

MAY HAVE A LONG SESSION A FIGHT ON BETWEEN GRAFT AND DECENCY

Olympia, Wash., June 25.—The outlook with reference to the special session of the Washington legislature today is for a long and expensive session. The second day's session failed to evolve a positive program with relation to the main point at issue, which is the immediate disposal of the Schively indictment for corruption and malfeasance in office and there appears to be little prospect of the immediate breaking of the deadlock that exists.

In Gov. Roy's office a meeting of senators favorable to taking swift action against Schively was held until late into the night to consider action on the Palmer bill, which creates a bureau to control the insurance department, but the fate of this measure is much in doubt. Twenty-two votes are necessary to pass the bill. At the meeting last night, seventeen senators signed an agreement to vote for it. Two others, Rosenhaupt and Cotterill, who were present, did not sign, holding to the impeachment idea.

It is pointed out that if impeachment proceedings are insisted upon, Commissioner Schively's trial by the senate may be prolonged for weeks and months because of the determined opposition of the faction which is opposed to further legislative investigation.

A two-thirds vote is required to insure impeachment.

MISS SHELTON'S PIANO RECITAL

The pupils of Miss Beatrice Shelton, pianist, will appear in their closing recital at the First Methodist church tonight. The public is invited and are assured an enjoyable evening. A brilliant program has been arranged and the following artists will assist: Mrs. Charles S. WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Grantville, Vt. — "I was passing through the change of life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R. F. D., Grantville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

By Moonlight, Bendel—Mabel Smith.
Meditation, Mietske—Viola Vercler, Mrs. Ringo, Prof. Roberts.

CROSS-- HYLAND FIGHT

[United Press Leased Wire.]
San Francisco, June 25.—The long and the short of it will hook up when "Fighting Dick" Hyland, the sturdy Californian, and Leach Cross, the tooth-yanking boxer from New York's East Side, step into Coffroth's Sunshine club arena tomorrow afternoon. Hyland is 5 feet, 3 inches, beamy and heavily muscled, and is the exact opposite in physique of Cross, who is 5 feet, 8 inches, lithe and rangy. Aside from their physical differences, there is little to compare between the two boys. Hyland, in his fight with Nelson, showed a fair amount of speed, lots of stamina, gameness galore and a punch that hurt, but could not finish the Dane. The latter deficiency, however, is no disgrace, as every heavy-hitting lightweight in the ring has had a crack at Nelson, and failed to put him out. Cross is clever, has a terrific punch, and when he is leading is one of the most vicious fighters in the ring. When the other fellow's guns begin to fire too rapidly Cross crawls into his shell, which is one of the most perfect defenses ever devised, and remains there as long as the danger is present. Nothing can induce him to come out unless he sees the widest kind of an opening or he has assured himself that his opponent is ready to blow up. He is the most consistent "sure thing" fighter in the ring today.

Cross and Hyland went six rounds in New York, and, while no decision was rendered by the referee, the consensus of opinion was that Cross had a shade. This time they are scheduled to go over the Marathon route, which will be an entirely new game for Cross, who has never gone farther than 12 rounds.

Hyland has been working easily for the fight, as he was only a few pounds overweight when the match was made. Cross came west weighing 141, and, as they have to weigh 133 at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, neither has had any trouble on the score of making the requisite poundage.

month ago and that she had been entered by him in the Tingley school of theosophy of which Gage is a member.

Finally, in closing a tacturn interview, Gage again showed his resentment at having his name drawn into what he termed "a queer story."

Born in Washington.
Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—Court records here indicate that Mrs. Edith Thompson-Woodhill was Ann Pearl Witz before her adoption by Captain Charles H. Thompson. They show that Thompson adopted a girl on that name October 13, 1890. The girl was the daughter of Ann Zetella Witz, widow of Matthew Witz, and was born at Asotin, Wash., November 30, 1886.

Was Theosophical Student.
Boston, Mass., June 25.—Mrs. Edith Woodhill was the divorced wife of Walter L. Caswell, a Boston osteopath, at the time she married Gilbert Woodhill, the Los Angeles lumber dealer, a little more than a year ago. She was a friend of Mrs. Katherine Tingley, the Point Loma "purple mother," and studied theosophy for several years. She lived in Brookline for several years and friends say she was placed in the Point Loma school by Lyman J. Gage, former secretary of the treasury.

