THE EDITOR OFF ON A TRIP TO HARNEY COUNTY.

Sunday afternoon The Journal editor left Salem for Burns, Harney county. A fine rain was falling.

Prof. Yoder gave us a few tips about stage travel and some good fishing places on Bear creek.

We gave him some instructions about some of the bad boys at the Illihee club.

Father Moore was our fellow traveller as far as Portland, where he was going to attend a conclave of the Knights of Columbus.

We found the Oregon hotel, with 300 rooms, chuck-a-block with Seattle Expo. travel.

Manager Dickinson has a hundred more rooms nearly finished.

He was sending bus loads of passengers arriving on every train to other hotels.

His hotel is advertised in The Journal and it was still raining.

The North Bend and Marshfield delegations for the Burns Development Congress arrived on the Breakwater.

Grimes had five ladies to fill up who had not eaten a mouthful on the trip. It took them until 11 o'clock.

Monday morning the skies had cleared and we left Portland.

The ride up the Columbia was delightful after the rain.

There was such a wealth of green foliage, the great river at flood, the skies blue, with white clouds.

The syringas in bloom shimmer out among the dark green firs like pink flowers.

Not only are old fish wheels running on the Columbia but new ones are running.

How little respect have the cannery millionaires for enacted laws.

At one point a train was skating along down the river on the North Bank road.

Our train was skating up the South Bank road.

Two white-hulled steamers plowed the waters in opposite directions between the racers on the steel highways.

For backgrounds rose the mountains of black basalt with walls of living green.

It is again most beautiful in the latter part of September and October.

Then the brilliant colors are on the forests and mountains and canyons are wreathed in purple and violet mists.

The gorge of the Columbia is the fairyland of the gods at any season of the year.

The hotel dining rooms will have to be enlarged unless the fashion in hats changes.

It is almost impossible to have near acquaintances among the fashionable sex any longer.

The younger and prettier, the wider the brims.

They are so near and yet so unapproachable.

There ought to be a law against enclosing so much beautiful scenery.

We saw one woman wearing what resembled an inverted clothes basket or wickerwork baby wagon with the wheels taken off.

She had to back up and come into the hotel elevator sideways.

The bus wouldn't hold her and she had to watch her chance and go to the depot in an open car.

We reach Vale Tuesday morning and leave for Burns by stage, getting there some time Wednesday.

The Development Congress meets Thursday and Friday and the Fourth of July is celebrated Saturday, July 3.

Embroidery for Summer Verandas—Table Tops—Scarfs and Matching Pillow Sets That Sweethearts, Sisters and Wives Are Making—Dining Room Sets in Lazy Daisy Work

New York, June 17th.

This is the time of year when some special type of needlework fad breaks out and rages with more or less virulence, giving employment for skilled fingers on the cool verandas that have come to be the universal outdoor living rooms.

One season beadwork had its innings, then every girl, young or old, was knitting silk neckties. This year's craze is for library sets, and never before has there been a more sensible fad. They are made up of a circular tabletop, 27 inches in diameter, a scarf for an oblong table, and other a square pillow, 27 inches or an oblong pillow 18x36 inches.

Kama Cloth.

"Kama" cloth, which is a new weave of linen crash, is the favorite material, and the designs are conventionalized fruit patterns or simple geometric figures cleverly arranged. One set has a latticed design of brown orange stems, dull green leaves, and tawny yellow fruit done in honeycomb stitch.

"Caliph" Stitch.

Most of the work is done in the simple long garning stitch known as "Caliph," which works up quickly with the most artistic results. New process rayon silks are used for the embroidery in the soft pastel and tapestry shades, which are found in such perfection in this make.

Help in Shading.

The whole effect of embroidery is spoiled if shadings are not well done, and for the woman who is uncertain of her skill in this direction, there are furnished outline designs with the colorings indicated by numbers that correspond with those on the silks, so that she is sure to be successful if she follows the figure.

A Pomegranate Design.

A lovely pomegranate design, No. 662, has the fruit done in three shades of rose, 1440, 1441 and 1442.

