Work on Journal Is Completed. That the roll-call to senate bill No. 282 and which increases the salary of the state engineer is lost; that senate bill No. 192 and which regulated the tare weight of grain sacks was never enrolled and that senate concurrent resolution No. 7 never reached the house is in substance the report of Calendar Clerk John Hunt who has been employed for the last two weeks in checking over the senate journal and who completed his labors today and submitted his report to the secretary of state this afternoon.

15,000 Items Checked. The report further shows that 15,000 items were checked over and that 55 pages of duplicate matter was taken out of the journal and 75 pages of omissions inserted. The original roll calls to several house bills were also lost but they were supplied from duplicates.

Will Not Affect Bill. If an opinion of Attorney General Crawford announced several days ago is a correct statement of the law, the missing roll-call will not invalidate the bill increasing the state engineer's salary. His opinion was to the effect that when a bill is signed by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house it is prima facie evidence that it has been regularly passed and that to invalidate it that it must be affirmatively shown that it was not regularly passed and that this can not be done by showing the records were mutilated or missing.

ALARMED ABOUT THE YORKTOWN

HAS NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE SHE LEFT ENSENADA, PRESUMABLY MONDAY—CARRIES A CREW OF 170.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] Washington, March 17.—Grave alarm was felt at the navy department this afternoon for the safety of the gunboat Yorktown, which was due at San Blas, Mexico, two days ago, from San Diego.

It was admitted by naval officials that the vessel was overdue, and that nothing had been heard from its commander, but, despite evident uneasiness, the officials maintained that they believed there was little cause for fear that the vessel would not be heard from shortly.

The Yorktown carries a crew of 176 men and eight officers. She left San Diego last Saturday night on a cruise down the Mexican coast, and was last heard from at Ensenada. There the Yorktown remained only a few hours, while her officers paid visits of courtesy to the Mexican officials. The Yorktown then steamed south and since that time, so far as the navy department knows, no word has been received from her.

Yorktown Sailed Monday. San Diego, Cal., March 17.—When the gunboat Yorktown sailed south from Ensenada last Monday she had clearance papers for Magdalena bay. Since that time nothing of a positive nature has been heard of her in San Diego, but there is a strong impression here that the gunboat is in close touch with the cruiser fleet. Unusually calm weather has prevailed along the lower coast during the absence of the Yorktown.

WILL MINE THE HARBOR ALL RIGHT

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] Washington, March 17.—War department officials today would not deny that mines are to be placed at the approaches of San Francisco harbor, but they professed to be ignorant of any official plans.

"No such orders have been issued, but if the coast officers are planning such a move, they are doing so on their own initiative," said General Weaver, head of the coast artillery service. "We do not keep mines in the water, but occasionally they are placed there and tested. We even explode one sometimes in an effort to blow up a target. Such tests are conducted to make sure that the wiring and equipment are in good condition."

General Weaver refused to say anything regarding the significance of the expected action at San Francisco. He maintained the same attitude as he has held toward the whole "maneuver" question.

This Is Consoling. Washington, March 17.—Formal assurance that the Americans and federal troops captured at Casas Grandes would be fairly tried before being shot to death was given the state department this afternoon by Mexican officials.

THEY MADE THE LADIES STRIP DOWN

BANKER HULL MAD BECAUSE CUSTOMS OFFICERS MADE HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER PEEL OFF UNDERWEAR, SEARCHED THEIR RATS, BRAIDS AND PUFFS FOR DIAMONDS.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] New York, March 17.—Infuriated at the action of customs officers in compelling his wife and daughter to disrobe in an effort to locate a diamond necklace which officials believe was being smuggled into the United States, Joseph Hull, a wealthy banker, of Savannah, Ga., threatened today to bring suit against the New York officials.

Mrs. Hull and her daughter, Eliza, were required to remove their stockings, skirts and other articles of wearing apparel, in addition to hats, braids and puffs. The search failed to disclose the necklace. Mrs. Hull and her daughter occupied a stateroom on the steamer Lusitania. They brought 20 trunks, which were closely scrutinized by the customs officers. The baggage of other passengers also was examined.

When Hull was informed of the action of the local officials he was furious.

UNCLE SAM GOING AFTER CANADIANS

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] Chicago, March 17.—Extradition of the Canadians charged with participation in the alleged Alaskan coal land frauds will be asked of the Dominion government, according to Department of Justice reports here. The government claims that the offense charged, that of conspiracy to commit a felony, is extraditable.

The Canadians involved are Henry Osborne, former vice president of the Alaska Central railroad; Gwyn Francis, former treasurer of the road, and Duncan and Francis Stewart. All are now in Toronto. Bench warrants for their arrest have been issued.

Warrants were served this afternoon on George M. Seward, Pierre E. Beach, George A. Ball and Frank Watson. Albert C. Frost, who is charged with having been the prime mover, is in England and is expected to return without extradition.

Assistant Attorney-General Townsend and his staff left for Seattle this afternoon. Townsend expects to prosecute the members of the English group of claimants.

CONFIRM STATEMENTS OF LIMANTOUR'S MISSION [UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE] New York, March 17.—The brothers of Francisco I. Madero, the Mexican rebel leader, expressed today the hope that burned bridges on the railroads would not impede the progress of Mexican Finance Minister Limantour to Mexico City.

"Any delay to Limantour," they said, "would be the gravest mistake. He is a practical man. The country needs him."

The Maderos' expressions are taken as confirming the story that Limantour is proceeding to Mexico with plans for peace.
