TOO MUCH HIGH LIFE PROVES HIS UNDOING

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Bellingham, Wash., Nov. 27.—Carl Hoff, the eccentric German whose indulgence in joy rides, champagne and other sorts of pleasures have furnished a local sensation for the past two months, and who was found last night hanging by his suspenders in a cell at the city jail, where he had been locked up, died today in St. Joseph's hospital, from the combined effect of his injuries and excessive indulgence in liquor.

Hoff recently came into possession of $6000, the proceeds of a sale of land owned by him, and since then has provided constant entertainment for local resorts.

MANY LIVES LOST IN PANIC AT TOKIO

Man, Crushed in Crowd, Becomes Scared and Causes a Wild Stampede.

Tokio, Nov. 27.—Reports from Osaka say that more than one hundred persons were killed in a terrible panic at the general meeting of the Red Cross society in that city this afternoon.

Many of the injured may not recover. More than 30,000 persons gathered at the Temple ground to attend the meeting.

There was only one doorway for either entrance or exit at the building where the ceremonies were held. As the crowd struggled to get in and many of those within began struggling to get out, a great panic ensued. Men and women lost their senses and in their wild fright struggled and fought with each other and trampled hundreds under foot.

The crowd was so tremendous and drawn from both directions to the doorway, like the center of an hour glass, that it was impossible for the officers to restore order for some time. When a man became frightened and began struggling, he was crushed by the tremendous crowd, through which there was no possibility of anyone crowding his way. This started the panic.

RISKED LIFE FOR SWINE

William Bennett, in Rescuing Hogs From Death in the Flood, Has Close Shave.

William Bennett, an engineer for the Salem Water company, had a narrow escap e from losing his life by drowning Thanksgiving day during the high water.

Mr. Bennett was assisting D. C. Minto in rescuing the latter's stock from the island onto the ferry boat and while Bennett was standing on the apron of the ferry the boat struck a tree throwing him into the water and under the apron of the ferry. Mr. Minto and several others went to his aid and after a few attempts succeeded in grasping hold of his coat and pulling him into the boat. Mr. Bennett was practically unconscious from the effects of the severe shock and would have perished were it not for the prompt action of his rescuers.

The University of Oregon exhibit of pictures at then Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle, received honorable mention, and attracted much attention.

DOUBLE UP LIKE A PORCUPINE AND THEN FORGET ABOUT IT

This Is the Secret of Falling Three or Five Stories Without Getting Hurt, as Related by a 'Frisco Hod Carrier.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—Joseph Wood, a hod carrier, fell three stories while working on a building at Taylor and O'Farrell streets, struck on a sawhorse and was uninjured.

"I knew I wouldn't be hurt as soon as I began falling," said Wood, as he dusted his clothing.

"I never was hurt in falling. I fell five stories once, and bruised my shoulder a bit.

"There is an art in knowing how to fall. You want to double yourself up like a porcupine, and then not worry. It is this thing of grabbing at the air with your arms and legs as you go down that makes the trouble."

Wood was hauling mortar to the top of the building when he lost his balance and fell.

GARFIELD DENIES ARCHBOLD STORY

Says St. Louis Decision in the Standard Oil Case Is a Big Victory.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Cleveland, O., Nov. 27.—Former Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield today answered the statement of John D. Archbold that

St. Louis decision against the Standard Oil company had proved that the anti-trust law was unsatisfactory and would probably result in its repeal.

Garfield said: "The statement has been made recently that the St. Louis decision was barren of victory, proving that the anti-trust law was unsatisfactory. Such an interpretation is unjustified. It is true that Col. Roosevelt pointed out an unsatisfactory condition of the law and urged a change, but he only did so on the condition that the government be given direct control over industrial corporations similar to that over regular railroads and other common carriers. "The court sustained our contention that the law seeks to prohibit the results from unfair competition and the restraint of trade."

Is Japanese White Man?

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Richmond, Va., Nov. 27.—The question whether a Japanese is a white man within the meaning of the naturalization law was vigorously debated in the United States circuit court of appeals here today.

Namyo Bessho, former enlisted man and steward in the United States Navy, is an applicant for American citizenship. The district attorney maintains that he is barred by the law, which gives the right of citizenship to "all white persons and all those of African descent who are of good moral character."

The case may not be decided for several days.

TRINITY CHURCH, UNITARIAN.

Corner Cottage and Chemeketa streets, Paul S. Bandy, minister. Morning worship with sermon at 11 o'clock, subject "The Problem of the Finite Life." A violin solo by Mr. Frank Frickey. No evening service.

The annual summer session of the University of Oregon will be held this coming summer from June 29 to August 10, inclusive, a six-weeks term. The attendance during last summer reached nearly 100, most of whom were Oregon teachers, and indications point to a much larger attendance for next summer.
