On the whole, the rain have been of exceptional value at this time, following the extremely hot weather and severe drought. The June drop will be much heavier than was expected, while a number of locations report blasting of some varieties. It seems certain that New York and Michigan, at least, will have bumper yields, especially in the fall varieties. The Virginia promise a very fair crop, although smaller than that of 1910.

"Information from New York state under date of the 19th shows heavier dropping than is considered desirable in some locations, while others report blasting, but on the average conditions indicate an exceedingly large volume of tonnage.

"Michigan reports are the same general character. In some districts the summer varieties will be heavier proportionately than the fall apples, but the latter will of themselves exceed the product of the last several years.

"Virginia reports are recent and comprehensive. The Shenandoah valley and eastern panhandle of West Virginia promise crops of unusually fine quality, but on the whole the quantity will hardly exceed 60 or 65 per cent of last year's harvest. The shortage is attributed to the late frost, and the excessive drought lasting three weeks. The drop has also been abnormally heavy. The falling off in the older orchards, which bore heavily last year, will be offset, to a large extent, by the great acreage of young orchards just coming into bearing. The Shenandoah valley was visited by severe hail, lightning and wind storms on June 6, the effect of which could not be determined at the time of our views. Whatever damage has resulted in the southern parts of the valley may be equalized by the benefit of rain fall in the northern sections. The crop of 1910 in seven counties in the Shenandoah valley aggregated 1,000,000 barrels, or the equivalent of 5,000 carloads.

"No additional reports have been received from Colorado."
