want to get it at the most advantageous price, don't you? If anybody is willing to sell you what you want at a price that is specially low, you want to know it, don't you? Now, doesn't it stand to reason that, if you go out yourself, hunting-the man who has what you want is going to see that you are eager for it, and will charge you all he thinks you will pay. If you go hunting for it yourself you're likely to miss the only man who would sell at the lowest price. And doesn't it stand to reason that the quicker, surer way to find that man who has what you want, and who will sell at the very lowest price, is to send a message to him, where he is sure to be looking for it-in the market-place of the Munnimakers-the little classified ads. in the Capital Journal. Your own good sense tells you that if you go to the sellers, they'll charge you more; make the sellers come to you, and they're likely to charge you less. The one sure way to buy at the lowest price and at best advantage is to bring the sellers to you by a little ad, in the Capital Jour-nal,
