Struck by an Auto—

Last evening a man carrying a bunch of tent poles walked out from behind an automobile, which was standing in front of the Meyer machine shop, and did not see a big red touring car which was bearing down on him, and the result was man and tent poles went sailing through the atmosphere, the driver of the red machine grew white under the chin and the toneau full of lawies showed their appreciation of the accident by emitting screams of terror and a general oral riot call was turned on. The tent pole man was not killed outright, as at first supposed, but instead he got to his feet unhurt, with the exception of a real bad scare and a little jarring up. Those who saw the accident say it was the fault of the man who was hit, as he failed to look to see if the road was clear when he stepped out from behind the machine.

Money Story a Fake—

Peter Larson, the wagonmaker in this city, says he will go Walter Buchner, the South Salem feed store proprietor, one better by producing another ten-spot of the 1847 make.
Peter has the goods and showed the same to a Journal reporter yesterday evening. He is sure either Uncle Sam has made a mistake in counting these coins or there is several of them out that are not a product of the United States mints, to, to be frank, plain counterfeit. Mr. Larsen came into possession of his coin several years ago when he traded another ten for the piece to his son Peter Jr. Peter Sr. was born in 1847 and the date on the ten dollar gold piece tallies with his birthday remarkably well.
