"Down With Direct Legislation."

This is not the cry of the privileged corporations and corrupt politicians, but it expresses what they want. They are rapidly "getting wise to" legislation to special interests. With the initiative to propose laws that corrupt legislators would pigeon hole, with the referendum to veto laws that corrupt legislators pass, and with the recall to impeach and remove corrupt administrative and legislative officials, the people possess a power that tends to secure popular government by the very fact that the power exists. Officials are more prudent when they are subject to summary recall and legislators are more thoughtful when they may be directly commanded or over-ruled by their constituents. This is one of the most wholesome effects of direct legislation. And the rascals are finding it out. Consequently they are not only doing all they can to prevent its further adoption, but are resorting to all sorts of devices to abolish it where it has been adopted.—The Public.

Keep out of the ruts—use the King road drag.

THE TOWN THAT PUSH BUILT

V.—The Wily Furniture Man

HERE is the furniture dealer who read a clothier's ad. and by it was led to spend for clothing the selfsame bill. That he got from the dry goods merchant's till. Where it had been placed when the butcher bought. And paid with the bill that he had got when the grocer with him had settlement made. With the money the honest workman paid.

P.S.—The local dealer who's up to snuff will always advertise his stuff.

FOURTEEN GIRLS ALL FROM BATH

Take Part in Big Celebration—Each From Town of That Name in the United States.

Bath, England, July 19.—Fourteen girls from the American and Canadian cities of Bath today participated in the opening ceremonies of the Bath pageant, over which the Duke and Duchess of Connaught presided. The celebration was in the nature of a festival commemorative of the chief events in the history of the famous British watering place, and was managed by Frank Lascelles, who has been in charge of many similar affairs on both sides of the Atlantic.

The American representatives were chosen by the mayors of their respective cities. Dressed in white, and attended by pages bearing banners, on which were emblazoned the arms of their cities, the young ladies took part in a symbolic scene, written by Mrs. Katrina Trask, of New York.

Bath, New York, was represented by Miss Eva Meinman; Bath, Mich., by Miss Fleda A. Harfe; Bath, N. H., by Mrs. General Streeter; Bath, N. C., by Miss Ward; Bath, Pa., by Miss Lihaney; Bath, S. C., by Miss Ella Wilson; and Bath, Mo., by Miss Madly Clifford. The Americans were entertained by Lady de Blagaire and Misses Dominica Watson, A. G. Meyer and Sturge Corterell.

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught were accompanied by their son and daughter, Prince Arthur and Princess Patricia. Among the Americans present at the opening ceremonies were Lord Fairfax of Cameron, a lineal descendant of the famous parliamentary general who captured Bath in 1645.

HEAT KILLS JAPANESE

which will be called upon to stand the first shock, in case of war. All soldiers showing constitutional weakness, who do not perish under the drastic training are placed in the reserves.

"During last December an infantry brigade was ordered to scale Mount Fujiama during a blinding blizzard and over 20 were lost during the ascent."

"A popular outbreak was narrowly averted at the time but the general staff explained in the order that resulted in the heavy loss by stating that it was necessary to insure the men to both cold and heat even though lives were sacrificed in view of the inevitable struggle which was pending with Russia in Manchuria. The present drilling of the troops in the stifling heat which sweeps over Japan in the summer indicates that popular disapproval has not influenced the general staff in instituting more humane methods in the conditioning of the troops.

"It is estimated that the lives of over 1000 soldiers have been sacrificed in carrying out this policy since the close of the Russian war, and that thousands of others have been incapacitated for military duty. Despite the protests of the press and the progressives among military officers, the mistake has refused to interfere with the inhumane policies of the general staff."

INQUIRY AS TO DEATH

Hege would be given to Lieutenant Adams, one of the army officers who was with Sutton the night of his death.

The inquiry is being held at the instigation of Mrs. Sutton, who does not believe that her son committed suicide, as was the general belief at the time of his death. Since that time various theories have been advanced, among them one that he sought a duel with Lieutenant Thatcher, and that he shot himself accidentally.

THOUSANDS OF ELKS IN BAY CITY

San Francisco, July 19.—This city is over-run today with Elks who are returning from the great Los Angeles convention.

Early today a delegation of 150, hailing from Florence, Colo., arrived from the convention city and immediately set about "seeing the town." It is estimated that 2000 of the lodge men are here today.

Downtown streets and business houses are decorated with welcoming banners, and points of interest are swarming with visitors. Golden Gate Park, the Cliff house and Chinatown were objective points for hundreds of fun-seekers. Local Elks have made ambitious plans for their entertainment.

ASSORTMENT OF FISH ON WAY TO SEATTLE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Santa Monica, Cal., July 19.—The "fish special" bound for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle, Wash., containing hundreds of finny denizens of the deep, in specially constructed tanks, started northward from here last night for the fair. The traveling aquarium is under the care of Captain O. Weist, and contains many specimens of fish life gathered from the ocean in the vicinity of Santa Monica and Catalina Island.

One special tank containing 600 gallons of water holds a devil fish, some few small sharks, a pair of sea spiders and various crustacean life. Another tank holds 500 gallons of water, and there are 190 10-gallon tanks aboard the car. The fishermen of Santa Monica and Catalina have been several weeks gathering the specimens.
