CHARLES GREEN PREFERRED DEATH TO TELLING OF BEING DISHONORED

HIS WIFE TELLS THE STORY HE COMMANDED HER TO KEEP-- WAS FURIOUS AT HER FALL

In an Affidavit His Wife Says That When Her Husband Discovered Her Lapse From Virtue He Attacked and Tried to Kill Her, and When Their Daughter Interfered Struck Her Down--That He Comanded Her Not to Tell of Her Dishonor, He Preferring to Die in the Electric Chair.

Albany, N. Y., April 25.—Preferring death to disclosing the fact that his wife had dishonored him, Charles Green, a farmer, would have gone to the electric chair at Dannemora prison next week but for a 60-day reprieve granted today by Governor Dix. Green killed his daughter last June and terribly wounded his wife. When arrested, he refused to discuss the crime and when friends tried to get his sentence commuted to life imprisonment, he refused to sign the application.

Mrs. Green revealed the reason behind the tragedy today when she made affidavit that her husband's discovery that she had been unfaithful lay behind his act. Furious with rage at his wife's infidelity, Green tried to kill her, and when their daughter interfered, the father struck her down.

Mrs. Green swore in her affidavit that her husband had commanded her not to tell the story; that he had declared he "would rather die in the electric chair than have people know or say a single word against her character."

FIFTY-SIX ALLIGATORS ALL BABIES

PORTLAND ALLIGATOR INCREASES THE SAURIAN CENSUS SOME THOUSANDS PER CENT IN A PARTURITION STUNT.

Fifty-six alligators were born in Portland to a pair of alligators imported from the everglades of Florida by F. A. Stuhr of 91 Union avenue. When the alligators were shipped by express, 70 of the eggs belonging to the family were packed in sand with the mother and father.

They were taken to their new home upon the Pacific coast and the eggs carefully repacked with a view to securing the best results from the hatch. As heat is the essential feature regarding the birth of an alligator, Mr. Stuhr spent night and day watching the temperature.

All the baby alligators are lively little fellows, and are kept in a basket lined with cotton. Although four days have passed, many of them have not opened their eyes.

"These are the only alligators, to my knowledge," said Mr. Stuhr, "that were ever born in Oregon. We have now the largest collection of alligators on the coast outside of Los Angeles."

THEY WERE ALL IN THE CRATE WHEN SHIPPED

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Sacramento, Calif., April 25.—"Pigs in pigs" at the Wells Fargo express office in the Southern Pacific depot. Last night a large mother swine, snorting about in an immense crate, was taken from the west bound overland train, having been shipped from Chicago and billed to Klamath Falls. The overland was late and the sow was placed in the express department to await shipment on the Portland train. This morning six little pigs were smuggled up to their mother. The express agent found it necessary to build a larger crate to accommodate the family and the consignee will now have to pay express charges on seven pigs.

Bryce," alleged Times dynamiter, arrived here at noon today. Mrs. Ingersoll was met at the depot by representatives of the district attorney's office and taken to an uptown hotel. Apparently acting on the advice of the district attorney, she asked to be excused from talking, further than to reiterate statements she made before leaving San Francisco.

To Defend McNamara.

Pomona, Cal., April 25.—Judge O. M. Hilton, formerly of Denver, now of Pomona, will be one of the attorneys to defend John J. and James W. McNamara and Ortle McNamagal, arrested in connection with the Los Angeles Times and other dynamiting outrages. In response to a telegram from President F. M. Ryan, of the International Association of Bridge Structural Ironworkers, asking him to act as counsel for the accused men when they reach Los Angeles, Judge Hilton left today for that city.

THE MAYOR TALKS FOR PROGRESS

Insists That the City Must Go Ahead and Replace the Bridges Washed Out Last Winter, and Work for Betterments Everywhere.

WILL VOTE AGAIN IN JUNE

Yew Park Voted Against Bonding for Bridges, But Is Now Strongly in Favor of It—Councilman Durbin Gets Sarcastic But Mayor Calls the Rules on Him and Council, Without a Stutter, Votes for the Resubmission of Bonding to the Electors.

"My friend Durbin," said Mayor Lachmund from the floor of the council chamber last evening, when discussing the bridge problem, "is a reactionary—belongs to the old school of do little do nothing code. The time for listening to the teachings of that school is past and the time for us to awake from the Rip Van Winkle sleep and go ahead has come; and we are going to go ahead—going to progress regardless of my friend Durbin."

Now that and a lot more of the same kind—maybe a little stronger—coming as it did, right fresh from the bat of the mayor, made the council meeting last night sound like old times. A committee from Yew Park had appeared before the council in behalf of property owners in that section and had asked for the construction of a bridge on Twelfth street between Bellevue and Oak—asked for the reconstruction of one of the bridges washed away by the floods, and had requested the council to hold another election for the issuance of bonds and assured it that if it did that it would be right in line fighting for its success.

Durbin Interrogates. After Mr. Erickson, chairman of the committee, had addressed the council on the subject, Councilman Durbin arose to interrogate him—interrogate is the word.

He wanted to know how many votes the people in the Yew Park ward had cast in favor of the bond issue and Mr. Erickson was compelled to confess that they had voted against it. But he said they had not realized the situation but did now and were now favorable to it and an election would carry.

Upon gaining this information, Councilman Durbin scored them for their actions and then turning to the 'Sassicity' Is Sore.