The leaves in pastel greens, 1376, 1447 and 1449. A scroll of soft, yellow, 1259 1/2, and a little Japanese gold thread, that washes as perfectly as the rest of the materials, lights up the design, while the whole pattern is outlined in black silk. All the pieces are finished with a fancy braid known as "Kama" trimming, that sells at 25 cents per yard and matches the crash in color.

A Curious Economy. It is curious how many women will buy commonplace patterns and poor materials, waste their skill and time in producing articles that have no value, when if they used handsome materials at only a slightly increased cost they would turn out really valuable productions.

Cheap cottons and wood fibre imitations of silk that lose their lustre and suppleness at the first exposure to dampness are distinctly extravagant investments, however low their cost, since they spoil the effect of any garment or piece where they have been used.

Lazy Daisy Work. Very pretty and easy to do is the "Lazy Daisy" work that makes such charming matched sets of centre and plate and finger bowl dollies, for luncheon or dinner decorations. The daisies are made of rick-rack braid, and can be bought ready to applique, or easily fashioned from the braids by sewing the points together.

The handsomest sets have the decorative stitches, stems, leaves, etc., done in "Mt. Mellick Silk," which is an especially beautiful white, glossy and smooth in the working. Most of these sets are finished with Cluny lace edges, but a handsome scallop of the silk is equally good style.

How to Wash White Silk Embroideries.

If more people knew that white silk embroideries can be perfectly cleansed and kept white, by using a solution of half water, half alcohol, drying in the shade, and pressing with a somewhat cool iron on a well padded board, they would be more ready to spend their time in producing handsome silk pieces. These gleam out on damask as no linen or cotton embroideries can ever do.

It is well to keep silk sets between layers of blue tissue paper, just as one keeps handsome laces to preserve their purity of color.

STUDY THE ABOVE MAP

BLOOMER'S ADDITION to the City of Newport, Oregon, is now on the market for the first time. The tract is located about half way between Nye Creek and Newport, and consists of some 30 lots, on the rising ground directly above the ocean. Each lot is but a few steps from the beach and commands a view of the ocean or surf for miles north and south. To the north can be seen Jump Off Joe and the Yaquina Head Light. To the south the entrance to Yaquina Bay and the Lifesaving Station. The property is about a five-minute walk from the boat landing in Newport. It is reached by a new six-foot board walk, which runs in a straight line from the Ocean House Hotel in a northwest direction to the lots. This is now the most popular walk in Newport on account of its beautiful surroundings and magnificent view of the Pacific when the end is reached at BLOOMER'S ADDITION. Here before the observer the ocean and the beach stretch for miles and miles.

A WORD ABOUT YAQUINA BAY

You could not find a more interesting location to spend your summer than around this beautiful bay, which is con-ed by those who know, to be the most beautiful summer resort, NATURALLY, of any on the Pacific coast, barring none. Hunting and fishing are unexcelled, and the many places of interest close to Newport, such as the Lighthouse, Otter Rock, Seal Rocks, etc., make it an ideal place to own a summer home.

NOW LOOK AT THE MAP

You will see that BLOOMER'S ADDITION is right on the ocean, and yet has the great advantage of being close to the bay and town, with no steep hills to climb to reach it. The beach in front of the property is good for bathing and the gathering of rock oysters. Mr. Bloomer has already built two beautiful cottages on these lots for his own personal use. Mr. Bloomer is a Seattle man, and intends to make this the most popular addition to Newport.

INSULTED WOMAN AND IS NOW DYING

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Santa Cruz, June 29.—Two men are wounded, one of them probably fatally as the result of an insult to a woman and a subsequent battle with an officer of the law early today. Leonard Lovett, who resented an insult offered his wife by Albert Castro, has a bullet in his groin and Castro has a wound below the heart which may cause his death.

Lovett and his wife were returning home from the Casino shortly after midnight when they met Castro, who is alleged to have been intoxicated. Castro is said to have made an insulting remark to Mrs. Lovett, whose husband resented it. Lovett struck at Castro and the latter drew his revolver, firing a bullet into his assailant's groin.

Castro then took flight and was not found until an hour later when he was overtaken a mile outside of the city by Officer Conroy.

As soon as he saw the danger of capture Castro made a stand and opened fire on the officer. Conroy returned the fire and a pitched battle followed. The duel ended when Castro fell, a bullet wound below the heart rendering him unconscious.
