THE OREGON PRIMARY ELECTION.

The Oregon Direct Primary election law has again been vindicated by a general victory over the opponents of the law. Nearly all of the Direct Primary candidates have been nomintaed, and many of the Statement No. One legislative candidates have won out.

The wisdom of the state central committee in sending outside speakers into a strong Republican county like Marion, and trying to defeat Republicans who are upholding the law must be questioned. If too much of that work is done the party will be torn asunder.

The editor of this paper, who was a candidate for the nomination for governor announced everywhere on his campaign that he would support the candidates of his party after the direct primary, and will do so. He will not be found sulking in his tent as has too often been the case with Oregon pollilcians. It is the first duty of a man who seeks nomination at the hands of a political organization to suppor the successful candidate of his party. That is what he would expect if he were the nominee, and he should do as he would be done by. That is the Golden Rule of American politics, and the candidate who violates that rule cannot expect to be successful in the great game of political leadership. I shall play the game according to the

Holding the Direct Primary election on Saturday afternoon reduced the number of votes cast by nearly one-half. It was the busiest part of the busiest day of the week. The polls should have been open from 7 a, m. until 7 p. m., instead of from noon to 7 p. m. Neither business men nor employes in business houses can get away to vote on Saturday afternoon. That is the time when country people are in the towns doing their trading for the whole week. The Primary election should be held on Monday or Thursday, so that the vote can be counted and made known without waiting

The alphabetical featurer of the Direct Primary law has again proven a source of strength to some candidates. Many men will owe their nomination to the fact that their name began with one of the letters in the first half of the alphabet. This feature of the law works a hardship on some good men. A man might be a perfect ass in every respect, but his name would have to be spelled with a capital letter in the Direct Primary ballot. and that would make him a statesman by the votes of persons not acquainted with his bray. The law needs amendment in this feature.

The editor of this newspaper is very well satisfied with the outcome of the campaign in the Direct Primary election just held. It has been a campaign for principles, so far as this newspaper is concerned, against misrepresentation and vituperation against the editor of this paper proceeding from those who feared his success. His attitude against all special privilege and for the rights of the common people made him the mark for attack for the machine organs, the beneficiaries of graft and the protectors of special privileges. The votes cast for Col. Hofer were cast by men of principle, for principle, and against all that could be published by those who tremble lest he should succeed. That vote is a vote of honor to any man, and The Capital Journal is proud of it.

Col. Hofer became a candidate on petition of citizens who believed in him. He made his own campaign and was never accused of being any man's candidate. He paid his own campaign expenses, and conducted his

Men voted for him because they believed in the principles he advocated, and he made his fight alone and single-handed. He realized that he would receive no support from any Portland rewspaper, but the German Press, and the loyalty of the German voters has been proven in | silently but relentless'y been on his his behalf. He was attacked in the prohibition press and represented as trail for years bent only in wreaking unfit to be outside the penitentiary, and yet his vote is a respectable one from all over the state.

Col. Hofer made a square fight fororganized labor and an eight-hour day. He is an employer of union labor, and pays the scale on an eighthour day, believes the time will come when all laborers will get an eighthour day, and will earn good money for their employers. He spoke against state-wide prohibition and a stringent Sunday law, and for home rule for cities and for the plain rights of the common people. The votes he got are votes for principles that will endure the test of time and experi-

Col. Hofer made his fight square to the people, for the producers and the laboring class. He appealed to no church, no fraternal order, no class or interests. Newspapers were not hired to support him, and he paid no money to newspapers to boost for him. He spent no money for liquors or cigars. Every vote cast for him was cast for principle, and not because he belonged to this fraternal order or that. He fought state-wide prohibition and for Home Rule of cities because he believes the first would be a blow to good order, and the latter is the inherent right of cities to use their police power to regulate and control vice and moral problems Let others take the responsibility of decelving the people on these matters. He got no votes by misrepresentation.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darken-ing the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a su-perlor preparation of sage, with the ad-The man who sells all the cream.
