WRESTLING MATCH WAS ON THE SQUARE

The wrestling match which took place in the presence of a good-sized crowd of spectators at the armory hill last evening, was much of a surprise to those who witnessed it as it was one of the best and swiftest affairs of its kind that has ever been seen in this city. Carl Busch, the German wrestler, who has only been in this country five years, but has wrestled in almost every state in the Union, won the match in the first and third falls, while the second down was won by his opponent, Dan Shodle. It took Busch eighteen minutes to put Shodle's shoulders to the mat in the first round; Shodle got the decision in the second round in seven minutes, and Busch the last and deciding round in seven and one-half minutes. Both men are experts in the art and science of wrestling and made a good impression upon the spectators. Busch is now a resident of Woodburn, where he owns a small ranch, and is arranging a match with Strangler Smith, of Oregon City, to be pulled off in this city soon.

company and the Wells Fargo Express company is paralyzed.

The terminals here, at Hoboken and at Jersey City are piled with undelivered goods and the sidings are crowded with loaded cars.

Every express company in the vicinity of New York is affected by the conditions and the leaders of the strikers predict that unless the demands of the men are met a strike will be called in every city in the country among the expressmen.

Rioting continued today but up to noon no serious outbreaks had been reported.

Scores of teamsters who have left their wagons declared today that they were not striking, but that they refused to associate with strikebreaking expressmen. Employers, however, are treating them as strikers and are filling their places with non-union men.

The Civic Federation and the labor factions are seeking peace, John Mitchell has arranged a conference, on behalf of the express men, with the companies Monday. The newly organized express wagon helpers union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, demands recognition by the employers. Some companies have evidenced a willingness to grant the increase in wages asked by the helpers but balk at recognition of the union.

man, when the ascent began. The elevator boy, who is considered a very careful operator, stopped at the second floor to let the man off and, recognizing Mrs. Rowland and thinking that she was intending to go to the third floor as usual, turned on the power and started to close the door at the same time.

Mrs. Rowland, evidently mistaking the second for the third floor, at the same time started to step out just as the elevator began to rise. One foot had crossed the threshold of the cage when the door struck her and she fell. Up to this time the elevator boy, whose back was turned to her had not noticed her movements, but when she fell he realized what had happened and he immediately shut off the power of the car but it had already gained such momentum that it could not be stopped until Mrs. Rowland was crushed between the floor of the elevator and the wall of the shaft. The boy was so frightened and excited for the moment that he was at a loss what to do and the elevator was so tightly wedged by Mrs. Rowland's body that it was lowered to the second floor with difficulty and it was some time before Mrs. Rowland could be released.

When Mrs. Rowland fell, as a natural result of stepping out into space, both limbs extended over the floor of the car and she was caught in this position between the car and the upper casing of the elevator shaft. The body was crushed and twisted between the elevator and the walls of the shaft and the heavy steel casing was forced from its holdings and outward about two inches while the plaster and tiling were broken and crumbled as though they were paper and the impression made in the wall by Mrs. Rowland's knees and body was about four inches deep.

When Mrs. Rowland was finally released from her dreadful situation, in a semi-conscious condition, she was carried to her husband's office on the third floor and medical aid was summoned immediately. Drs. Harry Clay and Mercer responded to the call and Mrs. Rowland was taken at once to the Willamette San-torium. She was placed upon the operating table but her vitality was so low that she was in no condition to undergo an operation but she was placed under anaesthetics and relieved of her suffering.

 She rallied later and Dr. Clay dressed her injuries as best he could by replacing the flesh and sewing up the wounds and at last reports today he was in hopes of saving all her limbs and Mrs. Rowland has a fighting chance to recover completely. The left leg was badly crushed and mangled from the knee down, the right leg was broken above the knee and otherwise crushed, the left arm was crushed and broken and the muscles were torn from the left shoulder. Dr. Clay has hopes of being able to save all of her limbs, but it may be found necessary to amputate the left leg near the knee. Mrs. Rowland has displayed wonderful vitality and this may win out for her. In her fight for life, with the aid of skilled physicians.
