SENATORS TIE GIANTS FOR PENNANT

TEN TO EIGHT GAME IS FULL OF SENSATIONAL PLAYS - NEXT GAME AT SALEM GROUNDS SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

The Senators yesterday tied the Giants for the pennant in a game that was replete with sensational plays. Although 14 errors were marked up, nine for the Giants and five for the home team, well-fielded by both teams left the outcome in doubt until the last inning. Three more games are now necessary in order to decide the Valley championship, the best two out of three to take the pennant. The next game will be played on the Salem grounds next Sunday afternoon.

Although Manager Hunt announced Friday that he would use Winterbottom, who has "closed" several games for Nick Williams in Portland the last few weeks, the Giants' manager failed to secure the big league aspirant at the last moment, and Holmes and White and Aliegert and Baker did the battery work in yesterday's contest.

The first accident in the league this season occurred yesterday when Field Captain Porterfield of the Senators, was put out of commission for a few minutes when his head struck the ground at the home plate in Salem's half of the first. Although hitting his head a hard crack on the ground, the plucky third baseman was quickly revived and remained in the game. The position at third base, which he covers like a veteran, would have suffered had he been knocked out permanently.

Instead of hitting the ground, as Porterfield usually does in his clever sliding work, he had both feet off the ground in this instance, and in landing on his back, his head struck the hard ground at the home bag.

Rightfielder Cernik, of the Senators, was fully recovered from his recent injury and was on the coaching lines yesterday. Jerman filled Cernik's position in right field.

Catcher White started the fireworks for the visitors, but Colbath, unassisted, stopped him at first. Lavier walked and later made the first score for the Giants on Shorey's two-bagger. Schooler and Hunt died at first.

First for Senators: Porterfield walked, stole second and then tried to get home on Alle's high fly to left, but was put out at home in addition to getting slightly injured. Holmes passed Jones and McRay and then both boys scored when West popped to center. Jerman and Colbath went out on flies.

Second for Giants: West gathered in Branger's and Shorey's flies, and by making a pretty dive McRay got Holmes' drive to second in time to catch Huddleston.

Second for Salem: Lee singled, stole second and then scored on Porterfield's two-bagger. Baker fanned, Jones sacrificed and McRay went out at first.

Third for Visitors: White singled and then got caught at second. Alle to McRay. Schooler and Hunt stopped at first.

Third for Salem: Alle struck out and West and Colbath went out on caught flies.

In the fourth for the Giants Alle put down Shorey. Huddleston and Branger in one, two, three order.

Fourth for Senators: Lee and McRay died at first, and Porterfield was caught at second although he made a beautiful slide.

Fifth for Woodburn: Alle struck out his opposing twirler, White was passed and Lavier and Yarrow were stopped at first, Porterfield to Colbath.

Fifth for the Senators: Holmes returned the compliment by striking out Alle. West stopped at first, Holmes to Lavier, and Jerman ditty Shorey to Lavier.

In the sixth the Giants got busy and ran up four tallies. Schooler popped to Colbath, Hunt walked and Shorey singled. Shorey stole second and followed Hunt home on Huddleston's single. Branger got a two-bagger; was sacrificed to third by Holmes, and both Huddleston and Branger talked on White's one-bagger. Lavier quit at first.

Sixth for Salem: Colbath picked a two-bagger and Jerman ran for him from second, on account of Colbath having sprained his ankle while playing with the street car boys last Monday. Lee was safe at first when Lavier dropped the ball, but was caught stealing second. Jerman scored for Colbath on Baker's sacrifice. Porterfield singled and swiped second. Jones struck out.

Seventh for Woodburn: Yarrow walked, but was caught at third. Lee to Porterfield. Schooler was out at first and West took in Shorey's pop fly.

