OREGON CITY AND THE DALLES.

With railroads going out of Oregon City and The Dalles those cities have the brightest future of any two cities in Oregon.

Both are at the falls of navigable rivers, where great power developments are taking place and commerce will be transferred.

There is this difference in the two cities. The Dalles never fights locks and canals and parties at Oregon City do.

Do the people of Oregon City realize what it will mean to have the general government take over the locks and canal?

It means the expenditure of half a million dollars of money on improvements of a permanent character?

It means that a large force will be employed there all the year around to handle the commerce that will pass through the locks.

What folly to fight a public improvement that will make your city the transfer city of the Willamette valley.

The time has come for Oregon City to awaken to its commercial possibilities as a manufacturing and distributing center.

With water transportation unhindered up and down the river its future is established.

THE ENFRANCHISEMENT OF SENATOR MCGINN.

The Oregonians' treatment of Henry E. McGinn is to be deplored.

Because he made a speech in opposition to the Oregonian's pet hobby of an assembly his remarks are excluded.

Pages are given to Senator Fulton, with whom it happens to agree at present; but no pictures, headlines, or space for poor Henry McGinn!

Senator and judge, scholar and orator, friend, adviser, and tenant of the Oregonian, the eloquent lawyer dares to have an opinion, and he is disgraced.

Senator McGinn has developed into a substantial citizen, as he was always an able lawyer and brilliant public speaker.

He has become a man of standing, character and stability, and has worked out his own salvation and has become an enfranchised republican.

He can go before the people of Oregon with clean hands and a clear conscience, and they will listen to him.

He has cast his influence on the side of progress for cleaner politics and better methods, and more manhood.

Let others sigh to return to the fleshpots of corruption; Henry McGinn will eat lentils with the common people.

He passed through the maelstrom and whirlpool of legislatures deadlocked by the struggles of rival headquarters disbursing corporation cash.

He knows the strain put upon representatives of the people when they are herded like sheep by the shepherds of cold coin.

Senator McGinn from the bottom of his heart is delighted to gain his freedom from the system of which he was a part and come out in the clear light of decent citizenship where ideas control and common manhood counts for more than dirty, filthy manners.

He repents, as any decent man ought, for the practices of the past.

It is not wise for the Oregonian to exclude Senator McGinn's remarks from its columns.

He stands for progressive, intelligent republicanism—for the masses, for an enlightened republicanism based on the will of the electorate instead of the bosses and the machine.

He comes out boldly for a better type of political manhood—for a cleaner game of politics under the new rules enacted by the people. Whymake him an outcast and call his name is Pariah!

Senator McGinn will find warm commendation from the people regardless of party for his brave defense of cleaner politics.

A FEW PLAIN SUGGESTIONS TO OBSTRUCTIONISTS.

The Capital Journal and its owner have done as much for the development of the state as practices be minimized and th We think we have a right to beg that certain obstruction practice be minimized and thatogtructors change front.

For instance, the men in Salem who voted against acquiring Fairmount Park were sincere but struck progress a cruel blow.

Killing the project to get that beautiful park hurt the capital city because it showed our people are divided on progress.

It advertised us to the world as a divided people and the value of all real estate and the growth of Salem were hurt. The same is true of Coos Bay, when prominent factors array themselves against harbor and railroad development.

In Salem any railroad that wants to come into the city or get out of it is simply asked where it wants to lay its tracks.

This city imposes no conditions except that work shall begin within a certain time and shall proceed in good faith.

The Harriman lines recently tried to extend from Yaquina to Newport, the popular summer resort of western Oregon. Many that had right-of-way immediately asked prices that were prohibitive, and the city of Newport had a strong element that opposed allowing the railroad to come down the water front.

Of course, under such conditions, all efforts to invest money in development work stops, and railroad managers simply quit.

The costliest luxury any town can have is a spirit of getting busy to stop things that are coming along in the natural way.

Let us all get on the progressive band-wagon and Oregon will become a perfect paradise of industry and opportunity.

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM THE STOMACH

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterward.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach trouble.

FALLS EIGHTEEN FEET; SHOCK DRIVES HIM INSANE

As the result of the shock from falling 18 feet off a scaffold, William A. Baker, a young man residing a short distance from this city, was committed to the asylum yesterday afternoon by County Judge Bushey, the unfortunate young man's mind having been deranged by the fall.
