The sec-ond affair was held at Silverton and last year the picnic was held at Salem each gathering outshining the previous one, and it is now up to Woodburn to outdo all past efforts. The management is made up of a general committee consisting of one delegate from each of the following camps: viz.: Salem, Woodburn, Silverton, Brooks, Chemawa, Aumsville, Scotts Mills and Monitor and enthusiasm runs high with all looking forward to the time of their lives each year at these picnics. Several bands have been engaged to furnish music this year, in addition to the Willamette University Glee club, and many other attractive numbers will be on the program. Log rolling, sawing and chopping contests and athletics of all kinds will be features of the day, and especially the grand parade in the morning and competitive drills in the afternoon. In the evening a general good time and con-fetti battle on the streets followed with a grand ball at the opera house and class adoption at the lodge hall, wil be the features.

ST. LOUIS

is the place

Where we will hold a public auction of lots. St. Louis is located on the Oregon Electric Railway about 15 miles north of Salem, is in the heart of a rich agricultural district and offers a fine field for a thriving town. The history of all the electric lines on the coast shows that in the territory covered by these roads hundreds of substantial towns have sprung up at intervals along the line of transportation and St. Louis presents a rare opportunity for a townsite. Every lot will be sold off at such prices as may be offered by the bidders present. Ten per cent of the sale price will be required when the lot is sold. The balance can be paid in sums to suit the buyer. A warranty deed and an abstract of title will be furnished.

Rain or Shine

the sale will come off. If it rains Thursday the sale will be held in the large freight warehouse at St. Louis, otherwise on the adjacent ground. A large crowd is going from Salem and the whole Countryside around St. Louis has promised to be out in force to attend the sale---pick up one or more of these lots at your own figures and watch them increase in value. Good music will be furnished and a lunch served on ground by the ladies of the St. Louis Church.
