

MAY EXPLAIN POOR QUALITY OF COAST COAL

SEATTLE IS LOOFED UPON WITH UNFRIENDLY EYES BY THE NAVY ON ACCOUNT OF TREATMENT OF BLUE JACKETS.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Diego, Calif., March 17.—The Maryland Eagle, printed aboard the cruiser Maryland, contains an editorial that revealed today that Seattle, Washington, is not regarded friendly eyes by the men of the navy.

The editorial, headed, "The Shame of Seattle," declares that several sailors went to the Mammoth skating rink, on Fourth avenue, Seattle, and were told they could not skate unless they wore pea jackets to hide their uniforms. They demanded their money back and left. The men had similar experiences at other rinks.

The editorial recites the contrasting treatment they received elsewhere along the coast and at Honolulu, and expresses the hope that word of their treatment will reach the proper authorities for action.

It is said the men reported the incident to Captain Gilmore of the Maryland, who cancelled all shore leaves at Seattle and refused to allow any visitors aboard the cruiser while in the Puget Sound port.

It is asserted the navy department will cut Seattle from its ports of call until it can be assured that the uniform of the navy shall be welcomed in its places of amusement.

GALLOWAY WILL DECIDE BOTH CASES

With a view of securing a ruling on all the questions involved in the attack made by property owners on the validity of the ordinances providing for the installation of two sewer systems in the city, a stipulation has been entered into between the parties, that both cases shall be decided at the same time by Judge Galloway, and that pending an appeal from his decision, no demand shall be made upon the property owners for their assessment.

Judge Galloway has had the North Salem sewer case under consideration for some time and had intended to hand down a decision today. A few days ago, however, a suit was filed by property owners attacking the validity of the ordinance levying an assessment for the South Salem sewer, and in it some new questions are raised. With the purpose of securing a decision upon all the questions, and expediting matters, the agreement above referred to was entered into between the attorneys.

WILLAMETTE SANATORIUM IS ALL RIGHT

Some people gained the impression, or think they did, from a little story in yesterday's Journal, concerning the sudden and miraculous cure of a patient at the Willamette sanatorium, that the article reflects on that institution. It is claimed that it suggests that the charge of $9 alluded to therein was the bill for one day. If such an impression was conveyed it was erroneous—for no such inference was intended. Now the fact is that the Willamette sanatorium charges are very reasonable. It is the custom, however, in all hospitals, to collect a week in advance, and when the hero of yesterday's tale asked what his bill would be, he was informed that it would be $10.50 for a week; this being the minimum charge, and certainly cheap enough. The Willamette sanatorium is all right, so are its charges, and the little Journal skit certainly had no intention of conveying any inference otherwise.

The Journal man thought there was something rather humorous in the story, but it seems all that some other folks could see in it was what Van Black saw—the $9 charge.

"GUILTY," SAYS THE JUDGE BUT NO USE TO TRY HIM

Santa Ana, Calif., March 17.—A. L. Shonek, accused of having set fire to half a dozen homes in San Diego, being tried here on a charge of venue, was freed today by Judge West when he appeared to plead to the arson charge. Two previous trials ended in disagreement.

"You're guilty as the devil," said Judge West, "but I don't believe it would do any good to try you again."

The great trouble with so many self made men is that they believe firmly in advertising their goods.

CHAMPION WOLGAST TO FIGHT

MEETS GEORGE MEMSIC IN THE RING THIS AFTERNOON—ODDS 2 TO 1 IN HIS FAVOR, BUT HE HAS A HARD FIGHT.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—A realization that at least three fights which will net him in the neighborhood of $20,000, hinged on the result of his battle this afternoon with George Memsic did not prevent Champion Ad. Wolgast from resting this forenoon. Wolgast remained in bed until 9 o'clock. After a light breakfast he walked about the grounds at Doyle's training camp for an hour or more. Returning, he chatted with his wife, Tom Jones, his manager, and friends who called to wish him good luck, until noon, when he ate a hearty meal.

Wolgast jumped on the scales, "just for fun," he said, to show his friends how light he really was.

"I never felt better in my life," said the champion. "I was in good condition when I started West, and the few days I have had here has been amply sufficient to tone me up. I expect to win inside of 15 rounds."

Memsic spent the night at his mother's home. He retired after a visit to a theater and arose about 9 o'clock. Memsic, too, weighed in, and grinned when the beam raised at 132.

Despite the 2 to 1 offered by Wolgast's admirers, betting was very light. Barney Oldfield made a wager of $200 against $400 of Tom Jones' money.

Wolgast will spend the next ten days at Paso Robles hot springs, taking a thorough rest.

"From the springs we will go to San Francisco," said Jones. "We fight there March 31. After that we will stall around a day or two and then cut for New York to fill our date with 'One-Round Hogan.'"

Des Moines, Ia., March 17.—With the counting of the 42d ballot this afternoon in the fight for the United States senatorship, it was found that Kenyon lacked just nine votes of election. He received 68 votes. Observers are predicting his election tomorrow.

