

The Education of An Osteopath. With the advent of Osteopathy in the field of treatment, we are naturally curious to know the qualifications of an osteopath for handling sickness and diseases of various kinds.

To enter an osteopathic school one must have a good general education and when in school pursue a course that takes his whole time and energy. The course in at least one school of osteopathy is so crowded with work that the students who like their ease call it by the same name that Sherman called war.

The amount of work given the student is gradually decreased from the first to the last year. The first-year student begins classes five days in the week at 8 a. m. and stops at 12 m. for lunch, then begins again on three days per week at 2 p. m. and attends until 4 p. m. after that he can get his lessons. In his last year he begins at 8 a. m. and attends classes, practice or laboratory to 4 or 6 p. m. with an hour for lunch five days a week, and spends two to six hours on Saturday.

His studies cover the whole range of practice, as can be seen by a comparison between the course of study adopted by the Association of American Medical Colleges, and the course given at the parent school of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo.

- Course Adopted by the American Association of Medical Colleges. Histology. Embryology. Osteology. Anatomy. Physiology. Chemistry and Toxicology. Materia Medica. Pharmacology. Therapeutics. Bacteriology. Pathology. Medical Zoology. Clinical Microscopy. Physical Diagnosis. Practice of Medicine. Surgery. Obstetrics. Gynecology. Pediatrics. Eye and Ear. Nose and Throat. Mental and Nervous Diseases. Electro-Therapeutics. Genito-Urinary Diseases. Dermatology and Syphilis. Hygiene and Public Health. Diagnostics. Medical Jurisprudence. Course Given by the American School of Osteopathy. Histology. Embryology. Osteology. Anatomy. Physiology. Chemistry and Toxicology. Principles of Osteopathy. Osteopathic Mechanics. Bacteriology. Pathology. Clinical Microscopy. Physical Diagnosis. Osteopathic Diagnosis. Practice of Osteopathy. Surgery. Applied Anatomy. Obstetrics. Gynecology. Pediatrics. Eye and Ear. Nose and Throat. Mental and Nervous Diseases. Electro-Therapeutics. Genito-Urinary Diseases. Dermatology and Syphilis. Hygiene and Public Health. Diagnostics. Medical Jurisprudence.

As the osteopath is now getting practically the same training as is received by the M. D. and as nearly every osteopath practicing has had at least a 20-month course, and a part of them 27 and 32 months, and as the course pursued by the graduates of medicine vary from 12 months to 36 months, owing to the time of their graduation, it will be seen that the education of the D. O. will average up to or exceed that of the M. D.

Drop by drop the offensive discharge caused by Nasal Catarrh falls from the back of the nose into the throat, setting up an inflammation that is likely to mean Chronic Bronchitis. The most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh is Ely's Cream Balm, and the relief that follows even the first application cannot be told in words. Don't suffer a day longer from the discomfort of Nasal Catarrh. Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Bros., 50 Warren street, New York.