In the seventh the Senators scored six runs. McRay singled and then scored on Alle's two-bagger. This tied the score, 5 to 5 and the grandstand went wild. West singled to Schooler's neighborhood and then the wide awake Aliegert came home from second when Schooler dropped the ball. Jerman was safe at first on a tyn tyn when Lavier dropped the sphere. West scored on Col-bath's vicious two-bagger. Jerman scored on Lee's sacrifice fly. Baker made two bases on a single when Huddleston threw the ball over Lavier's head on what should have been a safe out at first. Porterfield got two bases on a single when Holmes heaved the ball over Lavier's head and Baker scored on it. Huddleston made a sensational running catch of Jones' high one to center.

Eight for Giants: Aliegert put down Huddleston and Branger. Holmes and White each got a single, and although Lee was mighty quick in getting White's single to first, the runner beat it. Lavier out at first, Alle to Colbath.

Eighth for Salem: McRay out at first, Shorey to Lavier; Alle walked, but was caught at second, and Jerman struck out.

Ninth for Woodburn: Yarrow made the only home run in the game when he put the ball over the fence in center. Schooler quit at first, Porterfield to Colbath. Hunt was passed. Shorey got a hit and Hunt and Yarrow scored on Huddleston's drive through center. Branger singled and stole second. Holmes flew to the left field fence and Porterfield got it by dashing up against a barge in the field. White put a nice high one into Jerman's hands and this ended the game. Time of game one hour and 45 minutes. Umpire: Alec Cheyne, of Portland. Score: Walter Lennon, of Salem. Score: R. H. E. Salem, 19 9 5. Woodburn, 8 11 9.

STAYTON IS EXPECTING A RAILROAD

The rumors of a railroad for Stayton reported in last week's Mail, seem to be turning into something more definite now than merely rumors. A party of surveyors have been at work out of Salem for a number of days and are now at the edge of town preparing to continue their way through Stayton.

The surveyors are in charge of a gentleman by the name of Mounts and have made rapid progress with their work since starting from Salem. The route as laid out by the surveyors will be from Salem to West Stayton and on up to Stayton, and will not pass through Turner as reported last week.

Mr. Mounts states positively that the road will be constructed and that possibly work may be commenced inside of 60 days. If it was possible to work through the winter, he says it could be easily constructed by next spring, but owing to the impossibility of working through the winter months, it will delay the construction work considerable but in all probability Stayton will have good railroad service in a great deal less than a year.

Mr. Mounts has considerable reputation as a railroad contractor, promoting and putting through a road recently in the south. He will be financially interested in the line he is preparing to build now, and powerful interests and plenty of capital will be interested with him in the project.

They have applied to the city for a franchise through Stayton and have arranged for practically all the right-of-way up to here. They ask no cash bonus for building the road, and want simply the right-of-way. This they have had no difficulty in securing, as every farmer realizes through his farm will enhance the value considerable.

Stayton has had several railroad propositions come up in the past, and they all failed to materialize, but from all indications and the manner in which these people are going about the proposition, with as little publicity as possible, it looks as though Stayton had better chances of securing a railroad than it ever had in the past.—Stayton Mail.

ELEVEN THOUSAND ACRES TO BE RESTORED

The latest stretches of land originally included in the Klamath project to be restored to the public domain after having been withdrawn for reclamation purposes, second form, under the act of congress of June 17, 1902, are to be thrown open to settlement August 25th. They will be open to entry, selection or filing on September 25th.

The land in question is released upon application of Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher for restoration, made on June 29th, and referred to the general land board. The reason given for the opening of the major portion of the land, that in the Sand Hollow country, is that its elevation is too high to be reached by the government irrigation canals, being even above the Mosaic Canal survey, which is the highest situated canal included in the project.

The total amount of land to be thrown open at this time aggregates a little over 11,000 acres. Of this amount 4,000 acres skirt the west side of Lower Klamath Lake, extending from Teeter's landing nearly to Calor, which is just this side of the state boundary line.

The remainder of the land, amounting to over 7,000 acres, is situated in the Sand Hollow district. It comprises portions of townships 40 and 41, ranges 11, 12 and 13 east.

