

GENERAL MEETING POPULAR

Proposed Convention Upon County Road Matters Is Gaining In Favor.

The proposed general road meeting which is being propounded by County Judge William Bushey, is gaining favor among the taxpayers and voters in general throughout the county, according to reports coming in daily, and the matter is being seriously discussed.

In order not to conflict with any other assembly or meeting which may tend to draw the people away from the general road meeting, the county court has decided to postpone the meeting to the 16th and 17th of this month instead of the 6th and 7th as was first announced. Upon the former date, there will be a meeting of the fruit growers in Portland, and a large amount of Marion County people will no doubt attend, thus taking away many people who will be interested in the road meeting.

Among the matters which will be brought to issue and dealt with during the proposed meeting, is the state road law. Judge Bushey is desirous of adopting some substitution and practical mode by which the governing of county roads can be carried on without a continual conflict with the interests of the public. The Johnson road law, or bill which was turned down by the last assembly of the legislature, would have been of some benefit to the community in Judge Bushey's opinion, and by failing to adopt this measure, the state has been practically bereft of a road law owing to the fact that the Tuttle law, now in effect, is being contested in the supreme court and taxpayers are in a quandary as to just what amount of cognizance can be adhered to concerning the legal phases of the Tuttle law.

Another topic will claim the attention of the court and the attendance at the meeting, is the county road problem. The development of old roads and the creation of new ones has been a troublesome and expensive duty of the county. Petitions calling for the creation of new roads are being bitterly fought; divisional roads the instigator of much bitter controversy notwithstanding the great need of the highway both to those favoring and opposing. Conciseness is a thing almost impossible to arrive at by the court, so strenuous are some issues contested, they being carried to the extreme limit of the law, not for the purpose of relieving taxation alone, but a large portion of the objection being due to disagreement over the premises and the route of the proposed county road. It will be presented during the meeting for an open discussion and it possible some method will be adopted, or started, by which the residents of the respective districts can arrive at some reasonable and beneficial conclusion. It has been suggested to the county court by some that the construction of highways be left to the district to either improve or create their own roads. In this manner the respective district can realize immediate benefit instead of petitioning the county court for help and be burdened with a special road tax levy.

As the result of the present county roads, or main roads, becoming adequate to accommodate the many new home builders in former isolated districts as far as roads are concerned, it is probable that the matter of a straight road through the county from north to south will be agitated. A straight county road through the center of the county was talked of several years ago, but no definite conclusion was arrived at. It is contended that by creating such a road, the farming district of Marion County will have greater access to the main road than to carry on the construction of new roads through farms and private property. At the present time the county has six leading roads or main highways, by which the farmers and residents in the county can gain admittance to the city, although several of these main roads are considerable distance from many of the farms and the only way left for those farmers is through a crude roadway broken by themselves and almost impassable during the rainy season. In the north part of the county near the St. Paul district the roads are not located so that the residents can approach the main highway. The county court thought that matter could be improved by creating a county main road a few miles west of the old stage road which passed down east of Chemewa. As in this way, residents located nearer to the stage road could take that route, while those residing farther toward the river could handily reach the highway by traveling a few miles west.

The first general road meeting will be made the starting, and the expediting of road matters will be practically accomplished without the usual long discussions and tedious consideration of the petitions for and against such a proposal. County Judge Bushey extends a cordial invitation to all the people in Marion County to attend on the 16th and 17th of this month, and come prepared to discuss their interests in their respective locality and offer any advice they can toward bringing the county road business to a harmonizing tone.

The truest test of love between husband and wife is whether they just like to have each other around.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fall, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by Capital Drug Store.

SPLENDID ATTRACTION TONIGHT

"King Dodo," that merry mingling of mirth and melody from the pens of those gifted writers, Frank Pixley and Gustav Laders, will be the attraction at the Grand tomorrow night. John Cort, the astute and progressive theatrical magnate, under whose direction this excellent comedy opera is being presented this season, has gone to unlimited pains and expense in making this the grandest "Dodo" of all. The scenery, properties and effects are entirely new and magnificent and the costumes are gorgeous. Mr. Cort has specially engaged Charles H. Jones, who staged the original, to stage this season's production.

While many show-shoppers have seen "King Dodo," there still remain many thousands who have never enjoyed the delights of this clever opera. The story has to do with a decrepit old monarch, King Dodo I. of Doodoland, who is possessed of the idea that he would like to regain his youth. To this end he does all sorts of foolish things, such as having the calendar set back a trifle of 30 years, and keeping his court physician in constant dread of a violent death if he does not discover for him the elixir of eternal youth. Piola, a young soldier of fortune, has had the temerity to fall in love with the king's ward, Angela, and proposes to marry her. To this King Dodo objects most strenuously, for she is a great favorite with him, and he intends to regain his youth and marry her himself, until Piola, in a desperate effort to gain his own ends, promises to lead the king to a fountain which will make him young again.

The second act of the comedy opera finds all those interested in Spooju-land, which is ruled by a queen of surpassing loveliness, whether Piola has guided the king in search of the fountain of youth. Queen Lill has announced that she will marry none but a man of years and experience, and when Dodo I. and his entourage are taken into her presence she sees in him the man she has been waiting for, and, as she pleases Dodo's fancy, the wooing proceeds merrily along until the conspirators get busy and is given a drink from a spring which is indeed a veritable fountain of youth. Immediately the old king is transformed into a boy.

Dodo I. is delighted, but the queen will have none of him. Again the conspirators come to the rescue, for, with the idea of drowning the latest favorite of the queen, they throw him into the same spring, and by its wonderful power he is again transformed into the decrepit old monarch he was when the queen of the Spooju people first saw him. Dodo is of a forgiving disposition, and when he finds that the queen will be his he gives his blessing to everyone and his kingdom to Piola and Angela. Box office open today.

Served as coffee, the new coffee substitute known to grocers everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, will trick even a coffee expert. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Pure, healthful toasted grains, malt, nuts, etc., have been so cleverly blended as to give a wonderfully satisfying coffee taste and flavor. And it is "made in a minute," too. No tedious 24 to 30 minute boiling. J. W. Harritt.
