

Magnificent Showing of Tailored Suits

The most swaggy Tailored Gowns in Salem are tailored from goods selected by us and made by a large New York maker. The fabrics are the choicest weaves in mannish mixtures: Broadcloths, serges, chevots, diagonals, etc., in a wealth of patterns and new colorings. Leaders of fashion pronounce the style of these suits equal to the best shown in the Northwest. The coats are quarter to seven-eighths lengths; the skirts are plain and pleated gored, with the ever popular jet buttons much in evidence. The window display shows the reality of this pen picture.

"Paid in Full"—"Paid in Full," which held the boards at the Grand opera house last night, was one of the best that has visited the city in a long time. The play is clean, wholesome and good, and the players exceptionally strong. The stage settings were unusually fine, especially in the third act. The house was about an average for a good play in Salem, which means that it was light. However, those who went got the worth of their money, and had a thoroughly enjoyable evening. The Journal takes pleasure in commending the play and players.

May Start Mills Here—As a result of the monster flour mill belonging to the Portland Flouring Mills Company being a total loss by fire this morning, a probability is now in sight for future heavy operations of the Saem Flouring Mills. Although the Salem Flouring Mills is a separate firm from the Portland Flouring Mills in the vicinity, a large bulk of the work formerly done by the Portland mills will probably be turned over to the local mills. The Salem mills are among the finest on the coast.

Faked a Hold-Up Story—Two traveling salesmen, who evidently over-ran their expense account while in this city, made a wide stall in order to put the minds of interested parties at ease by claiming they were held up and robbed at the corner of Ferry and Liberty streets last Monday evening. It happened, however, that Night Officer Jory, while standing just across the street from the place where the would-be victims claimed the hold-up occurred, saw them pass up Ferry street toward the Willamette hotel. The officer then went around to the White House restaurant to order his midnight meal and upon entering the eating house he was informed that an officer was in great need at the Hotel Willamette. Officer Jory went around to the hostelry as soon as possible thinking something serious had occurred, and when he arrived he was confronted by the same two men he had seen passing up Ferry street who claimed they had been held up. They could not work their little scheme on Officer Jory, however, as he recognized them immediately and after they had told their story he gave them a little good advice about being so reckless with the robbing story. Such fellows as these do not deserve protection from the police if they should actually get in trouble, as assertions of the phony style not only cause the police much trouble at times, providing the story goes with the officers, but also places a bad reputation on the city.

SENATOR BAILEY WILL ANSWER BRYAN

[UNITED PRESS LEANED WIRE.]

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 15.—Senator Bailey declared today that he will answer Bryan's attack made on him, when he speaks at Dallas next Saturday evening.

Last week Bryan spoke here and during his address he scored the Texas delegation for voting a duty on hides. He denounced their actions as a violation of the party platform an aid to Cannibalism.

The speech was considered a direct challenge to Bailey at the time by the state politicians, and as such it was taken by the Texas senator.