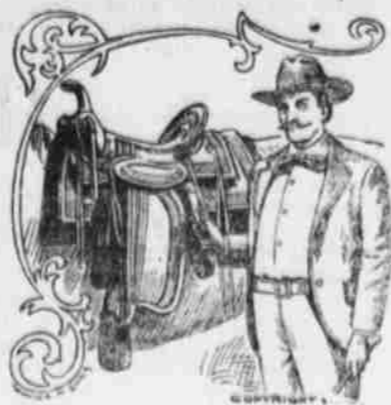

The Mystery Deepens.
St. Michaels, Md., June 25.—Mrs. Edith Thompson Woodhill was killed by a woman, who hit her over the head with a champagne bottle, according to revelations said to be contained in a letter found in the pocket of Emmet Roberts, who was slain by a posse early today at McDaniel's. If the name of the murderess is given in the letter it has not been allowed to leak out by the police, although the officers have admitted that they expect persons, not yet mentioned, to figure prominently in the case before long.

It is reported that the letter states that Mrs. Woodhill, whose nude body was pulled out of a creek near here day before yesterday, was slain by a woman companion, and that two men were present and witness of the murder. The connection of these men with the tragedy is not clear, but it is thought that Roberts was one of the pair. The authorities state that they are certain that if Roberts did not actually participate in the crime he was an accessory after the fact.

This has led to the belief that the letter found in his pocket stated that he disposed of the body after Mrs. Woodhill had been killed by her female companion.

along a rough road at the brink of a deep gulch, the car leaped over the embankment, plunging 150 feet to the creek beneath. Three of Hansen's ribs and his right shoulder were broken. The car was demolished. Hansen was finally delivered at the hospital, where the surgeons stated he will survive.

PRAYERS FOR RAIN ARE STILL ASCENDING

The Capital Journal's efforts to have prayer meetings held for rain are ridiculed by a few, but all serious-minded, thinking people know that such things have been done and that the rain is very badly needed. It is a fact that rains have been sent in answer to prayers in many places in the world, and why should not Salem prayers accomplish results? Because the idea originated with this newspaper makes it none the less valuable, and the way the skies have clouded up today indicates that some one has been sending up petitions. We will not claim the credit for this newspaper for the clouds that have rolled up nor for any rains that may be obtained. We are perfectly willing that Father Moore, Rev. Selleck, or Dr. McInturff or any one whose business it is to hold prayer meetings and address petitions to the Giver of all Good, shall have the credit for all that shall be done in the way of securing moisture, but rain we must have. The farms need it. The cities need it. The Capital Journal is willing to join its prayers with those of any religious faith, if we can only get some rain. We ought to have enough influence and sincerity and righteousness in this community to get a little rain if they can do such things in California, Nevada, and even in Mormon Utah. Let us pray.

FAIRMOUNTS TO PLAY SOLDIER BOYS AGAIN

The members of the plucky Fairmount baseball team are of the opinion the picked nine from the Third regiment of Portland O. N. G., is not able to come to Salem and defeat them again as they did last Sunday, and Manager Miller has scheduled a game with the soldier lads to be pulled off at the Asylum avenue grounds next Sunday afternoon. The Fairmount boys were certainly not entitled to lose the 6-5 game last Sunday to the Third regiment, as that aggregation was outplayed at every point of the game by the local team, and had it not been for a few costly errors on the local side the Portland men would have been nicely cleaned up. It is probable that the Third regiment manager will come to the front with a stronger team Sunday, as he had all kinds of confidence last Sunday that he had representatives of the Oregon National Guard in Portland who could play baseball with a little ping pong mixed in. Manager Miller has just one idea, and that is to stir his team up to the fact that they are under the eye of the Salem baseball bug and, if they should take a notion to "lay down" while in the harness Sunday, things will be moving right short. The Fairmount Club team under the management of Waido Miller is giving the public baseball now and their efforts in this line are appreciated, as evidenced by the enthusiasm which the big crowds show at the games.

McLard is to have mail carrier service, beginning September 15.
