

CORVALLIS FARMERS COLLEGE

Activity in spring athletics has commenced in real earnest at the Oregon Agricultural college. Fleider Jones, the famous ex-manager of the world's champion White Sox baseball team, who has been secured to coach the college boys, has taken charge of the squad and put his candidates at work. All but two of the men who played on the team last year are available again this season. With the peer of all baseball coaches as leader and with a splendid schedule of games, baseball promises to be a popular line of sport this spring.

The track men have also commenced work. The squad is not as strong as could be desired. Bergman, who holds the northwest record in the hurdles and Enberg, who has done good work in the weight-throwing events, are the only experienced men on the team. There is, however, some promising new material which may develop into collegiate fibre.

The work on the new buildings at the Oregon Agricultural college is progressing rapidly. Every effort is being made to put the campus in order for the big quarter-century celebration, which will be held during commencement week.

"ST. ELMO" COMING.

The Belasco Production to Appear in Salem on March 23.

Owing to the tremendous controversy which has just been concluded over this latest dramatic sensation, "St. Elmo," the hands of the various managers have been practically tied. Now that the controversy is ended and the value of the Willard Holcomb version has been universally recognized, it is receiving the sanction and support of all the best theatre managers in America.

Fred Belasco, proprietor of the Alcazar theatre in San Francisco, has purchased for the sum of $10,000 all rights to this play west of the Missouri river, and in less than 24 hours' time he had his leading lady on the way from New York, the company was put in rehearsal immediately on arriving at San Francisco, and the preparatory work done, prior to her arrival.

Such speed in getting a first-class company organized has rarely been surpassed, and for this reason a great many of the cities have not been heralding the coming of "St. Elmo." Nevertheless, the company opened to a packed house, and such has been the order of things up to the last telegram received by the advance manager, Mr. Shipman.

At San Jose, nearly 2000 witnessed the first night's performance, including the mayor and city council, who were there as guests of Mr. Belasco. The loges were occupied by the city's oldest inhabitants, couples who had celebrated their silver and golden weddings, and three generations of play-goers applauded to the

EASTERN MEN INTERESTED IN OREGON MINES

MINING ENGINEER F. H. COLPITTS BACK FROM TOUR—ARRIVES IN PORTLAND AFTER TWO MONTHS IN BOSTON AND VICINITY—EASTERN MEN ENTICED OVER CHANCES FOR LEGITIMATE MINING IN WEST.

After two months' tour in the east the most of which was in Boston, Mr. Colpitts says: The trip which carried him the rounds of the larger eastern cities (Boston being most noted for copper investments and large returns of any in U. S.) the mission being to spread enthusiasm for the movement of mining in Oregon, permitted opportunity to visit many of technical and geological training among whom, he was accorded the privilege of an interview with Boston's most noted and conservative copper letter writer (the editor of the "Commercial") Geo. L. Walker.

Mr. Colpitts expressed the opinion that, although a few eastern men look upon Oregon as an unsuccessful mining state, there will be at least some of financial ability who, having a desire to invest in legitimate mining, will visit western Oregon during the early part of this summer with view to becoming interested in some good mining properties and he is to make plans by which these men may have opportunity to so familiarize themselves with its mineral resources that they will be not only able but willing to convince their eastern associates of the magnitude of this as a state wherein purely legitimate mining will produce most excellent returns on the capital now awaiting such investments and hopes the time is not far distant when Oregon will hold a distinctive place among the mining states.

Stiff Neck.

Stiff neck is caused by rheumatism of the muscles of the neck. It is usually confined to one side, or the back of the neck and side. While it is often quite painful, quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheumatism in ten requires internal treatment. When there is no fever and no swelling, as in muscular and chronic rheumatism, Chamberlain's Liniment will accomplish more than any internal treatment. For sale by all good druggists.
