

MASONIC HALL HAS CLOSE CALL

FIRE STARTED FROM ELECTRIC WIRES IN SOME MANNER NOT EXPLAINED—QUICK DISCOVERY AND PROMPT ACTION PREVENTED SERIOUS LOSS.

A fire originating from a derangement of electric wires, due to the storm which swept over the city last evening, broke out in the banquet room of the Masonic hall at about 6 o'clock last evening, and before it could be extinguished burned a large hole in the ceiling of the room. Simultaneously another fire, originating from the same cause, broke out in the vacant room situated on the west third floor of the building, and burning its way through the floor ignited the rear stairway of the Imperial Furniture store, damaging goods to the extent of $300.

The fire was discovered in the Masonic building by a traveling salesman, who happened to be crossing along the street. Through the windows he saw the interior of the hall ablaze, and he immediately reported it to the fire department. The fire department made an immediate response, and then it was discovered that there was also a fire in the vacant room, and that the stairway in the Imperial Furniture store was on fire. The store was provided with fire extinguishers, which were put into service. The fire department brought its chemical extinguishers into effective use, and the fire was soon under control and extinguished. None of the other stores or offices in the building suffered any damages.

and making incendiary speeches skulked about the secluded places in Zaatecas today, according to advice that has reached El Paso. The bodies of those who were killed by the soldiers when they fired on the speech makers are being buried in trenches just outside the city. An alleged order that their graves shall remain unmarked is reported to have been inspired by government officials.

Owing to a strict censorship of news, the exact number of dead is not known. All reports, however, agree that at least 100 were slain. Some sources declare that 500 fell, while other estimates vary between 200 and 300.

Dead Are in All Streets.

Many Private dispatches, that evidently slipped by the censor, have been received by El Paso people. These messages declared that the soldiers fired volley after volley at the retreating revolutionists, and that after half an hour's firing there were dead on every street of Zaatecas. Many wounded were carried from the streets, and are now being cared for by friends.

Rumors of rioting at Alamez, an interior Mexican town, reached here at noon. According to the meagre details, several persons were killed and the revolutionists were driven from the town.

Efforts to confirm the report of a battle at De Rio, between Americans, up to noon today, had been unsuccessful. It was learned, however, that the Mexican government is sending troops to the border to assist the American rangers in patrolling the Rio Grande, and is keeping down lawless bands of armed Mexicans who have been crossing and recrossing the river and raiding ranches.

Government Massing Troops. Other Mexican troops are massing in the states where the revolution is incipient. The small town of Guerrero, southwest of Chihuahua, is under martial law. Francisco Madero, the revolutionary leader, formerly had his headquarters at Guerrero. Madero is now a fugitive in the marshes surrounding that town, and is being sought by Mexican cavalry. Madero is surrounded by a few of his chosen lieutenants, and is expected to give battle before he surrenders.

Among those well informed on Mexican politics, it is believed that General Bernardo Reyes, who was exiled by President Diaz, has returned from Europe, and is secretly directing the movements of the insurrectionists.

Cross Into Mexico.

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 21.—Three hundred armed Mexicans crossed the Rio Grande from the American side early today and are marching toward San Carlos, where the revolutionary forces are reported to be mobilizing 5000 strong.

The insurrectionists plan to attack Chihuahua and make that city their capital in an insurrection against the power of President Diaz.

It is estimated that during the night and this forenoon 2000 Mexicans had crossed from the United States into Mexico. They are under regular formation, marshalled by officers, and are hastening toward the Towns of Aldama, Javali and San Carlos, from which points they will march in three divisions to the neighborhood of Chihuahua City, where they will unite in the attack.

The revolution are said to be, many of them, old soldiers and to be marching in military fashion. Many ranchmen and cowboys are believed to be among their number.

WANTS SOCIALIST VOTES ALL COUNTED

Declaring it to be his belief that certain votes at the last election were not counted for the socialist candidates, C. W. Braze, secretary of the state socialist central committee, has filed a written communication with the secretary of state, asking that a correction be made in the final count.

