AN OREGON FARM.

"When I decided on an Oregon farm," said John Fisher, "I was living at Linnton and working on odd jobs in Portland. I was a stone mason and a plasterer, earning fair wages, but found it hard to save much because of a family to support. "Getting two tents, we camped on the Wallowa River until I located 160 acres in the Eagle Mountains in Wallowa County and began clearing off the trees. Not having cleared enough the first year, I herded sheep and did other jobs, as one can get all the work one wants in Oregon anywhere. The second year I raised a small crop, but still had to labor for others. The third year 1 raised 24@25c per lb. 1,000 bushels of wheat, which brought me $750, and from that time things happened.

Willamette valley is contained in a 228-acre farm 21/2 miles from Brooks and convenient to the electric line. This place must be sold soon, and we have orders to sell it. If you want a good piece of land see this farm. The buildings do not amount to much, but the soil is A No. 1. Will grow fruit, grain or vegetables or would make a first-class dairy ranch. See it and make us a price. We will make agreeable terms. You will not waste your time or ours in looking at this property.
