

New Local Option Ideas.

Massachusetts temperance folks have been discussing methods of improving the local option law.

The reason is that the public sentiment is against strict enforcement. Many people vote "no" solely on the ground that they are against the open saloon.

But some temperance people see that this irregular traffic is in several ways worse than the legalized selling.

A case where a violation of the law may reasonably be expected is that of Springfield, Ohio.

for license by a majority of nearly 2000. The statement is often made that no reflection is cast upon the wisdom of a law because it is violated.
