

HE DIED FROM BADLY MIXED LOT OF DRINKS

Coroner A. M. Clough was called to the little town of Brooks last night to investigate the suicide of George M. Glasbee, a barber of that place. According to the coroner, Glasbee has been addicted to the drinking habit and, in fact so strong was his penchant for intoxicating liquors that he finally resorted to the use of his stock in trade to satisfy his thirst. He is said to have consumed about a quart of bay rum yesterday in addition to a quantity of hair tonic, and finally ended up with a good supply of wood alcohol. It is presumed that the wood alcohol caused Glasbee's death. Glasbee had the reputation of being a good barber and an expert banjo player. He was 49 years old, and leaves a wife, a stepson and two brothers. One brother lives in South Dakota, and the other resides in Iowa. The funeral will be held from the family home in Brooks at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Interment will be made in the Odd Fellows cemetery in Salem. Glasbee arrived in Brooks last November, coming to the Northwest from an Eastern city.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN OPINION

Overruling the contentions raised by the defense that the notice in a labor lien for labor performed on a sawmill was defective, and also the description of the property wrong, the supreme court today sustained the decision of Judge Galloway in the case of R. L. McFeron against John Doyens. The suit was brought by McFeron to foreclose the lien and a verdict was rendered in his favor in the lower court.

Other Decisions.
The decision of the circuit court of Multnomah county, in the case of Hung Sun & Company against Cornelia Burkhardt, was affirmed.

Petitions for rehearings were denied in the cases of R. L. Wells against the Great Northern Railroad company, from Multnomah; Lockhart against Terry, from Coos county, and P. W. Gains against Byron Vandecar, from Baker county.

MISS MARTHA SHERIDAN GRADUATES FROM ST. VINCENT

One of the largest classes ever graduated from St. Vincent's Hospital Training School at Portland was given diplomas at the institution last night. Not only was it a record-breaking class in numbers, but it also set a new record in the high standing of the individual members, the average being the highest of any class ever graduated from the school. Miss Martha Sheridan, of Salem was a member of the class, standing near the top in her markings, and besides she had the honor and distinction of being selected as valedictorian, an honor won by hard work, and fitting as a recognition of her intelligence and worth. Salem is always proud of her young folks, but especially so when they in friendly rivalry with their classmates bring home the wreath of victory.

The Editor Borrowed from Hines.

(UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.)
Washington, June 22.—Despite explicit denials that any funds had been paid into his paper, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, to further the election of William Lorimer, George W. Hinman, its editor, admitted today before the Lorimer investigation committee that he, personally, had borrowed money of Edward Hines, Lorimer's friend, since the expose came. Hinman first declined to answer whether he had borrowed from Hines, but instructed that he must answer, he later said.

"I answer under protest, that I borrowed $4000 from Hines on a note for three or four months, eight or ten weeks ago."

In his testimony Hinman declared that he was "absolutely convinced" there had been no corruption in Lorimer's election. He thought the money paid was merely a "jackpot," and declared: "I believe there has been a jackpot in every important piece of legislation passed since I came to Chicago, 12 years ago."

Hinman declared he knew only gossip, but no facts in the Lorimer case. He discussed editorials referring to alleged bribery, but declared he had no one in particular in mind. He declared the liquor interests, which were represented by Levy Mayer, the attorney for the Chicago Tribune, and the International Harvesting company, opposed Lorimer. He thought that Clarence S. Funk, manager of the latter company, was a political friend of Governor Deneen. Hinman concluded his testimony by asserting that he had not heard of any one directly or indirectly contributing money or anything whatever of value to secure Lorimer's election.

GEORGE V. TRIES ON CROWN.

Never in the history of London's pageants has such strict repression been shown. Kitchener's edicts were almost Russian, and public opinion generally blames him for making the historic event approach a fiasco, at least insofar as its aspect as a popular show was concerned. London has often seen larger crowds, and the lack of enthusiasm along the route is generally credited less to any coolness of the populace toward their monarch than to fear of mistreatment by the troops in carrying out Kitchener's orders.

Today's crowd along the line of the pageant fell far short of expectations, but a great effort will be made to relieve this partial failure in tomorrow's royal progress, when their majesties, in all the panoply of state,

A Holiday in Canada.

Toronto, Ont., June 22.—Coronation day is being generally observed throughout the province as a holiday. In Toronto practically all places of business are closed, including the afternoon newspaper offices. At 9:30 the day's program began with games and drills by the children. The Toronto infantry brigade, reinforced by public school cadets, marched to Queen's Park, where a military review and trooping of colors, ending with a royal salute and witnessed by thousands. Free band concerts in all the parks will be given this afternoon, while in the evening a military tattoo of 11 bands and fireworks display will be held in Riverdale park. The stores and private residences are lavishly decorated and flags are flying everywhere.

British Columbia Celebrates.

Vancouver, B. C., June 22.—Unanimous to the uttermost degree was the celebration in honor of King George's coronation here today. Military men and labor unionists vied with each other as to which would make the better showing in the coronation parade, which embraced every class in the city, and which included in its two-mile length 17,000 men, women and boys. The ladies' societies took part the same as the men's and several ladies acted as banner supporters. After parade a large concourse gathered at Recreation park, where a ceremonial service was held under the direction of Mayor Taylor, the leading church dignitaries and representatives of the Dominion and provincial legislatures. The first note of the day was sounded from the throat of a cannon fired by a detachment of the boy scouts on the second that the "erow is placed" bulletin was flashed from London. The boys were supervised by a detachment of the Vancouver Veterans' association, who followed up the first gun with a royal salute. The city this morning is a riot of gorgeous bunting from one end to the other, residential as well as business districts.