Seattle, Wash., April 25.—Barrred from the fashionable Mount Baker Park residence district because they were negroes, S. H. Stone and his wife, "Susie," not only defeated the efforts of the Hunter Improvement company to annul their contract for a site, but obtained a verdict of $525 for expenses of litigation and house rent, lost owing to their being delayed in constructing their home. Both the superior and supreme court have upheld the negroes, and their home has been built despite protests of white residents of the district.

W.J. BURNS DODGES A WARRANT

LABOR LEADERS CHARGE HIM WITH KIDNAPING JOHN J. McNAMARA—HIS DEPUTY CAPTURED AND THREE OTHERS BOUND OVER TO THE GRAND JURY.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—Evading warrants sworn out by labor leaders here for his arrest on charges of having kidnaped John J. McNamara, secretary of the Structural Iron Workers, William J. Burns vanished today from this city, and has left no trace. Constables, with the warrants for Burns and his aides, are on the trail of the detective, but, so far, have succeeded only in arresting J. A. G. Badorf, one of the Burns operatives, who was captured at noon.

Arraigned on the same charge, Walter Drew, president of the National Erectors' Association, and W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, were held by Justice Manning in $10,000 bail for the grand jury. Frank Fox, the chauffeur who drove McNamara away when he was taken prisoner, was bound over in $5000. All went to jail, pending their securing bail.

INTERSTATE AUTO TRAVEL HAS BEGUN

Monday's Eugene Guard says: "Already the interstate auto tourist travel has begun. Yesterday a party of four stopped for dinner in Eugene on the way to El Paso, Texas, from Seattle. The party consisted of R. P. McClellan and wife, of El Paso, and J. L. Cameron and wife, of Seattle. They are traveling leisurely and are making no attempt at speed records, although their time from Portland was but little over eight hours, they say. They stopped at Albany to make the side trip to Corvallis, Saturday. The roads between here and Portland they report in excellent condition, barring more or less roughness due to the lack of wear since the mud dried."

TAKEN TO A POLICE JUDGE WHO HAD NO JURISDICTION AND WAS DENIED COUNSEL

Eminent Lawyer Says: "If John J. McNamara Was Not in California at the Time of the Commission of the Crime With Which He Is Charged, and It Is Not Even Pretended That He Was, There Is No Legal Way of Getting Him Back There Without His Consent."

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—That the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary of the Structural Iron Workers, here for alleged complicity in dynamiting outrages in Los Angeles, was kidnaped pure and simple, was declared here today by Clarence Darrow, the Chicago attorney who successfully defended Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone of the Western Federation of Miners. Darrow, who conferred here today with attorneys, retained to defend the three men accused of the Los Angeles explosion, dictated the following statement for the United Press:

(By Clarence Darrow.)

If John J. McNamara was not in California at the time of the commission of the crime with which he is charged, there was no legal way of getting him back there without his consent. It is not claimed that McNamara was there at the time of the crime or for a long time previous thereto.

Not knowing these facts and not considering that there was anything unusual in the matter the governor of Indiana honored the requisition. It was then the duty of the officer to take McNamara to a circuit or superior or criminal court and to inquire, first, whether McNamara was the man mentioned in the requisition from the governor of California, and, second, whether his prisoner was in California at the time of the commission of the crime.

McNamara was simply taken to a police court, which was not authorized to hear his case. He asked for counsel and was refused. The judge simply asked him whether his name was McNamara. He had no opportunity for defense and was at once rushed out of the state. He was clearly kidnaped.

The case is exactly parallel to that of Moyer and Haywood, who were denied counsel and taken out of Colorado in a special train to Idaho. In both cases the law was notoriously and plainly violated and the constitutional and legal rights of American citizens denied.

THEY KNOW THE CLASS AND ACT ACCORDINGLY

Pasadena, Calif., April 25.—The Pasadena board of labor today is on record with a vote of confidence in union labor and its representatives accused of complicity in the Times affair. A resolution adopted by the board reads in part:

"From past experiences we, the laboring people, have learned that no trick is too underhanded to be practiced by the capitalistic class on organized labor and we shall be exceedingly chary in accepting anything short of absolute proof before we will believe that our brothers are guilty of crimes charged to them."

ROSEBURG HOSPITAL HAS A FIRE

FLAMES WERE CONFINED TO THE ROOF AND DAMAGE WILL NOT EXCEED $3000—TWO PATIENTS UNDER INFLUENCE OF ETHER WHEN FIRE STARTED.

Roseburg, Or., April 25.—Twenty-two patients, two of whom were still under the influence of anesthetics, were rescued from the Mercy hospital, which caught fire at noon Monday. The fire was caused by a defective flue and damaged the institution to the extent of $3000, the flames being confined to the roof and space occupied by employees of the hospital on the third floor.

At the time the flames were discovered there were 22 patients in the institution two of whom had undergone operations a few hours before, and were under the influence of anesthetics when carried from the burning structure. With clock-like discipline the patients were clothed quickly, placed on stretchers and carried to points of safety, where they were attended by local physicians, who responded promptly to the call for assistance. Several patients, considered in a critical condition, were removed to nearby residences, while others, suffering from minor ailments, were placed on mattresses on the ground. The nurses worked heroically.

The flames were first confined to the roof near the chimney, and were making rapid headway. A general alarm was sounded, and within a few minutes every department in the city was on the scene. With three streams of water playing on the flames the fire was under control in about 20 minutes. In half an hour the last spark was extinguished.

The hospital was built two years ago at a cost of $25,000, and was one of the best-equipped hospitals in this section of the state. It was conducted by the Sisters of Mercy, and was well patronized. The loss is fully covered by insurance, and repairing the building will be commenced at once.
