For the past two days Deputies Sheriff Esch and Needham have had about all they could handle in caring for the rush of tax payers, who are coming in at a great rate to save their property from the sheriff's sale. So far, the tax payers have responded to the last call promptly, and there is no expectation of a big run in property sales this winter.

A Milling Corporation—
Articles of incorporation were filed this morning signed by three prominent Portland business men and capitalists. William Ladd, Theo. B. Wilcox and J. W. Ganong, for the Odessa Milling Company and the Lind Milling Company. Some time ago the big mills belonging to the Portland Flouring Mills Company were burned to the ground, and these mills were operated under the management of the three signers to the new incorporations. It is more than probable that the Portland mills will be rebuilt on a much larger scale.

Supreme Court—
Next Monday morning the supreme court will open the regular October term. Among the first cases on appeal to be argued is that of State again Jack LaRose, the gas pipe thief, who stirred Portland up recently. The argument on appeal will be heard Tuesday morning. State against McDonald will be argued Wednesday morning, and the cases will then dwindle down to mostly damage suits and equity cases. On Tuesday morning bar examinations will be held in the supreme court chambers. All those wishing to apply for the examination would do well to call upon Clerk of the Supreme Court Moreland and secure application blanks.

Some Quick Work—
A clever piece of work was done by Deputy Sheriff Esch yesterday afternoon, when he, with the assistance of the telephone and City Marshal Bailey, of Aurora, captured Fred Lamona and Herbert Harris, on the complaint of George Ramp, of Brooks, who accused the two men of stealing a horse from his pasture at Brooks. Ramp phoned into the sheriff's office near 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and informed Deputy Esch that two men traveling through that vicinity in a covered wagon had made way with a horse which was running loose in the pasture. Deputy Esch then got into communication with all the likely persons he knew residing on the Brooks-Salem road, and an hour afterwards Marshal Bailey called up and stated that he had arrested two men traveling through that vicinity by Ramp. The deputy then went down to Aurora and escorted his prisoners to this city and locked them up. They will be arraigned before Justice Webster some time this afternoon.

Has Fine Delivery—
Housewives get prompt service at Ragan's Court Street grocery.

Practical Boosting—
Mr. Lawson and family of Hutchinson, Kansas, on their way from the east to Eugene, were met by W. A. Knorr, who recently bought the Price shoe store, just as they started, and he put up the inducements Salem offers to new comers so strongly that Mr. Lawson changed his mind and will locate here, being now on the way. This is practical boosting.

Sold Big Farm—
Late yesterday afternoon 305 acres of the finest land in the Waldo Hills district changed hands. The property was sold by its owner, Dr. W. A. Cusick, to a Jefferson man, Mr. Fred Yost. The land is a part of sections 2 and 11, in T. 8 S., R. 1 W. The consideration, as it appeared on the deed filed with the county recorder, was $16,012.50. This is one of the largest transfers filed for some time, and the land is said to be fully worth the amount Mr. Yost paid for it, and then some.

Taft Here Sunday—
According to the program, as at present arranged, President Taft will leave Portland next Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. This should make the time of his arrival here about 8 o'clock. While the President will not get off the cars here, it is probable that he will at least show himself on the rear platform, and give such Salemites as care for that kind of thing a chance to see the big man.

Last Will Filed—
The last will and testament of the late Henry D. Mount was filed in the county clerk's office this afternoon, and the widow and son, Orville, were appointed executors of the will. The deceased gives to each of his children $1, and $2800 to be divided equally between them, provided, however, that his wife, Rebecca Mount, have the use of the amount during her life. The widow is requested in the will to provide money for the education through college of the son, Albert.

Will Open Casket—
The casket containing the remains of the late Mrs. G. W. Crannis will be opened at the First Methodist church tomorrow between the hours of 12 and 1:30 o'clock, and her friends who desire to view the remains are requested to call at this time as the casket will not be opened again at the grave. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock.

Get Your Money's Worth—
By going to J. W. Lawrence, the up-to-date grocer, corner of Ferry and Commercial streets. Phone 311.

Dispute Verbal Contract—
A warm fight is being carried on in the offices of the Deschutes Irrigation and Power company and the settlers regarding irrigation contracts between the land owners and the irrigation company. The dispute is the result of an alleged failure to perform certain parts of a verbal contract. The settlers claim, in support of their cause for complaint, that when the contract was drawn up with the irrigation company for the irrigating of lands unsurveyed there was a verbal understanding that all lands amounting to an over-estimate of the area contracted for would be irrigated free of charge. It is contended by the Deschutes Irrigation and Power company that no verbal agreement was made and that a new lien is in effect which calls for $10 an acre for the irrigation of all lands not included in the original contract.

TEAMS ARE PLAYING FOR BLOOD

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25.—In one of the closest races in the history of the Western League, Sioux City and Des Moines are this afternoon battling for the premier honors of 1909.
While Sioux City is clashing with Omaha here, Des Moines is fighting it out with Lincoln at Des Moines. If Sioux City wins one game of the double-header scheduled for this afternoon the hunting will be hers.
If Sioux City loses both games and Des Moines wins the double-header from Lincoln, the pennant will fly in the Des Moines park. However, if Des Moines loses one game Sioux City can lose both games and still get away with the hunting.

FACED GALLOWS THREE TIMES

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—William Buckley whose sentence of death for the murder of George Rice in 1901 was recently commuted to 15 years' imprisonment by the governor, will be paroled in all probability soon.
Governor Gillette filed a request with the prison directors for the parole of Buckley, and at the board's meeting October 9, the recommendation of the governor will come before them for action.
Buckley was convicted of murdering Rice in 1901, when the machinists' strike was in progress. Since then the case has been reviewed by every court in the state, and Buckley has been sentenced to the gallows three times, and each time he has been granted a reprieve.

Now that Court street is paved, who will be responsible for the bill if the property owners win their suit? This is of more importance than "The Girl Question."

MR. STOLZ WANTS NEW BINDER

Mr. Stolz, chairman of the street committee, secured an order of the city council last night, authorizing the street department to expend $160 experimenting with the hot bitumen as a binder for macadamized streets. His plan is to put a gallon and a half to the square yard on the last coat before the surface coat and then roll the surface down into it. He believes that this will make a surface that will wear and will keep out the water, and it is to be tried on the south extension of the Winter street improvement. If it is a success it will promote the use of macadam in the residence districts, where the need of a cheaper pavement is very much felt.

The Postal Deficit.
The Corvallis Gazette-Times puts as much truth in the following lines as can possibly be crowded into them: Postmaster General Hitchcock in his efforts to erase the yearly postal deficit need not go beyond the government printing office to complete his job. Tons of literature from that place are sent to people who have so little interest in the matter forwarded that the wrapper or envelope is never torn off before the whole is thrown into the waste basket. This matter is hauled at the expense of the postal department and the cost of carrying it over the continent is responsible for a great share of the yearly deficit. No matter from the government printing office should be sent, except upon request. This would not only lessen the postal deficit—it would lessen the cost of the government printing office by two thirds and at the same time get the printed matter into the very hands that should have it. There need be no postal deficit.
