GREATEST OF ALL STATE FAIRS WILL OPEN ITS GATES MONDAY

A GREAT STOCK EXHIBIT AND WONDERFUL SHOWING FROM FARM AND ORCHARD

The Stock Exhibit Will Be the Finest Ever Gathered on the Coast, and the Products of Oregon Farms and Orchards the Best in the Whole Wide World Will Be Profusely Displayed--The Poultry Exhibit Is a Fair in Itself, and the Speediest Horses on the Coast Are Now on the Grounds--Attendance Will Break All Records.

All is hustle and confusion at the fair grounds where order is being wrought out of chaos in preparation for the greatest state fair the state of Oregon or Pacific Coast has ever known, the gates of which will be thrown open to the public Monday morning and will continue throughout the week.

Never has there been such promise of a successful meeting as is presented by the members of the board of agriculture and Secretary Frank Meredith, who is buried up to his neck with the work attendant upon the opening of the big show, all of whom have worked hard and unceasingly to make it a success and there is every reason to believe, weather conditions being favorable, that their fondest hopes will be realized.

Notwithstanding the Portland fair and livestock show does not close until tonight many carloads of livestock and other exhibits arrived last night and today; and a busy scene is being enacted in all of the departments at the fair grounds.

Several carloads of cattle, hogs and sheep have arrived and been placed in the barns and pens and they are of the finest quality that has ever been shown at a state fair or any exhibition in the West. They are coming in larger numbers than ever before and the fair management has begun to fear that the additional provisions made for the accommodation of the stock will not be adequate to supply the demand for space and the competition for the big prizes hung up will be strong and spirited in every class, and particularly so in regard to horses, cattle, sheep and swine.

Although it is still early and there is an abundance of time in which to get the county, and other fruit and agricultural displays in place, a large force of men and women are at work in the pavilion, the space of which has been greatly enlarged

Four Hundred Indictments.
Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—The grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against 400 striking miners on charges of disturbances growing out of the coal miners' strike. Wholesale arrests have been made since the indictments were read in court. The grand jury also recommended the erection of a new work house to relieve the congestion of the local jails, which have been filled with strikers.

PATHETIC ENDING OF ROMANCE

LITTLE HILMA ANDERSON, MARRIED WEDNESDAY TO DANIEL E. BARTRUFF, IS APPARENTLY ABANDONED BY HUSBAND, AND IS DYING IN THE HOSPITAL.

Evidently having been deserted and abandoned by her youthful husband, and having failed in her efforts to locate her sweetheart, after a long night's search, Mrs. Daniel E. Bartruff, a pretty and petite girl of 17 years, and a bride of less than three short days, writhes in agony and hovers between life and death at the Salem hospital today, after trying to end her existence by the carbolic acid route, in this city last night. The police officials are endeavoring to locate the young husband, who seems to have disappeared almost completely, but their efforts to find him had not produced good fruit up to a late hour this afternoon.

Married Last Wednesday.
The story of the poor and unfortunate young girl's life, which has been blasted in the earliest stages of her development, reads like a romance of the tales of the Arabian Nights, and is pathetic in the extreme. With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson, natives of Sweden, she came to Salem recently, and located upon a farm near this city. When or how she came to know

ROOSEVELT GOES TO COLUMBUS MAKES CHARACTERISTIC TALK

HE BERATES THE OFFICIALS AND STRIKERS ABOUT ALIKE AND IS JUST A COMMON SCOLD

Points Out That Officers Should Do Their Duty--That Corporations and Unions Must Both Obey the Law--That Justice Should Be Done to All--That Disorder and Lawlessness Are Opposed to Law and Order--That Wrong Is Wrong, and Discloses the Fact That His Speech Is Just a Space Filler of Trite Platitude--And That Is All.

England Faces a Strike.
London, Sept. 10.—England today is face to face with the danger of a national industrial strike. The reputation by the boiler-makers' union today of the efforts of their leaders to settle the strike between the boiler-makers and the shipbuilding employers' association means a prolonged lockout, affecting 50,000 men. More than 100,000 others will be idle if the strike is not soon settled. The cotton mills of Lancashire are threatened with further trouble with their union employes, while at Cardiff 12,000 coal miners are restless. Employees of the Great Northern railroad are reported to be planning to make demands for better wages and hours. These demands, it is said, will be presented within the next two weeks. Unionist leaders are openly defying their employers. The situation is rapidly becoming critical and a crisis is feared within the next two weeks unless the strikes now in progress are speedily settled.

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—While Mayor Marshall, of Columbus, was sitting on the platform and troops sent to keep order during the strike paraded the crowd, Colonel Roosevelt today discussed the situation, and denounced the authorities for their failure to suppress lawlessness. The address was delivered before a monster crowd in Goodale park. "Before I came to Ohio I knew the lamentable conditions in Columbus," said Roosevelt. "I have been asked by letter and personally by members of both sides of the controversy here to speak. I will frankly say that I didn't like to come, but I like that dogging less, so I came. It has been advertised that I would speak on law and order, and so I shall do so. I shall discuss justice.

"The first requisite of justice is the establishment of law and order. "We to the man, official or private citizen, who does not realize this. We should abhor the conduct of a public servant failing to do his duty in this regard, and we must equally condemn ourselves, the people, who are as much responsible as the public servants. If they are content with the mere establishment of law and order, and fail to learn whether justice has been denied, we should use the whole power of the government to right this wrong. I cannot say what the facts are here, but it is certain that the broad principles are applicable. Beyond question many acts of lawlessness have been committed, including bombing and the using of that weapon of the worst, meanest, basest and most cowardly assassins—dynamite.

