An unusually pretty midsummer wedding took place on Wednesday evening, August the twenty-third at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Klein, when their daughter, Marguerite, was married to George F. Simeral. At eight o'clock as the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. Stanley Morgan, the bridal party entered from the stairway and took their places beneath an arch of ferns and under a basket of white flowers tied with a soft white satin, true lover's knot, where the ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. T. Babcock.

The bride was given away by her father and attended by her matron of honor, Mrs. Paul Johnson, who was attired in her wedding gown of white messaline and carried a large bouquet of pink asters. Little Maxine Follett, niece of the bride, carried the white satin pillow on which rested the wedding ring. Mr. Paul Johnson attended the groom. Previous to the entrance of the bridal party, Miss George Erickson sang "Because," with Miss Ethel Thomas accompanying, and during the ceremony Mrs. Morgan played softly Mendelssohn's Spring Song.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white silk crepe en train, hand embroidered front panel, yoke and sleeves. Among the embroidery were innumerable neat pearls of many sizes. Net and baby Irish lace were also used in its construction. With this robe, taking the place of a veil, was worn a soft tulle hood, garnished with orange blossoms.

The bridal bouquet was artistically arranged with white sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. The home was beautifully decorated, the parlors in ferns and pink and white sweet peas and the dining room, where refreshments were served, was extremely attractive in a scheme of yellow and green; asters and maiden-hair fern. The table with its yellow candles and shades was centered with a mirror reflecting from above the yellow electric dome from which hung a basket of golden flowers tied with a love knot of the same color.

In the entrance hall, receiving between sixty and seventy guests, all of whom were relatives and very near friends—were two little cousins of the bride, Ruth Wright of Oregon City and Maud McCoy of Salem. The wedding gifts were numerous, useful and very beautiful. Among them, a piano from the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Simeral left at ten o'clock for Newport, expecting to remain for a fortnight.

In the fall they are leaving Salem for Tulare county, California, where Mr. Simeral owns an extensive alfalfa ranch.

The young people have hosts of friends in Salem. Mrs. Simeral, a charming young woman, was the recipient of much attention following the announcement of her engagement. Mrs. Warren Hunt gave beautifully piano selections during the evening.

"Cheery-In," the pretty bungalow of the Daniel Fry's at Slab Creek, was the scene of a charming party on the afternoon of August the fifteenth, when Mrs. Fry with her daughter Miss Jennie, entertained for their guests Mrs. John Morrison and Miss Bella Morrison of Seattle, Miss Risley of Oregon City and Miss Kliffie Harbord of Salem. The large veranda was elaborately decorated with hanging baskets, Chinese lanterns and maiden-hair fern. Here the guests brought dainty needlework and were served with lovely refreshments. Asked for this affair were Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner and daughters Rita and Barbara, Mrs. Frank Holmes of Salem, Mrs. Rogers of McMinnville, Mrs. Bert Haney of Portland, Mrs. Bridwell and daughter of McMinnville, Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Ruger of Newkirk, Mrs. Bridwell and daughter of Anity.

"Cheery-In" was completed last May. It is a modern bungalow with large rooms and extensive porch. All modern conveniences have been installed, including hot and cold water and bath with up-to-date plumbing. This cottage with its pretty exterior and beautiful location makes an ideal home during the season. For twenty-three years the Daniel Frys have been summering at Slab Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts returned last Wednesday from a fortnight's visit at Seaside, stopping in Astoria for "The Bridge of the Gods" which is one of the main features of the Centennial.

Again Miss Grace Byrd, an autumn bride-elect, has been the recipient of an honor, Miss Frances Newman entertaining last Saturday in very delightful manner with a shower of the most necessary articles in household economy. Originality marked the manner in which these numerous gifts were presented. With each package was a cleverly composed note which Miss Byrd read as she lifted the article from its paper bag clothes-pinned to a line running the length of the rooms. A new game formed an entertainment for the afternoon. Upon heart-shaped cards were written questions requiring answers that began with "hearts" and ended with "rings" and "bells." Among the collection of bright answers, that of Mrs. Lowell Will secured first prize, a dainty brass fern dish with plant.

In profusion black-eyed Susans and nasturtiums were used throughout the rooms. Mrs. Newman's invitation list included Mrs. Louise Arthur, Mrs. Emma R. Sweet, Mrs. Lowell I. Will, Mrs. Will R. Young, Mrs. Donald Upjohn, Mrs. L. A. Byrd, Mrs. Ellard Hoag of Seattle, Misses Grace Byrd, Bertha Broyles, Mabel Broyles, Mable DeLong, Lola DeLong, Eunane Craig, Margaret Putnam, Marguerite Merz, Lucille Belle, Gertrude Erickson, Jessie Keeton, Isidore Downing, Theo Bennett, Nettie Miller.

