SHERIFF ARRESTED BROWN.

it and this mark of identification was not included in the description sent to the officers throughout the country. Sheriff Minto remembered it, however, and before arresting Brown yesterday afternoon happened to get a glimpse of just such a scar over his left eye, and it was one of the marks which confirmed his suspicions as to Brown being the man wanted.

Over $2,000 Reward.

Should it transpire that Brown is really the man Sheriff Minto and Deputy Sheriff Esch will at least share, if they do not wholly reap the reward offered for the murderer. Portland has offered something like $1,400 for his capture and a short time ago Governor West on behalf of the state, offered $1,000.

Cool and Collected.

In his interviews with both the sheriff officials and Detective Day, Brown was cool and collected. When advised that he would be taken to Portland for identification and asked as to whether he would go without a warrant, he replied in the affirmative; saying that he would probably have to go anyway, and that he might as well go without one as with one.

He says that his home is in Michigan, but that he has been on the coast for many years and also that he has worked several seasons in the territory surrounding Salem.

Mural in Town—

P. E. Muraine, of Portland, is in the city representing the United States Cashier invention which is attracting the attention of some of the best financiers of the state. Mr. Muraine has only one drawback—he is of Irish descent and can't talk a man's arm off, but he has the facts in his favor and that is a whole lot.

Forestry Board Meets Saturday—

Pending a recommendation by the Oregon Wool Growers' association. Governor West has appointed Dan Smythe, of Pendleton, secretary of the association, a member of the state board of forestry. The governor has also called a meeting of the board for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Entertained the Society—

The Sewing society of the W. R. C. was entertained by Mrs. Stella Bynon at her home, No. 552 Church street, Thursday afternoon, March 23. Mrs. Myrtle Bechtel assisted Mrs. Bynon in entertaining. There was about 40 of the members present and several visitors. A fine lunch was served to which all did ample justice, and the members departed for home after doing a good afternoon's work of sewing, all voting Mrs. Bynon and Mrs. Bechtel ideal entertainers.

Fire in South Salem—

Fire in one of the tents occupied by a gang of Greek laborers, employed on the South Salem sewer, located on Myers street, near the Riverside Road, gave the fire department a long run at 9:30 this morning and brought out a long string of automobiles and pedestrians. The Greek's belongings, stored in the tent, were destroyed, but the damage is comparatively small. Had the department arrived a few minutes later, all of the tents on the vacant lot would have been consumed as a strong north wind was blowing at the time.

Be sure to see the Mountain View advertisement on page 2 of this issue.

Grand Jury Enters on Labors—

The grand jury reported for duty this morning, and this afternoon under the direction of Deputy District Attorney Winslow entered upon its labors for the April term of the court. In addition to many cases which have been bound over from the different justices of the peace, the jury will also consider a number of matters of its own volition; and as the criminal calendar is heavy, it will probably be in session all of the week. Judge Kelly will arrive Thursday and the jury will then submit its first report to him.

Meeting of Property Owners—

There will be a meeting of the East Court street property owners in regard to paving, at 7:30 this evening, at the Railroad Commission office.

Goes to Davenport—

Rev. Carl Hopf and family leave today for Davenport, Iowa, where he takes charge of a large Lutheran church. Rev. Hopf is an eloquent pulpit orator, and his departure will cause many regrets. He has been pastor of the State street Lutheran church for four and a half years, and was the first president of the Salem German Society. There will be regular services at the church, and the trustees are in correspondence with several ministers who want to fill this pulpit.

Be sure to see the Mountain View advertisement on page 2 of this issue.

Ranck Out Again—

C. W. Ranck, an employe of the Anderson barber shop, is able to be about again after having suffered the fracture of a rib on his left side. While cleaning the shop recently, the toe of one of Ranck's shoes got entangled in a mop, and losing his balance, he fell against the sharp corner of a chair. The injury is healing but is still causing Ranck considerable pain.

Be sure to see the Mountain View advertisement on page 2 of this issue.

Second-Hand Bicycles—

We need one dozen second-hand bicycles, and in order to get them we are going to make an extra liberal allowance to the first dozen bicycle riders trading their old bicycles in as part payment on new ones. Hauser Bros.

Be sure to see the Mountain View advertisement on page 2 of this issue.

Riis Coming—

The advertising matter for Jacob A. Riis arrived today at noon. Judging from the amount of material, Mr. Riis undoubtedly believes in doing his advertising as thoroughly as he does his reforming. He lectures in Salem on April 11 on "The Making of an American."