"The authorities' first duty is to end violence and disorder, to check and punish brutality and lawlessness. No excuse should be accepted from any government official, no excuse should be accepted from any private citizen for failing to help end any being discovered, and had been rolling about in mortal agony all of that time, and it is a wonder that she is now alive. The maiden name of the unfortunate young girl-wife, as registered upon the marriage license certificate, was Hilma Sophia Anderson, and those of her parents, who had signed the written consent to her marriage, and which had evidently been written by the girl herself, are Joseph and Sophia Anderson. It is understood that the girl's mother has been very ill for some time, and it is feared that the shock of the news of the daughter's sad fate may be more than the stricken mother will be able to stand.

Death Butted In.
Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 10.—Death today ended the attempt of Captain Z. Edwards, of San Diego, Cal., to re-cross the continent in a cart drawn by a team of angora goats. Edwards succumbed to an attack of pneumonia after lying in the hospital here since the latter part of last month. Edwards was on his return trip to San Diego, having traveled from that city to New York in 257 days. He left New York last June.

such intolerable conditions. It may be to the interests of some leaders that, for political reasons, lawlessness continue, but it is against the interests of the workmen, themselves. To dismiss men for asking a wage increase would be such infamy that I can hardly believe that it has occurred. You should learn about this definitely. A union is equally as necessary as a corporation. Both must obey the law. Unionists have no right to force other workers into their union. Such action is a gross violation of right. But it is equally an outrage for the employer to discriminate against the unions. My conclusion is that it becomes the highest, most pressing duty to see that complete justice is guaranteed both the employer and the employe, as well as the people themselves. "It is not merely your duty, but your right, to insist on knowing the facts that brought on this strike, and judge them. If the present arbitration law is not sufficiently stringent, make it more stringent. The state and the municipality have the power to force any corporation to do right, and it is the duty of the people to see that they do right. Your duties are twofold. First, enforce the law and restore order; second, learn the facts, remedy the injustice that has been done, and effectually prevent the repetition of injustice."

ROOSEVELT WELCOMES THE BOSSES

THE NOTE IN THE DINNER INVITATION AT CHICAGO SHOCKS HIM BUT THE BEAM IN THE LONGWORTH PUNCTION WENT DOWN LIKE A CAMEL.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 10.—Those who were lucky enough to be within earshot at the Longworth reception yesterday when George B. Cox, Garry Herrman and "Rud" Hynicka, the political triumvirate of Cincinnati, were presented to Colonel Roosevelt, had much to say today concerning the meeting. Roosevelt shook hands with each of the three men. He shook hands with Cox, despite the fact that Roosevelt sent Taft to Ohio in 1905 to oppose Cox and his state program, and later was the recipient from Cox of what the colonel termed "some of the best worded abuse I ever heard." His meeting with Cox was cool. Roosevelt had the better of the engagement, and had a decision been given on the spot he undoubtedly would have left the receiving line a winner. "How do you do?" Roosevelt queried, as Cox held out his hand. "I've met you before," Cox ventured. "Yes?" Roosevelt gently questioned. "Where was that?" "In Washington," said Cox and he moved rapidly away. Roosevelt then shook hands with Herrman and Hynicka who had stood apparently tongue-tied while Cox was leading the charge. Hynicka remarked that it was a beautiful day. Roosevelt agreed.

THE LADY FAR FROM GENEROUS

CHANLER GAVE HIS WIFE $30,000 A YEAR INCOME, AND SHE SHAKES HIM BUT OFFERS HIM $20 A MONTH—PROBABLY ALL HE IS WORTH.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
New York, Sept. 10.—Broken and despondent, with his romance shattered and his fortune scattered, Robert Winthrop Chanler, suitor for the hand of Mme. Lina Cavaleiri, is in hiding today, according to statements of his acquaintances here. Following Chanler's recent hurried return from Europe, stories of a separation with his wife were circulated. These Chanler vehemently denied. With a week passed since his return, however, another reason for his return has been suggested by his friends.

According to them, shortly after his marriage, Chanler transferred his $30,000 yearly income to Mme. Cavaleiri, who now offers him $20 monthly to pay his expenses. Further, they say, he transferred to her the bulk of his estate, the papers being signed before their marriage, upon Mme. Cavaleiri's demand. His friends fear his mind may become affected and some of them are with him constantly in his retreat, which they refuse to divulge, to keep him from brooding over his troubles.

Chanler paid ardent court to the singer for more than a year. After frequent proposals he was accepted. They were married June 15. A cable message from Mme. Cavaleiri today denies any separation. The message was worded similarly to that she sent the day after Chanler's return.

Could Not Find Husband's Folks.

The parents of the girl live about five miles out of the city, where she has been staying. It appears that young Bartruff has a married sister living on High or Cottage streets, in this city, and the girl, after walking into town from her home, tried to find the home of her husband's sister, in the hope of finding her husband. She made inquiries at several places on High and Church streets last night, but, being unable to find the place she sought, she took the deadly drug and would have died had she not been discovered writhing in agony in the yard of Clyde Johnson at Union and Church streets. It was at first thought the young woman was intoxicated, but it was later discovered that she had drunk carbolic acid from a small vial which was found lying near where she rolled upon the grass. Dr. O. B. Miles was summoned, and rushed to her assistance.

Little Hope of Recovery.
She was immediately taken to the Salem hospital, where every effort was made to relieve her sufferings, and save her life, and, although she is resting easier today, her mouth and throat are badly burned with the poison, and there are not many chances in favor of her recovery. From her condition, and that of her clothing, when found, Dr. Miles is of the opinion that she must have taken the drug over an hour prior to her
