Nice thing about a RAINCOAT is that it's a dressy, servicable overcoat for any day, and it sheds rain when you need that.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

Raincoats are all-wool, a very important point; most Raincoats are not all-wool. The cloth is rain-proofed by a special Hart Schaffner & Marx process; best known. Any kind of Overcoat here that you want; plenty of styles and weaves and new colorings.

Governor Benson Home-

Governor and Mrs. F. W. Benson arrived home from San Francisco at noon today and is resting at his home today, after the tiresome trip by train and will probably take up als official duties tomorrow morning. Aside from the fatigue of the trip the governor is feeling first and on the high road to rece ery from his treatment for a local affection of the face.

Horse Lost Or Stolen-

Fred Caruthers, a printer of this city and farmer of Polk county reported to Sheriff Minto this moraing that a grey mare has either strayed from or been stolen from his farm, just acros the river, and he is inclined to the belief that she was stolen. She was missed this morning and the description furnished is that she weighs 1,400 pounds, is nearly white in color, has a scar near the right side of the tail, promment backbone, and had a rope tied to her neck when last seen.

Expenses Were Light-

Three more candidates for nomination to public office at the recent primary election have filed their statements of expenses of the campaign with the secretary of state. they being Attorney-General A. M. Crawford, for re-nomination; Judge SALEM POSTOFFICE W. L. Bradshaw, of Eastern Oregon, for re-nomination, and Judge J. W. Hamilton, of Roseburg, for re-nom-Ination. Attorney General Crawford says his campaign expenses aggregated a total of $328.01, Judge Bradshaw expended the extravagan; sum of $1 and Judge Hamilton says he did not spend a single red cent in his efforts to secure the office again which he has filled for the past 20 years. He is a Democrat, and so is Bradshaw, who has also been on the bench since Mt. Hood sprouted.
