WARNER WILL COACH U. OF O. ANOTHER YEAR

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 24.—William J. Warner, Oregon's head coach, has been secured to coach the state university for another season. Oregon football supporters are unanimous in their approval of the selection of Warner for next year. The prospects of a championship football team at Oregon were, at the beginning of the season, very poor. Under Coach Warner, however, Oregon has developed a team which easily ranks first in the northwest. Coach Warner graduated from Cornell in '02 after four years of varsity football. He had the unusual distinction of being captain during both his junior and senior years. In 1901 he was chosen a member of Walter Camp's All-American team.

JIMMY WALSH IS WAITING OF ROBBERY

[UNLESS FEELS LEASED WIRE.]
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 24.—Jimmy Walsh is crying "robbery" today because he lost the decision to Monte Attell in their three-round bout here last night, but fans who saw the fight are paying little attention to him. They say that Walsh should be very well satisfied that he was allowed to fight. He refused to weigh in and is believed to have been at least six pounds heavier than Attell, who tipped the beam at exactly 116 pounds, the weight agreed upon. Attell won by his remarkable footwork, blocking Walsh's early rushes and in the last rounds beat him decisively.

PEACEFUL VALLEY TONIGHT

A SPLENDID PLAY PRESENTED BY A VERY STRONG COMPANY THE FEATURE FOR THANKSGIVING EVENING.

The Columbia Grand Stock company is giving Salem a class of play and a class of playing that should fill the Grand every evening of the company's appearance. The plays are all standard, clean, pointing a good moral and are in that way educational. The company is a really strong one, well balanced and composed of people who take pride in their profession and their company. The prices, too, are the very lowest at which a really good company can show here, and Salem has now reached the stage of growth where she can and should let out another tuck in her skirt, attend the theaters and support a stock company.

Last night the play was "In the Shadow of St. James" which is that good old standard play, "The Parish Priest" sporting under a longer and more euphonistic name, and it was splendidly played. Mr. Bogardus as Dr. Edward Welch, took his part, a rather difficult one, splendidly, and Miss Scarth, as Nellie Durkin, presented as sweet and dear a little girl as ever graced a home or dimmed the footlights. The part of Father Whelan as presented by Claude Hutchinson was fine, he caught the inspiration at its highest point and gave the audience a most lovable priest, a father indeed to the parish and a man whose priestly garb could not hide the warm and tender heart beneath it. The other parts were well taken, the support being excellent throughout.

Tonight, "Peaceful Valley," the play in which Sol Smith Russell achieved such success, will be the attraction and the Journal scribe suggests that no better way of spending Thanksgiving evening than by seeing this beautiful play, for that it will be well played, all who have seen the excellent work of the Columbia Grand Stock company, will know without anyone telling them.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SPENT ABOUT $15,000

According to the statement of campaign expenses filed with the secretary of state by the Anti-saloon league $10,058 were expended during the recent campaign by the organization in its attempt to put the state on the dry column. It is estimated that the expenditures made by local and county organizations will easily bring this sum up to the $15,000 mark. In addition to this P. Lee Paget, of Postland, expended nearly $1,000 in behalf of the dry campaign.

The Home Rule association has not yet filed its statement, but will before long, and it is expected that it will show a heavy expenditure in behalf of the cause of the "wets."

EUGENE ALSO AFTER LOWER FREIGHT RATES

Eugene, Or., Nov. 24.—The first steps toward securing terminal freight rates, or at least a reduction from the present rates was taken by the Eugene Merchants' Protective Association at its meeting last night by the appointment of a committee to take the matter up with other cities in Western Oregon in an endeavor to induce the others to co-operate with Eugene in the matter. If favorable action is taken by the commercial organizations of the other cities the matter will be taken up with the interstate commerce commission. Medford's fight for terminal rates is being watched here with a great deal of interest, and it is thought that if the city wins there are good prospects for the same results here.

BASEBALL MANAGER GETS BIG SALARY

[UNLESS FEELS LEASED WIRE.]
New York, Nov. 24.—A new contract, calling for $15,000 a year, was signed today by John McGraw, as manager of the New York Giants, according to gossip along the Rialto. If the rumor is true, McGraw will be the highest salaried baseball player in the world.

It is said that McGraw was flirting with D. A. Fletcher, promoter of the proposed new third league, and John T. Brush, owner of the Giants, hearing of it, drew up the new contract to block the deal. McGraw's new contract is said to run for five years.

VICTORIA STRENGTHENS HER BALL TEAM

[UNLESS FEELS LEASED WIRE.]
Victoria, B. C., Nov. 24.—Word has been received from the Victoria scout, Eddie Household, to the effect that Dashwood, now sojourning in California, had decided to join Victoria's new team as catcher next season. With Cliff Clemenson and Ted Millon, this makes three in line at this early date. Dashwood has a good record with the Oakland team and Clemenson and Millon are shining stars from the University of Washington.
