DIVIDED ON LIQUOR QUESTION

American Woman Suffrage Association in Convention at Seattle Can't Agree As to Policy.

SPLIT ON LIQUOR

NATIONAL PRESIDENT REV. ANNA B. SHAW AND OTHERS WOULD JOIN FORCES WITH PROHIBITIONISTS—MRS. ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY OPPOSES IT.

[United Press Leased Wire.]
Seattle, Wash., July 3.—The vital issue before the National American Woman Suffrage Association, in convention in Seattle today, and the question which promises to precipitate the most interesting contest of the meeting, is whether or not a fight is to be made against the organized liquor traffic.
Resolutions, placing woman suffrage associations all over the country, in an open fight against the liquor interests, are being considered by the resolution committee, which held a preliminary conference this morning. A report to the convention will be made Tuesday afternoon, and before the report is made, strong pressure from both sides will

LODGING HOUSES BURNED

One Woman Burned to Death in Seattle Fire and Three Firemen Have a Narrow Escape.

MAY BE MORE DEAD

A WILD PANIC AMONG THE ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY LODGERS—FIREMEN CONFIDENT THERE ARE SEVERAL MORE CHARRED BODIES IN RUINS.

[United Press Leased Wire.]
Seattle, Wash., July 3.—One woman was burned to death, three firemen seriously burned and otherwise injured and three lodgers also burned and crushed in a fire which completely destroyed the Terrace lodging house, at 410 Terrace street, and gutted the adjoining lodging houses early this morning.

The firemen and police are inclined to believe that several bodies are buried in the ruins. It has been found so far impossible to check the guests of the burned lodging house. Water is being played on the smoldering debris, and as soon as it cools enough to make it possible, the ruins will be searched for other victims of the fire.

The dead: Unidentified woman; body taken to morgue.

The injured: Lieutenant William Boyle, fireman, back and knees burned and left ankle fractured.

Koe Cook, pipefitter, back burned and lungs affected by the inhalation of fire and smoke.

H. C. Taylor, pipefitter, back burned and foot crushed.
George Mendel, lodger at the Terrace house, cut on head and feet burned.

Fred Hanson, lodger, back and shoulders burned.

All were wooden structures and within a few minutes after the blaze was discovered the Terrace building was in flames. Firemen were on the scene in a few seconds, and it was while they were attempting to demolish the central building, to prevent the complete destruction of the two adjoining structures, that it collapsed and several firemen were hurled into a mass of flames. Their fellows ran to their rescue and dragged them out, barely in time to save them from a horrible death in the fiery furnace. All the injured were taken to the City Hospital, where their injuries were dressed.

All three of the rooming houses were crowded when the fire broke out, and the wildest excitement and panic followed among the guests. The three buildings are estimated to have contained fully 150 persons, and there were scores of narrow escapes from the blazing structures.

The fire, which originated in the basement of the Terrace house, burned for nearly two hours before it was brought under control. The cause is unknown.

TELLS OF BRUTAL HANDLING

Ella Gingles Accused of Stealing Lace Tells of Inhuman Acts of Her Accuser.

[United Press Leased Wire.]
Chicago, July 3.—Telling a story of horrible cruelty, Ella Gingles, the pretty 18-year-old Irish lace maker, who is accused of stealing lace from Miss Agnes Barrette, her former employer, went on the witness stand today, in her own behalf. The girl is the same who recently created a sensation when she was found bound and gagged in a bathroom at the Hotel Wellington.

Three times during the time she was on the witness stand the pretty little lace maker was overcome with emotion, and had to be revived by a physician before she could continue her story. The girl said that on the evening of January 4, of this year, Miss Barrette requested her to come to the Wellington, promising that she would pay her money due her as wages for her work in her employer's lace establishment.

When she went to the hotel, she alleged, Miss Barrette, and Mrs. Cecelia Kenyon locked her in a room and tried to induce her to become a "white slave." When she refused she said they pretended to search her for valuables, they alleged she had stolen, and during the process choked and beat her.

She was making a hard fight to escape, when a man entered the room and helped the women to heap indignities upon her. Her cries were smothered by a pillow, and she could not summon help.

Finally they took her money from her and let her go, half clad, she alleged. She then related the incidents that led up to her discovery by the police in the Wellington bath room.

She said that she had tried to enlist aid to prosecute her women tormentors, but had failed.

Miss Kenyon has since the time when the incidents described by the girl are alleged to have taken place.

The court room was crowded today when the girl told her story. Most of the spectators were women, and many handkerchiefs were in evidence most of the time.

Notice—All pupils of Miss Mnetta Magers are requested to be at her studio Monday at 1 o'clock.

AUTOISTS ATTACK DRIVER

Thugs Dray Andy McFarland From Buggy, Beat and Then Shoot Him.

As the result of a murderous attack upon the person of Andy McFarland, an employe of the Yankee livery stables in this city, by two unknown men driving an automobile a mile and a half on this side of Independence at 10 o'clock last night the entire country has been agitated and is up in arms and officers of both Polk and Marion counties are out searching for the guilty parties.

McFarland in giving an account of the affair to the sheriff told in part as follows:

"I had been to Independence where I took a man for the stables and had just got about a mile and a half this side of Independence coming up the road. I turned off to the right side before they were close to me and expected them to turn the other way, as usually is the case when two rigs meet, but instead of taking their turn they drew right up in front of my horse and I hollered at them to give me some road. One of the fellows then told me I was 'the second' — — — who had called them down that night and they would 'get me.' Both of the men then climbed out of the machine and went for me. Before I had a chance to defend myself they pulled me out of my rig and began beating me and did not stop until they had my face in this kind of a condition. They then got into their machine and started on. Some people living near the road learned there was something up and they took me into their house and dressed my face.

"It's queer but I never knew I was shot until I got back to the barn here. I don't know who it was, but they both had on dusters and were big men. They were riding in what looked to be a Buick automobile. I know it was a white one."

When McFarland reached this city
