THE MILITIA TO QUELL STRIKERS

Invited Press Released Wire. Hannibal, Mo., May 17.—Companies C, of Kirksville, and E, of Hannibal, of the Missouri national guard, arrived at the plant of the Atlas Portland Cement Co., at Ilasco shortly after midnight to quiet a mob of 1500 strikers. Most of the strikers are foreigners. Last night they became boisterous and started to fire off guns. Liquor was to be had in abundance. The reports of the firearms and the shouts of the rioters caused the officials to order out the militia. Colonel W. J. Hill asked Governor Hadley to declare Ilasco under martial law, and close the saloons. The men struck yesterday noon. Twenty-one hundred men were affected.

For Such Is the Way. William and John were two brothers who differed widely in temperament (see dictionary). William was always kind and good, and had been ever since he was born. John was bold and bad, and would be until he died. When William reached man's estate (which was the only estate he ever did reach) he fell in love with a beautiful maiden and married her. John also fell in love and married, which was the only time in his life that he followed his brother's example. As time went on, William rose in the business world until he became a bookkeeper for a wholesale grocery firm at a salary of $12 a week. John found it necessary to struggle along on a modest stipend of $5.000 a year, for he was only a broker. William, however, couldn't be any broker. William proved a model husband, and permitted his better half to absorb eleven-twelfths of his earnings, whereas John made his wife keep house on $4.75 a week, and beat her regularly every Tuesday. After a while the world was surprised to hear that William's better half had run away with a male person who wore his hair long and played the French horn with a strong German accent. John's wife still adores him and rumor says that she has requested her husband to beat her hereafter on Fridays as well as Tuesdays. For such is the way of woman!—Lippincott's.

Saw Comet in 1835. W. J. Loughary, of this city, who saw Halley's comet Saturday morning is one of the few men in the West who recollect having gazed on the comet at two of its periodical visits to the earth's zone. Mr. Loughary, now in his 86th year, recalls that 75 years ago he was camping out with his father in the forest regions of Illinois chopping cordwood. His father awakened him one night to see the blazing banner in the sky, and he remembers with what awe he beheld it. He also was impressed by a shower of falling stars during the same period, the stars seemingly coming down like hail through the sky. Besides being a member of the Comet's Old Admirers, Mr. Loughary bears the distinction of having known the late George H. Williams perhaps longer than any other man in the West, their acquaintance having been formed in Iowa, when Judge Williams occupied the bench. —Telephone Register.

Biliousness and Constipation. For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me, I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally. —Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all druggists. President Taft's aunt says he doesn't eat enough. She has a right to her opinion, though aunts are inclined to be prejudiced in such matters. For a burn or scald apply Chamberlain's Salve. It will allay the pain almost instantly and quickly heal the injured parts. For sale by all good druggists.

BUSINESS MEN URGE OPEN RIVER AS BEST WAY TO GET LOW FREIGHT RATES

ASSOCIATION ASKS PRESIDENT HILL TO VISIT THE VALLEY—COMMITTEE TO INSPECT RIVER—AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT EUGENE MONDAY.

Eugene, as the possible head of navigation on the Willamette river, was decked out in gala attire Monday to welcome the delegates to the Willamette Open River and Freight Rate meeting, and to show them that interest in an open river is very much alive there. Some 30 delegates arrived from the cities of the lower valley to visit the University City, and to transact the business to come before the association. The delegates were met at the train by a reception committee from the Commercial Club, composed of W. A. Bell, A. C. Dixon and L. L. Whitson, accompanied by a delegation of citizens; and were taken at once into automobiles for a trip over the city. A stop was made at the University, where the delegates were welcomed by President Campbell, and a suitable response was made by H. H. Hewitt, president of the association. The trip over the city was continued, and was finally finished at the Commercial Club, where addresses of welcome were made by D. E. Moran, president of the club, and Mayor Matlock. The delegates then dispersed to see the city, on their own account, for a short time, after which a banquet was tendered them. The business session of the meeting was held at the court house at 7:30 in the evening, and was fairly well attended, considering the number of people in the city who were occupied in entertaining the delegates to the I. O. O. F. grand lodge. It was opened by orchestra music, followed by a short address of welcome by Mayor

Oregon City. Mr. Grahams talk was interesting, as coming from an experienced river man, and he stated that he saw no reason why boats should not come to Eugene, and find profitable business. Ask Hill to Visit Valley. Following the discussion a resolution was offered demanding open locks at Oregon City; upholding the efforts of the Oregon Railroad Commission in its efforts to secure a reasonable freight rate for shippers of Western Oregon, and the restoration of the 10-cent arbitrary to Willamette valley points; setting forth that while it is safe and wise to entrust the rate question to the regular tribunals, it was also both necessary and advisable to get water competition; strongly advising the cities along the Willamette river to secure and maintain free locks, and thanking the Eugene Commercial Club and the business men of Eugene for the entertainment given the delegates. The resolution also directed the secretary to forward to Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, now in Central Oregon, a telegram from the commercial bodies represented in the organization cordially inviting him to visit Western Oregon, and to investigate its resources from the standpoint of tonnage. Just before the adjournment a motion was offered for the appointment of a committee of five members for the purpose of gathering all the information possible and presenting it at the next meeting. The motion was carried unanimously, the president deferring the appointment for better consideration. Adjournment followed. While the attendance at the business session was small, it was lively. Only those came who were interested, and the discussion was keen. The keynote of the meeting was "Keep together, keep working, keep up interest, and we will get what we want."—Eugene Register.

A St. Louis man paid an Omaha girl $20 for four kisses, the money going to charity. The horse editor, at first blush, would say the price was too high. Of course, he speaks without any information as to the girl kisser, which is an important factor in the problem, but, on general principles, a kiss purchased and delivered in public is like a drink of near beer to an old toper. A kiss without the element of spontaneous combustion behind it is like dead sea fruit.

We Stand Back of The Farmer

This good bank believes that much of its success is due to the many friends it has among the farmers of this community. Our bank always has, and will continue to offer exceptional facilities to the farmer, not alone in safe-guarding his funds, but in lending him money to tide over the "tight" places in the year's work. Agriculture and finance go hand in hand, and either one can be without the other. We will try to hold up our end by standing back of our farmers to the full extent of our ability.

I gave it to Wilson, but I will say that he followed his instructions not to urge me to give it to him, and that I did most of the talking myself. Kerby's earnestness evidently made a favorable impression on the members of the committee. Senator Root cross questioned him but refused to allow Kerby to explain his answers, demanding direct replies. Later Kerby protested and Bran-dois and Representative Mason joined in the protest. Senator Sutherland asked whether Kerby had considered talking the matter over with Secretary Ballinger. "I knew better than that," Kerby replied. "I had the Glavis case in mind. Besides I had heard some talk of 'snake killing'." Good-bye, Mark Twain! You have caused far more smiles than tears.
