

NO MORE FREE QUARTERS FOR STATE PRINTER

BESIDES HAVING THE MOST PROFITABLE OFFICE IN THE STATE, THE STATE PRINTER IS GIVEN FREE RENT—WILL PROBABLY HAVE TO MOVE.

In view of the fact that the capitol building is now overcrowded, and that the people threaten to invoke the referendum on the $150,000 appropriated by the last legislature for an additional capitol building, Chief Clerk Corey has been considering the question of relief, and it may be that it will be necessary for the state printer to move, as it develops that he is occupying the present rooms without any authority from the state. The state printer occupies the northwest quarter of the lower floor of the state house. When Baker was state printer the legislature passed a resolution authorizing him to occupy the quarters free of charge for a period of one term. Since then Whitney served one term as state printer and Willis Dunway is now serving his second, and, despite the fact that neither the legislature nor the secretary of state granted them the right to occupy the building, they have done so without paying a solitary cent to the state for the use of them.

Additional quarters recently had to be made for the state architect, and when the state purchasing agent assumes his duty he will need quarters, and, unless the appropriation for the additional building is allowed to stand, it looks now as though the state printer will be in imminent danger of looking up other quarters.

THE CROP OF PINES IS FULL OF PROMISE

Eight Eugene speed maniacs were arrested at Eugene Monday and fined $15 per for exceeding the speed limit in their Sunday outings. Some Salem autoists are preparing to increase the city revenues at their individual expense. So far it seems to be nobody's business, though to the homely, common, everyday citizen who cannot understand why one law should be enforced and another not, it looks as though a law violated every day, and at the rate of from 20 to 30 miles an hour, might suggest to the proper officials that an occasional arrest might help pay the running expenses of the city and cut off that much from the running expenses of the autos. Anyway, just as a hunch, the autoists might take a look at their speed indicators once in a while.

CITY TREASURER HAS PLENTY OF WORK

That the assessments on the sewers in North and South Salem are adding vastly to the cash account and also to the amount of work necessary at the city treasurer's office was demonstrated today when a little peep was given into the books of that office by R. A. Crossan, city treasurer.

The assessments for the South Salem sewer alone now total $144,331.51, and 127 pages are consumed in making the assessment record. Mr. Crossan says between $50,000 and $60,000 pass in out of the treasurer's office every month, and a total of $450,000 was handled by the office last year. The work of recording sewer and street assessments has increased during the last year to such an extent that it is now necessary to do as much bookkeeping as is done in an ordinary bank.

Yaquina as a revenue collection district is to be wiped off the map. Last year $1 was collected, and it cost Uncle Sam $267 to get it.

X-RAYS AND SMILES.

There are so many "Maderes" in command of the Mexican rebels that the news dispatches read like cigar advertisements.

Roosevelt, in his lecture at Berkeley Sunday, endorsed the Bibb enthusiastically.

Newberg is to have a Carnegie library, the venerable steal man donating $10,000 and the city putting up the same amount to advertise the old man and keep his memory green.

Seattle seemed awfully glad to get its distinguished citizen, Mr. Ballinger home, and the balance of the country rejoices with her.

Uncle Joe Cannon has declined to go on a lecture tour, an example some other of the great or near great ones might follow with much pleasure to the balance of the country.

STATE NEWS.

The Clearview Orchard Company, of Sheridan, has just opened 3000 acres of land, planted to orchard, for subdivision.

OBJECT TO IMPORTING OF LABORERS

There are bitter feelings among the laboring people of this city over the increasing numbers of imported Greek laborers employed on public work, and some action will be taken this week to stop it. One man, a cement worker, says he was promised steady work all summer at $3.00 per day, and is now out of work and informed that he can take $2.25 or be displaced by Italian or Greek labor at that price. The sewers are being built altogether with Greek labor, and a movement is on foot to allow only resident laborers with families, or men who come here to make their homes, have this work. The laborers say if the city will adopt the policy of employing only men of that kind, Germans, Irish, Scandinavians and other desirable white working men will be attracted to this city, and will result in better conditions all around. Petitions are to be circulated to call a mass meeting and try to get public action. The labor unions are to take up the matter and help rid the city of the imported elements, and give our own white common laborers a chance to make a living here.

IS SURPRISED AT PACE SET BY SALEM

An old friend of The Journal editor is visiting here at present and for a few days—Mr. J. G. Ratcliffe, of Waukon, Iowa, and his sister, Mrs. M. H. Moore. They have been at Los Angeles for the winter, and will visit Portland and Seattle before returning to their home in Iowa. The Ratcliffes are cousins of the Alberts brothers of this city, and Mrs. Chas. Purdy and Mrs. Holton, with all of whom they are having a very enjoyable visit. Mr. Ratcliffe has been in poor health, and was benefitted some by his stay in California. He was at Salem in 1889 and witnessed the big flood at that time, and is very much impressed with the growth of Salem since then. "You have very fine streets and buildings, and the country has improved as much as the city. There is certainly a great future for this city, with all the railroads that are centering here, and the public improvements that are underway. Mr. Ratcliffe also found old friends in Dr. Cartwright and his family, and is enjoying his stay in Salem very much.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the king's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroadng. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third street, Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroadng left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley's Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement, and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley's Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Red Cross Pharmacy.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments.

Many elderly people have found Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case, and I want others to know of it." Red Cross Pharmacy.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

him; and that they had always been friends. He admits that there had been trouble between him and plaintiff because she wanted to go to Portland with her sister, but he denies that he stated to plaintiff that he had found out that she and her sister went to places in Portland not fit for a man to go to, and that he had found out that she was not true to him, although this is testified to by plaintiff, her father and mother and brother, all of whom defendant says are good people. He admits the second item of violence charged in violently taking hold of plaintiff's arm and pinching it.

It is not necessary to state the details of each of these quarrels and all that was said and done. It is sufficient to say that defendant was at fault and his conduct was sufficient to and did cause plaintiff to be in great fear of personal violence at his hands. Nothing in the evidence offered shows any improper conduct by plaintiff toward Vandolah nor in her association with any other man; nor does it show visits by her to any improper place in Portland. On the contrary defendant testifies that he never knew of her being with any other man or anything of that kind; that she is a good and virtuous woman. Yet he made an ineffectual attempt at the trial to cast a cloud upon her good name.

In view of all the circumstances disclosed, we feel justified in accepting plaintiff's account of the first item of violence above mentioned, and that the second, which is partially admitted by defendant, took place as she testified, and this, in connection with his violent temper and quarrelsome disposition, and the circumstances which took place at the time of the separation, amount to cruelty and inhuman treatment toward plaintiff, which rendered life burdensome to her, and she is entitled to decree of divorce for the care and custody of the child, Floyd Folkenberg, and for an undivided one-third of the real property of defendant, and costs and disbursements in this and circuit court.

The decree of the lower court is reversed and one rendered here accordingly.