Does Prohibition Really Prohibit? The old, old question, "Does prohibition really prohibit?" again confront us. For the year ending June 30 the United States Brewers' association report the sale of 63,000,000 gallons of beer, an increase of 8.21 per cent over the preceding year and this with other absolute prohibition or heavy restriction on liquor in all but eight states of the Union. The same report gives the whiskey sales at $146,973,000, an increase of $8,000,000 or 5.3 per cent over the preceding 12 months.

Tough on Texas. A young lieutenant from a New York regiment surveyed the Texas scenery gloomily and reflected upon his great distance from the lights of Broadway. The smoke from a smelter and the swirling sand from the low lying hills had spoiled the lieutenant's disposition.

"Tell me," said an editor from El Paso, "isn't there some hidden power behind this mobilization?" "There is," replied the lieutenant; "we are going to force Mexico to take back Texas."—Success.

Tortured for 15 Years. By a curd-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Modderville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said "he can't live much longer." "What- ever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. It is surely a grand remedy for stomach troubles." Just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at J. C. Perry's.

PRINTER'S HEALTH

Their International Union Prosecutes Its Campaign to Conserve.

The volume containing the reports of the officers of the International Typographical Union for the fiscal year ending May, 1911, is now in circulation.

The International Typographical Union has for years conducted a health campaign from its international headquarters, and working through local committees. In his report this year President Lynch has this to say as to the progress of the campaign:

"Your president has continued the agitation during the past year for better sanitary conditions in the workrooms where our members are compelled to labor. We have also continued the distribution of the tuberculosis pamphlet. As to sanitation and other workroom conditions, our local unions should continue to give these subjects attention. With the movement against filthy and non-ventilated composing rooms there will be entire sympathy on the part of the general public, and no employer can afford to resist the demand for a change in working conditions that will guarantee health and comfort. As a matter of fact, well-ventilated and scientifically arranged composing rooms are as good an investment as is the latest improvement in typesetting machinery, or the newest and most up-to-date faces in type. The worker who is in good health and who is working amid pleasant surroundings is the best kind of a worker, for both mentally and physically he is equipped to produce the best that his art knows. Good printing means additional patronage for the printing office, and to a very great extent good printing requires artistic typesetting."

"All of our local unions should have health committees, and these committees should be uniting in their efforts to improve sanitary conditions and other features in composing rooms requiring betterment. Whenever a condition exists that requires improvement, if the employer fails to make the improvement on request of the health committee, then the bad condition should be called to the attention of the local board of health, and if the local board of health refuses to act, agitation should be started through the central body, through pamphlets circulated liberally, and through the withdrawal of our members from employment in the composing room of the offending proprietor. If this radical step is an absolute necessity, "As I have repeatedly asserted, a higher wage scale is of no benefit to a member if the conditions under which he works make for the propagation of disease and early death. The family might better retain the provider and protector under a low wage scale than enjoy the fruits of a high wage scale for only a limited period, and then when husband and father is removed, become objects of the charity of the public, or of the union, or of fraternal societies."

President Lynch also touches on the great white plague, and says that:

"Scientific research has proven that there is no known medicine that will cure consumption, and that it is a waste of time and money to use so-called 'consumption cures.' All advertised cures of this nature are frauds. Doctors who advertise should be avoided as much as medicines which are advertised. Reputable doctors do not advertise. When a person learns that he has consumption he should go at once to a physician or dispensary and do as he is advised. He should not waste time and money on patent medicines. Advertised cures and advertising doctors are all worthless. This is the advice given by one of the most eminent physicians. Over $15,000,000 annually is poured into the coffers of those who exploit and advertise false consumption cures, according to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis; and for this vast sum the victims receive nothing in return, but are often permanently injured, and, in the majority of cases, cheated out of the chance for a real cure. Sanitary workrooms and an abundance of fresh air at all times are the best preventives. These admonitions are being constantly proclaimed by the International Typographical Union through its traveling tuberculosis exhibit, its sanatorium at the Union Printers Home, and by the annual distribution of thousands of pieces of literature."

Fifteen hundred employes of the International Harvester Works at Moscow, Russia, have gone on a strike.
