SALEM IS GOING AHEAD RAPIDLY.

No one can take a drive out through the suburbs of Salem without coming to the conclusion that the Capital City or Oregon is going ahead very rapidly.

Hundreds of new houses are under construction and in the process of completion.

This is not confined to any one section of the city, but is general.

A $250,000 sewer system, that should have been built ten years ago, is under construction, and will be completed this year. Many streets are being graded and paved, although unnecessary delays are going to leave a lot of street work unfinished over the winter.

Thousands of homes are being improved with sidewalks, parking, and planting of shrubs and flowers.

It is to be regretted that the construction of bridges has been delayed, and it seems probable that the city will go without bridges for another year.

Many of the principal streets will be closed to traffic over the winter on account of this fact.

The "do littles and do nothings," as they are aptly called by the mayor, in the council and out of it, are responsible for these drawbacks.

There is to be another bond election for bridges, and these obstacles to the development of the city may be removed.

The "do littles and do nothings" have also had their innings in dealing with the water problem.

While towns like Medford and Eugene have gone ahead and got water and lighting plants installed, the city of Salem is still "negotiating."

The conservatives have exhausted every resource to delay public ownership of water in Salem.

In the meantime the city has expanded in ten years from 4500 to 15,000 population.

We are putting in a sewer system that will create from 500 to 1000 additional water consumers.

All these facts make the property and the plant of the Salem Water Company more valuable, and still the "do little and do nothings" hesitate about acquiring the property.

Enterprising citizens of North Salem are initiating a measure to put in a well and pumping system to furnish water, the plants to cost about $200,000.

With the growth of the city going on in every direction, with every citizen favoring progress, with every councilman elected upon a progressive platform, there should be an end to the dilatory and holdup policies pursued in public matters.

This applies to corporation and individuals, and to the general policies of the city government.

With the splendid enterprises of the mass of our citizens, it is inexcusable for those in public position to place obstacles in the way of rational development.

We have cited Eugene and Medford, and wish to call attention in conclusion to what the city of Tacoma is doing.

The monthly statement published by the city government shows the following result of public ownership of lighting and water plants.

Total expenditures for the month of February, 1911, $34,232.42. Receipts, $50,130.60, or a net revenue to the city of about $16,000 per month.

With the extension of the Salem sewer system, the water rates of this city will become a very valuable source of revenue, whether it is managed by the city or the private corporation.

HOP BUYERS GOOD FOR SOMETHING.

It is well known that hop buyers are good fellows, but it was not known that they were good for anything in particular aside from their business.

They are considered to be good business men, and to be aggressive at times, and to take chances on winning, however, but they had never been tried in a public position until Louis Lachmund was elected mayor of Salem.

Mayor Lachmund has not only proven himself an aggressive mayor, but he has accomplished several results for the welfare of the Capital City.

For one thing, he has established the impression that he is absolutely sincere in his expressions, and in the attitude he takes on any matter.

The city of Salem is probably as free from gambling and other vices as it has ever been in the whole history of the town.

Under his administration the Ilihi club bar was closed on Sunday, the same as any other bar in the city.

Mayor Lachmund is also progressive in that he is not afraid when he has made a mistake to clear himself and make it right.

While he is determined, persistent and tenacious, and loves to draw out the man opposed to him in an argument, he still tries to get his mind open to information on the other side.

SOCIALIST IS MAYOR IN AN ILLINOIS TOWN

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)

Chicago, May 1.—A two years' ride on the "water wagon" and war to the death against the present police force are the two pledges with which Marshall E. Kirkpatrick, Socialist, assumed today the office of mayor of Granite City, Illinois.

The population of the city is 15,000 and Kirkpatrick therefore is head of the second largest city under Socialist government in the United States. Kirkpatrick advocates a municipal coal and ice plant, run without profit, and public ownership of the gas and electric lighting systems.

DEATH CAME SUDDEN AND UNEXPECTED

H. E. VALENTINE, WHO CAME HERE BUT A SHORT TIME AGO FROM OHIO, AND HAD JUST PURCHASED A BEAUTIFUL HOME IS CALLED AWAY.

H. E. Valentine, 52, a prominent politician of Ohio, died at his home, corner of Market and Capitol streets, at 11 o'clock last night. Death was unexpected, and was due to a clot of blood forming on the heart as a result of a varicose vein. Mr. Valentine had been confined to his bed for the last two weeks, but nothing serious was anticipated as the result of his illness.

He was born in Crawford county Ohio, April 8, 1859. He was elected mayor of Bucyrus, Ohio, on the Democratic ticket for three successive terms, and served as state senator from Crawford county Ohio, for two terms. He completed his last term as mayor about two years ago. He also served as city engineer of Bucyrus for seven years. When not holding public office, Mr. Valentine engaged in farming. He was a prominent member of both the Elk and Eagle lodges.

He is survived by his widow and three children, a boy two and one-half years old and a girl 13, residing here, and a married son, Allen G. Valentine, living near Madison, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements have been postponed pending a reply to a message sent to Allen Valentine last night.

Mr. Valentine with his wife and two young children arrived in Salem last summer. He purchased a beautiful home on the Boulevard in North Salem, erected a modern poultry house, and had just completed a small store adjoining his residence in which he had intended to engage in the retail grocery business.

The death of Mr. Valentine is unusually sad, in view of the fact that the family are practically strangers here and far from relatives and friends. Mrs. Valentine is left to mourn the unexpected death of husband and father.

ADOPT A PLAN TO CHECK PILFERING

For the purpose of ridding the state institutions of what are termed "undesirable employees," an agreement has been made between the different superintendents whereby they agree to advise each other of those discharged from the institutions because of bad conduct, and the first one to act in pursuance to the agreement was Superintendent Tillinghast, of the deaf mute school, when Saturday afternoon he advised the superintendents of the other institutions that certain female attendants had been appropriating sheets and other articles of value from the school.

The names of the women were filed by the superintendents notified, and it will be impossible for them to secure employment at any one of the state institutions. It is believed by the superintendents that the plan will put a stop to much of the petty pilfering which has been going on at the institutions, and that it will do much to bring the general conduct of the employes up to a higher standard.

ABSCONDING BANKER RETURNED TO PORTLAND

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.) Portland, Ore., April 29.—F. N. Meyers, former president of the Mt. Scott bank, which went into the hands of a receiver, who is wanted on a felony charge in connection with the failure of one of his projects, was returned to Portland from Montana where he was captured on a ranch by police officials. Meyers refused to talk concerning the charge.

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, which is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.