ANOTHER VOICE COMES FROM THE TOMBS

Detroit, Mich., March 17.—Suspend criticism of the military "maneuvers" was the advice of William J. Bryan here today.

"I believe in President Taft's judgment in the Mexican situation," said Bryan. "I do not approve of hasty criticism of the government in this move, or of the wild speculations of a sensational press."

COMMISSION HAD A LARGE GREEN RIBBON

Governor West issued a notarial commission today to S. C. Ness, of Eugene, and when he opens the envelope containing it and unfolds the document he will find running across it from the top where a pretty bow is formed to the bright golden seal at the bottom, a green instead of the customary red ribbon.

Now, it must not be gathered from that that the governor was particularly celebrating St. Patrick's day, because he was not, but Ness requested that his commission issue that day. He had not requested that it be decorated with a green ribbon, but what he did say was that for the last five years he had been in the habit of having his notarial commission renewed on St. Patrick's day, and that he desired it to be done again this year. The governor went him one better, not only renewing the commission today, but substituting for the customary red ribbon one of a deep, rich emerald hue.

THE OWNERS WILL NOT TAKE AN APPEAL

That no appeal will be prosecuted by the property owners from the decision of Judge Galloway in what is known as the Court street case is now certain, and with the view of giving the property owners a chance to bond, the city has agreed to waive the requirement that they must file their applications to bond within a period of 10 days.

This suit was instituted to enjoin the city from collecting the assessment for the improvement of the street, on the ground that the ordinance levying it was illegal. Judge Galloway held in favor of the city, and his decision seems a plain and clear enunciation of the law on the subject. It has been decided to not take an appeal. Under the law if the property owners desire to bond they must make application within 10 days but the city for the benefit of the property owners has consented to waive the requirement.

JAPAN WILL PLEASE TAKE DUE NOTICE

COL. ROOSEVELT'S MARTIAL BLOOD AROUSED—WILL RAISE AN ARMY OF CAVALRY AND RIDE OVER TO JAPAN IF IT DOESN'T BEHAVE.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 17.—It was learned here today that before leaving here Wednesday former President Roosevelt completed preliminary arrangements for the organization of an entire division of volunteer cavalry to fight Japan, should the occasion arise.

Colonel Roosevelt admitted that the Japanese menace on the Western coast of Mexico was of the most serious nature and informed his Rough Rider friends here that in the event of war he would ask President Taft's permission to organize a division to be recruited solely in the Southwest.

Various Rough Riders admitted today that they had been offered commands in the event of hostilities.

Colonel Roosevelt came here from El Paso, where it is said inside information of Japanese activities in Mexico started him into making the tentative arrangements to go to the front if the necessity arose.

It was said this afternoon that Colonel Roosevelt had been told the entire Pacific coast was lined with Japanese. The "only explanation" of the mobilization he could give was that the state department had been informed of an agreement between the Mikado and President Diaz whereby Japan was to get a coaling base on the West coast of Mexico as the price for assistance in suppressing the present rebellion.

A woman would feel sorry for her husband's business trouble if she were not innately certain that her husband had no business to have trouble.

MOVEMENT MAY FORCE A SETTLEMENT

LIMANTOUR HURRYING HOME, AND IT IS BELIEVED CARRIES OVERTURE. FROM THE REBELS BY WHICH PEACE MAY BE REACHED.

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—High army officials here today see in the hurried return of Mexican Finance Minister Limantour to Mexico City the real answer to the American mobilization. It is believed Limantour realizes that America seriously contemplates intervention, and is rushing to Mexico City with peace overtures from the rebels, which he hopes will clear the situation.

Preparations were completed today for handling the militia officers during the "maneuvers." One officer from the militia will be assigned to each company of the regulars. They will be amenable to discipline and will be instructed in camp pitching, sanitation, commissary problems and in the handling of troops in the field.

More than $2,000,000 worth of supplies are today stored in the army warehouses here, and the troops are practically ready for any development.

JAPANESE IN CALIFORNIA

good, and Japan's continuation of efforts to secure a coaling station, naval base or other concessions in Lower California are taken to be what President Taft meant when he admitted that the United States troops might invade Mexico, "upon the first necessary cause for action."

Thus, it is believed here today that if the present mobilization suffices to thwart the plans of the Mexican conspirators, who have been negotiating with the Japs, the military and naval demonstration will end. If the mobilization fails to bring this result, it is freely predicted that the army will invade Mexico, ostensibly for the protection of American interests, but really to restore order and to establish firmly a government whereby American peace and security would not be menaced by Japanese grants.

The first intimation that an invasion of Mexico is considered necessary, it is thought, will be the mobilization of the state militia.

Officials here today do not conceal their satisfaction over England's approval of President Taft's arbitration proposition. This is taken to indicate the belief that the alliance between England and Japan would be insufficient to prevent British operation from forcing England to ally herself with America in any issue between the United States and Japan.

Contrary to charges recently made, there is no jingo spirit in the administration in Washington. Today, instead of expressing fear of serious Japanese trouble, the general impression is that by quick and decided action, President Taft nipped serious trouble in the bud.