Miss Mable Smith in entertaining her club last Saturday, gave a slumber party with ten o'clock breakfast following. The altogether charming event was enjoyed by the Misses Gay-nall Baldwin, Lottie Penn, Vera Martin, Florence Moustin, Stella Gleason, Beryl Headrick, Ursula Beck and the hostess. This L. O. P. H. club took possession of the second story in the J. N. Smith home, and with delightful informality was most happily entertained.

Mrs. Laura Doolittle, whose art studio for interior decoration is located in Lucretia court, Portland, near Twenty-third and Washington streets, has been in Salem, consulting with several home owners, the interior of whose houses are being finished under her direction. Mrs. Doolittle was the guest of Mrs. Russell Catlin.

Mrs. S. W. Thompson telephoned a few friends for last Tuesday afternoon, to visit with Mrs. Henry Gold-bury of North Yakima, who will be pleasantly remembered as Miss Hor-tense Levy of Salem.

Mrs. Claud Knight of The Dalles arrived in Salem last Wednesday evening and will be the guest for a few weeks of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fawk.

Miss Dorothy Hazeltine is spending the week end in Portland, the guest of friends.

Mrs. E. E. Waters returned last Monday from a delightful fortnight's stay at the Abbey house in Newport.

Miss Lillian Metschan of Portland and Mrs. George H. Cattenash of Cannon City, who enjoyed a month's visit in Salem with their sisters, Mrs. L. F. Griffith and Mrs. B. F. Meredith, have returned home.

Four weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley and small daughter motored to Vancouver, British Columbia, for a visit with Mrs. Livesley's parents, and last Sunday night returned to their home in Salem, motoring the entire trip without mishap.

Miss Lou Draper of Oregon City, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr., left for her home last Saturday.

Although quiet, a very pretty wedding was solemnized last Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock in the home of Reverend and Mrs. O. A. Stillman, when their daughter, Ruth Adeline became the bride of Mr. Henry Richard Davies, Reverend Stillman reading the marriage service in the presence of a few relatives. The bride, charming in a dainty robe of white mull, was unattended. Pink and white sweet peas filled the rooms. After the ceremony, congratulations and luncheon, the young couple left for south at six-thirty. An extended trip will be taken through the coast states and middle west, terminating at Madison, Wisconsin, where Mr. Davies who is a graduate of Oregon university, will take a course in chemical engineering. Mrs. Davies formerly resided in Madison.

Relatives from out of town who were guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Everett and son Russell of Portland, Mr. B. H. Stillman and Miss Laura Stillman of Eugene, Miss Laura Gilbert of Milton, Wisconsin, and Mrs. J. W. Davies of Dunsmuir, California. Mr. and Mrs. Davies received many beautiful gifts. They are expecting to return to Oregon after the engineering course has been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Bishop and son left home last Sunday for a visit in Seaside. They were guests in Astoria on Monday to attend Miss Mable A. Ferris' production of "The Bridge of the Gods."

Doctor and Mrs. H. H. Olinger, Mrs. D. W. Matthews and Miss Gertrude Cunningham are enjoying an outing at Nye Beach, where they occupy the McElroy cottage.

For a visit of indefinite length with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Thompson, Miss Louise is enjoying a rest from her studies at the Butler-Nelkie Dramatic school in San Francisco.

Miss Mable Smith is returning about the middle of September to resume the study of piano at Olivet, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Murphy and Mr. John Klernan of Portland were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Knighton, leaving on Friday for Me-hama, where they spent the week end.

Professor T. S. Roberts visited friends in Portland last week from Sunday to Friday.

Mrs. Mark Brownell of Oakland, California, left last week Thursday for Eugene, where she will remain until the fifteenth of next month, before returning to her home.

Mrs. A. M. Clough and Mrs. E. E. Fisher asked friends to meet last week Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Clough's residence for the purpose of organizing a Kensington club. The affair was very enjoyable. The invitation list included Mesdames W. C. Stewart, Nellie Knox, Frank Roberts, E. C. Fletcher, E. H. Wyant, E. C. Genery, Joseph Bernard, N. S. Stewart, Ray Clark, E. E. Fisher and A. M. Clough. On the sixteenth of September the club will be entertained by Mrs. Fisher, when a name will be decided upon and other women invited to become members.