Braze in his communication says that he bases this belief on the fact that votes cast for candidates at the last election were not counted, because the name of N. H. Marks was written on the ballot. He states that the party does not desire to have its candidates ignored in this manner and wants a correction made on the final count. He maintains that he was instructed by the secretary of state that it was legal to write this name on the ballot, and that it was illegal under law to not count the ballots having the name written upon them.

COLLEGES GRADUATING INSURGENTS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Boston, Mass., Nov. 21.—The West is graduating 2000 or 3000 college men, creating a brand of red hot progressive and insurgents, according to President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford, J. University, Cal., who is here today.

"The West is graduating thousands of young men from the universities annually who are insurgents," said President Jordan. "They believe a mistake has been made in deciding that corporations are artificial persons, and franchises are property. They believe that persons have certain higher rights than corporations, and that franchises involve obligations."

Minding one's own business is the busiest job in the world. The more we know, the less sure we are of what we know.

RAILROADS COULD SAVE MILLIONS

Washington, Nov. 21.—As a representative of vast Eastern freight interests, Louis R. Glavis, in the Balingier-Pinchot investigation, protested to the Interstate Commerce Commission today against increases in freight rates proposed by Eastern railroads.

"Even if the railroads need the additional income," he said, "no evidence has been adduced to show that these particular increases are just or reasonable. I propose to show that there is a huge field for the application of scientific management in American railway operations. It is fraught with opportunities for economic and improved service, which may be expected as a result of economic management. These economies would save an average of $1,000,000 daily."

TRANSFERS CASES OF PACKERS

JUDGE LANDIS REFUSED TO SEND CASES TO FEDERAL CIRCUIT COURT, BUT TRANSFERRED THEM TO UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Chicago, Nov. 21.—United States Judge K. M. Landis this afternoon refused to transfer the government cases against certain Chicago packers to the federal circuit court, but transferred them to another department of the United States district court, presided over by Judge Carpenter. The attorneys for the packers recently protested against him having the cases transferred to the district court, when Judge Landis intimated that such was his intention.

Landis' action today followed a ruling by him that he was disqualified to act as trial judge, because of the fact that in 1895 he acted as a government attorney in prosecuting the same defendants.

WOMAN HAD HER "SHADOW" ARRESTED

MRS. WALKER OBJECTS TO DETECTIVE FOLLOWING HER AND HAS HIM PULLED—SLEUTH SPENDS THE NIGHT IN PORTLAND JAIL.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Portland, Ore., Nov. 21.—L. Stoddard, a Seattle detective, is at liberty today on bail of $500 after having spent the greater part of Sunday in jail on a charge of "grossly injuring Mrs. Althea Walker and her property." The warrant was sworn to by her son, Clarence H. Walker, Mrs.

Walker is the widow of the late David F. Walker, of San Mateo, California, and Salt Lake City.

Stoddard declares that his arrest was made on a "trumped up" charge because Mrs. Walker did not want him to shadow her as the federal court at Salt Lake City is seeking her on a charge of alleged contempt because she is said to have left the city with $1,000,000 worth of securities belonging to her deceased husband's estate. She had been ordered to appear in court and show cause why she should not turn over the securities, there being several heirs to the estate.

Mrs. Walker and her son, Clarence H. Walker, arrived Sunday morning from Seattle. Stoddard, the detective, was on the same train. Stoddard alleges that as soon as they discovered that he was shadowing them, they conspired with a third person, believed to be a Portland attorney, to rid themselves of his espionage.

The warrant was issued by Judge Tazewell early Sunday but Stoddard could not be found until late in the evening.

Stoddard admitted that he was in the employ of the heirs of the Walker estate, who are contesting the will made in favor of Mrs. Walker, who is the second wife of the millionaire.

Mrs. Walker and her son, Clarence, left Salt Lake three weeks ago, with the alleged intent of dodging the court's order requiring their presence in court relative to litigation, in the contest of the will of D. F. Walker, late husband of Mrs. Althea Walker.

Mrs. Walker recently was arrested in Seattle on a bench warrant charging contempt of the federal court in failing to observe the restraining order. Mrs. Walker has denied removing the securities and has been released from custody on her promise to return to Salt Lake not later than November 26.

Neither Mrs. Walker nor her son could be located this afternoon.
