What an Edison Phonograph will do for you

Think what it means to have an instrument that will play equally well one of Harry Lauder's rollicking songs or a beautiful aria by Slezak, Martin or Constantino; that will play band music which will make you march, and that will play waltzes and two-steps in a way that will make you dance.

Think of an instrument which such a man as Victor Herbert selects from all others as the one to have his exclusive service and for which his own orchestra plays. That is the Edison Phonograph. Then consider how small an amount of money will buy one—$12.50 to $200.00—and you will see why no one need be without an Edison Phonograph, just as no one would be who has ever really heard it.

LADIES WORKING FOR CITY PARK

Albany, Ore., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Mary Bridgeman, an old pioneer, died last night at the age of 83 years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stewart of this city. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Stewart, and Mrs. E. R. Weaver, both of Albany.

At a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary last night it was decided to join the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs. The Ladies' Auxiliary of this city have been organized for about a year and at the present time have grown into a strong and prosperous club. They have taken it upon themselves to make a city park, one that will be a credit to the city, and with this end in view a large sum of money has already been amassed. Mrs. J. K. Weatherford is president of the organization.

Mrs. M. A. Cox, wife of Albany's pioneer brickmason, was compelled to undergo an operation this morning which caused her to lose her right leg. Mrs. Cox has been an invalid for years.

Had 32 Grand Children.

Mrs. Eliza Lynch, who died at McMinnville Monday was one of the pioneer women of the state of Oregon. She was the widow of John Lynch who died about two years ago and leaves to survive her 12 children and 32 grand children, five of whom are residents of this city.

She had been an invalid for the past six years and her death came as no surprise. She was possessed of hosts of friends in the city who will mourn her death. A son, Isaac Lynch, of this city, is ill with typhoid fever and is not yet aware of his mother's death.

The Story Hour.

The purpose of the Story hour as conducted in public libraries is to present stories that may be found in the best books in such a way that the children will be led to read them and so cultivate a taste for the best in literature.

The first story hour of the Salem Public Library will be held at 9 o'clock on Saturday, February 12, and all children between the ages of seven and nine are cordially invited to attend.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to satisfy. Sold by all druggists for 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 55 Warren Street, New York.

High License or Outlawry.
Stayton, Ore., Feb. 5, 1910.
Ed. Journal.—Under that head in your esteemed paper I read a communication I would like to answer in your columns.

The first question that an American puts to the voters is what I vote for, high license and regulation, or hypocrisy and outlawry? My Diagnosis of this question is, we and our fore fathers, including the courts, have been trying to regulate the saloon and the liquor traffic for more than a century in this country and to no avail. Now the sum is, the liquor people will not abide by a law that suits them not. Can you find a saloon keeper who adheres to the law, gives no drink to a minor, or tells a habitual drunkard he needs his money at home with his family and can't get more than one or two drinks per day, or that he must pay his honest debts before he can squander his money so? Oh no, that would hurt the trade. We must catch all the minors too, to perpetuate our business whether their parents consent to it or not. If we can get them, is argument enough.

This, an American, speaks as one informed in the inside work of liquor people. He says high license or outlawry? Does he mean we will abide by the law if you let us do as we please, or we will be out-laws and not obey the law if you put a restraint on us? It is not the Prohibs that will be the outlaws. Suppose the majority of voters decide to favor liquor in the next election and the prohibs begin to howl as do the liquor men when they are beaten, and defy the law and blame the wets for the trouble, you would certainly see it in a different light. You would say the Legislators or the voters in their wisdom thought best to retain license and we must obey the law.

Further on he says the main argument is the liquor bill. That is exactly what helped to open my eyes. I myself helped such people tried to get them on their feet, but every time liquor got them down they went and I never got paid for what I put in the game. The liquor men had my money and my friend's reputation too. So I decided to go and fight on a different line. Just look at the crimes and murders all traceable to liquor and the immense bill we tollers and producers must pay in prosecuting those liquor criminals.

Further on he deprecates the expense of churches and missions. Why not take in also our public schools. They cost enormous sums, but he is sharp enough to not incur the ill-will of the schools or their friends. Evidently Mr. "American" thinks christianity is at a low ebb and by appealing to the religious class he may recruit followers, as he can't hope to get many Christian, and as for the churches they are nearly as a whole educational, as they all teach the rising generation to lead good honest and moral lives, which is quite incompatible with the liquor traffic. He says the church is all right in its place. Puts me in mind of John at the Jordan, as long as he preached in the desert it was all well, but as soon as he became personal and pointed out King Herod's crime he lost his head. Also Christ as soon as he drove the sellers out of the temple and began to clean house among the sick and sorrowful his trouble began, if I may call it that. The sum is, the liquor people with their boasted outlawry have lost the respect and sympathy of most of the respectable people and are fighting their last-chance-of-existence battle.

DISCUSS STREET IMPROVEMENTS

The Booster Club of Ward No. 1, held another enthusiastic meeting last night at the office of H. A. Johnson on State street, and street improvements in the ward were discussed at length as well as other matters pertaining to its welfare. While much discussion concerning these matters were indulged in no definite action was taken as the club is waiting for a report of a committee appointed to secure prices on the different kinds of street pavement.

It had been expected that several contractors from Portland would be in attendance last night, but they were unable to come. The club received word, however, that they would be able to be present Saturday evening and it instructed its committee to meet with them at that time at the Board of Trade building, and invitations to the similar committees of the booster clubs of the other wards have been issued to attend the conference.

One of the first improvements to be taken up by the Ward No. 1 is the paving of Winter street. The property holders propose to pave this street from Court street to North Mill Creek. The club also has under consideration the paving of many other streets in the ward and they will be taken up as soon as the Winter street matter is disposed of.

A Common Cold.

We claim that if catching cold could be avoided some of the most dangerous and fatal diseases would never be heard of. A cold often forms a culture bed of germs of infectious diseases. Consumption, pneumonia, diphtheria and scarlet fever, four of the most dangerous and fatal diseases, are of this class. The culture bed formed by the cold favors the development of the germs of these diseases, that would not otherwise find lodgment. There is little danger, however, of any of these diseases being contracted when a good expectorant cough medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It cleans out these culture beds that favor the development of the germs of these diseases. That is why this remedy has proved so universally successful in preventing pneumonia. It not only cures your cold quickly, but minimizes the risk of contracting these dangerous diseases. For sale by all druggists.

Life on Panama Canal

Mr. E. A. Kelley, Belvidere, Ill., writes us: "I am an ex-engineer with 22 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was troubled with severe, aching pain over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and specks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me that I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man." Sold by J. C.