A delightfully enjoyable affair was the Kensington given last week Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Donald Glover, who entertained the "Reds" of the Woman's Relief Corps, together with a few invited friends. After an hour of sewing, the forty guests were entertained with an olfactory game, which proved extremely puzzling. A member of the "Reds" captured second prize while first honor was awarded an outside guest. The national colors were artistically carried out in invitations, decorations, refreshments and prizes. At beautifully appointed tables the guests were seated for dainty refreshments served by the hostess, with the help of her sisters and Miss Melring.

A merry crowd of about thirty Willamette students who live in Salem went out to the fair grounds last Wednesday evening for a picnic. Over a bon fire a Dutch lunch was cooked. Music and games filled the evening. The round trip was made by street car.

After a pleasant visit of a week's duration Miss Bertha Jones, who was the guest of Mrs. George C. Will and Miss Minzenmier, returned on last Wednesday to her home in Portland.

Misses Bessie, Ray and Ethel Smith entertained the Orange club last week Thursday evening, with a seven o'clock luncheon at the state fair grounds. Chinese lanterns were used for decorating and lovely refreshments were served. About twenty members enjoyed the affair.

Mrs. Seba Cass Wall is at Seaview as cottage guest of the W. Melvine Pimpton.

Doctor and Mrs. Harry Clay and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Stewart enjoyed a delightful week end trip to Silver Creek falls.

Miss Irene Campbell, whom Portland claims as one of her women tennis champions, but who is a resident of Salem, is visiting at North Beach this week. Miss Campbell distinguished herself by excellent playing in the different towns where tournaments were held.

The annual picnic of First Christian church bible school was held last Saturday on the state fair grounds when a good crowd enjoyed the afternoon and early evening. Among games played by the young folks was base ball between a girl's nine and boys, who played left handed. In addition to the six o'clock supper, lemonade and plenty of fine candy was furnished for all the guests at the expense of the bible school. In every way the affair was very enjoyable.

Miss Olive Metcalf returned home last Monday after a short visit with Mrs. E. M. Hilden in Portland.

When the Rebecas held their regular meeting in Odd Fellows' hall last week Monday, after the session Mrs. M. T. Baldwin was genuinely surprised when a reception was tendered her. In recognition of respect, and appreciation of efficiency as an officer, the lodge presented her with a beautiful brooch. Mrs. Baldwin is accompanying her daughter to Europe in a short time, where the young woman will continue violin work.

In the parlors of First Methodist church last Friday evening, the members of Knights of King Arthur invited young women friends with Miss Hazel Scott as chaperone, entertaining informally with music and games. Closing the evening with light refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt (Miss Mary Melrino) are receiving felicitations over the birth of a son on August the thirteenth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hamilton and daughter Iris returned last Saturday evening from a fortnight's stay in Newport.

An exceedingly quiet and simple wedding took place last week Tuesday, August the fifteenth, at the home of Doctor and Mrs. Fletcher Homan when Ernest L. Coe of Prineville and Greta Mayhew of Omaha, Nebraska, were united in marriage by Doctor Homan. Professor Coe went to The Dalles to meet his bride on her way from the middle west. No guests were asked for this occasion. The bride was daintily gowned in white. On Wednesday Professor and Mrs. Coe left for Prineville, where a home had been prepared for them. Later in the week they left for a trip to Crater Lake, expecting to remain for a short visit. Professor Coe was principal of the high school at Knox, Iowa, where Mrs. Coe was teaching; and is now in charge of the Cook county, Oregon, high school.

Miss Minnetta Magers will return to Salem about the fourth of September to resume her teaching in vocal work. Plans have been made for chorus and quartette drill. The study of songs of one composer will be taken up each month; with a musicale at its close.

NEWPORT

What Newport Offers

Newport is without doubt the most enterprising little city on the coast of Oregon. During the past two years it has made very rapid as well as substantial improvements, chief of which is a modern gravity water system from a pure mountain stream. This water is said to be better than the famous Bull Run water of Portland, Ore.

The climate of Newport cannot be surpassed on the coast, and no beach can offer as many natural attractions as this charming resort. There are many side trips, such as to Seal Rocks, Beaver Creek, Cape Foulweather Lighthouse, Otter Rock, Elk City, etc.

The fishing and hunting is excellent, and the bay offers a great place for boating and sailing. There are many fine launches which take picnic parties and moonlight excursions to all points on the bay, besides taking the more venturesome out over the bar and around the old Whistling Buoy, or deep sea fishing for Linn Cod and many other large fish, which are plentiful.

Later in the fall salmon trolling starts on the bay, and for real sport with a hook and line this cannot be beaten.

If you are planning on a vacation you cannot afford to overlook Newport. For information address any of the advertiser on this page or the Newport Commercial Club.
