

A DIVORCE AND A CASE OF CHEESE

THESE OCCUPIED JUDGE GALLO- WAYS ATTENTION YESTER- DAY AFTERNOON — GRANTED THE DIVORCE, BUT THE CHEESE WAS TOO STRONG FOR HIM.

After being married for almost a quarter of a century—lacking one year—and having reared a family, Mrs. Margaret Hoffman concluded that it was wiser and better for herself and children, and, of course also the husband, that she secure a divorce, and made her appearance before Judge Galloway yesterday afternoon for that purpose.

The husband, H. L. Hoffman, had evidently anticipated her in this conclusion as he preceded her in filing a complaint which charged cruel and inhuman treatment. But anticipation was the extent in which he was permitted to indulge in that luxurious idea as the wife came back with an answer in which, to use legal phraseology, she admitted, denied and affirmed.

Now there was not much to admit—there never is in an answer, but it was ventured to admit that they were husband and wife, and then came a long string of denials. In legal language she denied that she had ever treated the husband in a cruel and inhuman manner as specifically alleged in the complaint—denied that she had cruelly and inhumanly treated him at any other time or at all. When a man finds his wife's language reduced to that kind of language, it is enough to make any husband beat a hasty retreat, and the husband in this case did—failed to appear.

Everybody Worked But Father. The wife testified that the husband did not relish the responsibility of having a family to support, and that he would not contribute to their support. According to her evidence he feigned sickness when at home, but whenever he worked for some one else he was a first class man—so his employers had told her. Two daughters came to the stand and testified along the same line. The mother was industrious, they testified, but the father wasn't, though one did finally testify that he clerked in the mother's store, but then maybe this wasn't work. Taking it all around it seemed like a case where as the song goes, "everybody worked but father."

Wouldn't Come Back. In addition to denying the husband's charges the wife in a cross complaint asked for a divorce on the ground of desertion and the above evidence was introduced in corroboration of it. The father left home, it seems, something over a year ago. He did not have any cause for leaving—of course not. The wife testified she had always treated him in the kindest manner and so did the daughters. There was a welcome for him at the home whenever he desired to return, and they had exerted every possible effort to effect his return, but he wouldn't come back, and hence the divorce proceedings and it was granted.

Case Too Complex. Judge Galloway yesterday afternoon rendered a decision in the case of F. A. Schulzinger against Anton and Lois Imper. This action was brought to bring a settlement among the partners in a cheese factory at Silverton, and was known as the famous cheese factory case. A whole day was consumed in its trial, and a mass of evidence was introduced. The system of bookkeeping was unique in that it could not be understood by anyone not conversant with it, nor could they be taught to understand it, and was such that the parties using it after a month or so could not understand or explain it. The money when taken in was marked down on the book. If deposited in the bank the figures were underscored in a certain way, and if something else was done with it another underscoring was used with the result that as time passed by, the underscoring became mixed or forgotten or it could not be remembered who did the work.

The attorneys—Martin for the plaintiff and Inmann for the defendants, admitted that they were unable to argue the case, and therefore submitted it without argument. The court admitted that he was unable to solve it unless the attorneys could throw some enlightenment on it, and they could not, and it was dismissed without cost to either party.

Poison Oak Poisoning. Ballard's Snow Lintment cures it. Mr. O. H. P. Cornelius, Turner, Ore., writes—My wife has discovered that Snow Lintment cures "Poison Oak Poisoning", a very painful trouble. She not only cured a case of it on herself, but on two of her friends who were poisoned by this same ivy. Price 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by all dealers.

The Buzzards.

New York, June 18.—Crowds of politicians from many parts of the country are here today waiting to confer with Theodore Roosevelt, but it is probable Roosevelt will grant no conferences before the middle of next week. Most of the conferences will be held in the office of the Outlook. Among the matters to be discussed at the earliest moment with Roosevelt is to be the Republican situation in New York.

Gillett Missed This One.

Sacramento, Calif., June 18.—"There would have been no fight in Los Angeles last night if I had known it was scheduled," said Governor Gillett today. "I thought Barry and Ferguson were going to fight next week. My order to stop prize fighting in California applies to Los Angeles as well as any other part of the state. I shall expect the district attorney of Los Angeles to take legal action against the fighters."

X-RAYS AND SMILES.

Hood River accuses Medford of using pictures of Hood River orchards to boost real estate sales. This probably is a mistake, as each place thinks the other "isn't in it."

The Welch road is putting in its trolley wires to the state fair grounds. It has to be done and cars running by July 1, and then you can swing around the loop when you visit the fair.

With Roosevelt in New York and Jeffries and Johnson in San Francisco, the country is managing to retain its balance, and this side of the continent did not tip up when Bwana Tumbo stepped off the ship.

If it takes two companies of militia to stop a little prize fight, how many will it take to hold Jeffries and Johnson level?

A FINE SOCIAL SIDE TO CHAUTAUQUA ASSEMBLY

The beautiful grounds of the Albany Chautauqua Assembly, skirted by the Calapoosia and Willamette rivers, promise to be the scene of fraternal and social enjoyment of a high order during the session of the Assembly, July 8 to 17. Plans are being made by the G. A. R., W. G. T. U., Patrons of Husbandry, I. O. O. F., Artisans, District Epworth League and other organizations for the maintenance of headquarters tents in which the distinctive features of the organizations will be emphasized, and where the members and friends will have an opportunity to exchange greetings and enjoy the restful surroundings.

The Chautauqua management has adopted the policy of hearty co-operation with the plans of the various societies, and will give free space for tents, and render every assistance in their power to all comers.
