suit of hair that measures over 45 inches in length; the hair is over 5 inches around."

Another from New Jersey: "After using six bottles I am happy to say that I have as nice a head of hair as anyone in New Jersey."

This Great Hair-Growing Remedy can now be had at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Free To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Keeneland Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

STUDY THE ABOVE MAP

BLOOMER'S ADDITION to the City of Newport, Oregon, is now on the market for the first time. The tract is located about half way between Nye Creek and Newport, and consists of some 30 lots, on the rising ground directly above the ocean. Each lot is but a few steps from the beach and commands a view of the ocean or surf for miles north and south. To the north can be seen Jump Off Joe and the Yaquina Head Light. To the south the entrance to Yaquina Bay and the Lifesaving Station. The property is about a five-minute walk from the boat landing in Newport. It is reached by a new six-foot board walk, which runs in a straight line from the Ocean House Hotel in a northwest direction to the lots. This is now the most popular walk in Newport on account of its beautiful surroundings and magnificent view of the Pacific when the end is reached at BLOOMER'S ADDITION. Here before the observer the ocean and the beach stretch for miles and miles.

A WORD ABOUT YAQUINA BAY

You could not find a more interesting location to spend your summer than around this beautiful bay, which is conceded by those who know, to be the most beautiful summer resort, NATURALLY, of any on the Pacific coast, barring none. Hunting and fishing are unexcelled, and the many places of interest close to Newport, such as the Lighthouse, Otter Rock, Seal Rocks, etc., make it an ideal place to own a summer home.

NOW LOOK AT THE MAP

You will see that BLOOMER'S ADDITION is right on the ocean, and yet has the great advantage of being close to the bay and town, with no steep hills to climb to reach it. The beach in front of the property is good for bathing and the gathering of rock oysters. Mr. Bloomer has already built two beautiful cottages on these lots for his own personal use. Mr. Bloomer is a Seattle man, and intends to make this the most popular addition to Newport.
