Drapery Styles for Dainty Materials—
New Suits—Coats and Waists—

(New York Fashion Letter special to The Capital Journal.)

The pretty fabrics and hats and summer gowns shown at all the shops, make a woman realize that it won't be long now until spring is here and everyone is planning for new clothes.

Drapery Style Continues.

One can have dress lengths of new cottons, foulards or other flexible materials made up after any of the pretty ankle, or knee, draped skirt models, and be assured that these will continue good style until autumn at least. Modified princess and Moyenage types are coming in, in the latest Paris importations. The kimono waists with sleeves cut in one with the bodice are revived in Paris models as are also the short plain skirts of two seasons back.

Russian Coats and Suits.

The Russian bloused coat is the leading type in suits for Spring and Summer wear, though there are many others, rather more closely fitted than those now worn, and short for the most part. Skirts have yokes and pleatings in various forms, though our old short plain skirts are seen on the very latest arrivals from Paris.

Top Coats and Costumes.

For top or extra coats, the coat-suit is presented in especially pretty designs and promises to be more popular than it was last autumn. These take the place of a dress, or cover one, and are both smart and practical. The Russian models are quite as good for extra coats of silk, or cloth, and for run about wear long loose models of chevrons or plaids have collars of burnt orange, scarlet or Lincoln green. Rough silks and mohairs of the same character will follow these.

Pretty, New Lingerie.

Combinations, two garments in one, are growing in favor with discriminating people, who realize the importance of good cut, well fitting underwear if the figure is to appear trim. Women who like French daintiness of material and trimming with American correctness of cut and finish, are buying Defender underwear. Made here in a well lighted factory, under ideal industrial conditions, these bring to the women of average means the best possible value at a moderate cost. Their liberality of cut insures a comfortable fit and the sizes marked can be relied upon while the finish and styles are dainty and up-to-date.

A Smart Linen Frock.

A smart linen frock for southern wear is made in princess style with front panel extending to a yoke of Irish lace. On each side of the panel a belt goes about the waist, and the skirt is pleated below the flat tunic effect. Sleeves end at the elbow where they meet long cuffs of Irish lace, and these and the front panel are braided in cotton soutache the color of the linen.

New Hats and Waists.

Leghorn and Milan braids with horsehair are the material used for the more dressy models and very coarse rough braids are smart for more general wear. Turban shapes of tulle or metal gauze are the present fad and go well with the turban coiffure which is the most advanced style of hair dressing.

For wear with Spring suits chifon cloth waists the color of the suit, made up in jumper and kimona styles over white lace, or net linings, which extend to the neck and wrist forming the yoke and long cuffs are among the smartest models shown. For remodeling a lace waist this style offers many possibilities.

WAR VETERAN SHOOTS WIFE; KILLS HIMSELF

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 11.—Unable to continue the struggle for existence, in the face of the increased cost of living, N. E. Williams, a Civil War Veteran, early today shot his wife and committed suicide in their humble home in West Berkeley. The aged man fired at his wife as she lay asleep in bed. The bullet grazed her forehead, making a slight flesh wound. He evidently thought he had accomplished his purpose, for he turned the revolver on himself, and sent two bullets into his brain.

"He had been out of work for a long time, and we have found it so hard to get along, now that everything costs so much," sobbed the broken-hearted woman today. "We talked it over last night, and it seemed more hopeless. There was no way which we could see to improve matters.

"We went to bed feeling very sad and old, and like life had been a failure. My husband seemed to have little hope, except in the hereafter, and I am sure that the good Lord will forgive him for the deed."

Williams formerly as employed as a grocer's clerk, but lost his place and gradually the difficulties with which he had to cope made his struggle harder and harder.

He used a small revolver, which he had kept near his bed.

Mrs. Williams screamed when she was aroused by the shot, and attracted the attention of her daughter, Mrs. Alife Allen, who was sleeping in an adjoining room. The police were notified, and the authorities took charge of the body.

The man who is always trying to sit down on other people is pretty sure in time to sit down on a tack himself.
