GAME WAS A VERY HOT ONE PHILLIES HAVE THREE SAFE NEW YORK MUST WIN TWO

Doyle, the Giants' Second Baseman, Was the Hitting Sensation of the Day—After Getting Three Hits Earlier in the Game He Doubled in the Tenth When First Man Up and Crossed the Plate With Winning Run—Five Pitchers Were Used in All—Marquard Only Staying Three Innings.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Fighting desperately to the last minute, the New York Giants today plucked victory from defeat, and prevented the world's champion Athletics from grabbing the title. The score was 4 to 3. The final run came in the last half of the tenth inning.

Doyle, the Giants' second baseman, was the hitting sensation of the day. After getting three hits in the earlier part of the game, he doubled when he was first man up in the tenth. Then Snodgrass, who had shown nothing in the series, bunted and Doyle took third. Murray then fled to Murphy, but Doyle was held so close to third that he could not score on the fly. Another fly by Merkle to Murphy was long enough, and Doyle raced over a winning run. Five pitchers in all were used in the game. Marquard, the Giants' prize beauty, lasted only three innings. He got his when Oldring rapped out a home run scoring Lapp and Coombs.

New York, Oct. 25.—A fair sized crowd awaited the opening of the bleachers at the polo grounds today. The early prospects were against a record breaking crowd at the fifth game of series.

The batteries are Coombs and Lapp for Athletics and Marquard and Meyers for Giants.

Umpires—Klen behind bat; Dineen on bases; Connelly in left field and Brennan in right.

Watson, private secretary to the governor; Miss Hobbs, the governor's stenographer; C. D. Batecock, who is in the secretary of state's office; C. L. Starr, secretary of the tax commission; G. G. Brown, clerk of the state land board; C. A. Wilson, clerk in the insurance department; Robert Wyant, state engineer in charge of the field work; W. B. Dillard, who is clerk of the office of the superintendent of public instruction; H. H. Corey, secretary of the railroad commission; several members of the football squad, and prominent debaters from other schools.

J. H. ALBERTS DEFENDS THE CHARTER

AND INCIDENTALLY ROASTS
SOME FAULT FINDERS FOR NOT MAKING THEIR SUGGESTIONS
WHEN THEY WERE CALLED FOR.

"Shall the present form or method of government in the city of Salem Oregon, be changed to what is commonly known as the commission form of city government?"

"Vote Yes or No."
"100—Yes."
"101—No."

The above is the only ballot which you can vote at the charter election tomorrow. You must vote yes or no whether you will have the commission form of government.

The provisions of the charter providing for the change are not open for amendment, for adoption or for rejection.

This question was pending some three months before the committee appointed by the city council, the Board of Trade and the Business Men's League and after consulting with the citizens of Salem and inviting them to be present at their discussions and to express their views upon the provisions of the charter they to the best of their ability, prepared the charter to meet present requirements.

All the present ordinances of the city are left in full force and effect excepting only those which may conflict with the provisions of the new charter. Only such changes as will adapt it to the new form of government.

Attempts are being made to befog the issue by criticism of the details of the new charter by those who did not take interest enough in the matter when it was pending to present their views. The principal opposition of this character has come from a distinguished citizen who after having been guilty of laches every day of the months during which the preparation of framing the charter was pending has stepped down from his high bench and insists that the charter be amended so as to conform to his views in certain of its phases, rather than those of the committee of nine after consultation with the people and careful consideration by them. He knows of course that no amendment can now be made and the criticism is made for the purpose of defeating the main question. The objections urged by him are mostly immaterial and many of them frivolous. However if he be in earnest in his desire to have the charter amended, he should prepare such amendments and introduce them by the initiative under the provisions of Ordinance No. 818 under which the present charter is introduced and let the people decide whether they want the amendments at the regular city election in December, when if this charter be adopted, the election of officers under it will be held, thus action can be had upon these amendments before the new charter goes into effect and the people will be enabled to express their opinion as to the merits of the amendments without involving or imperiling the charter.

Let us not forget that the only question to be decided at this election is: "Shall the present form or method of government in the city of Salem, Oregon, be changed to what is commonly known as the commission form of city government?"

MEXICAN BANDIT IS SHOT DOWN

Officers After Horsethief Suddenly Face Him in the Road—He Empties His Revolver at Them.

The Bandit's Horse Reared, Spoiling His Aim, and Officers Filled Him Full of Lead, Also Killing His Horse—Put Him in Auto and Bring Him Into Camp, He Still Being Alive.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
San Jose, Cal., Oct. 25.—Manuel Garcia, a stableman who today shot and killed Monroe Monterey, a miser, and severely wounded Miss Belle Quesada here was captured before noon, after a desperate fight in which he was mortally wounded.

Sheriff Lansford and three deputies were motoring north along the Oakland road when Garcia was seen approaching them on a horse he had stolen. The party met near the Mission, San Jose. Simultaneously the officers' automobiles and Garcia fired a half dozen shots but all missed the officers, as the spirited horse reared and plunged. He was given no time to fire again, for the three officers shot man and horse to the ground before the smoke of his revolver had cleared away. Not a word had been spoken on either side. Garcia was lifted into the Sheriff's machine, unconscious, fatally wounded in the head. The horse lay dead in the road. Physicians at the county jail pronounced Garcia beyond medical relief.

CHARTER IS GENERALLY DISCUSSED

EX-MAYOR RODGERS SPEAKS IN LESLEIE METHODIST CHURCH AND CITY ATTORNEY CORBY AND MAX O'BUREN AT THE CENTRAL CONGREGATIONAL.

About 50 voters were out at the Leslie Methodist church last night to hear Ex-Mayor Geo. F. Rodgers present the cause of commission form of government. Mr. Rodgers as chairman of the board that drafted the new charter explained objections to the charter, and showed that it was the form of city government very extensively used in England, Germany and the eastern states. He also claimed it would give better business administration and reduce taxes. Alderman Huckestein and Judge John H. Scott both spoke in favor of the charter. The chairman of the meeting called for anyone opposed to the charter and Hermann W. Timm, a teamster and property owner on South Liberty street, spoke and got considerable applause. In fact the sentiment of the meeting seemed to be divided and a majority seem to be opposed to the proposed charter.

Board of Trade Tonight.

The First Ward Improvement league has called a general public meeting tonight at the board of trade rooms to discuss the charter. Some of the best speakers in the city are to be present this evening at that meeting and it is expected that both sides will have a hearing. The public interest in the matter is growing and the registration of voters which closes tonight will be very large.

At Central Congregational.

In East Salem a meeting for the charter was held at the above place. C. M. Eppley, the State street grocer, presided and made a brief statement of the object of the meeting. He presided as president of the Sixth Ward Improvement League.

City Attorney Grant Corby was introduced and spoke of the legal phases of the proposed charter. His address was from a non-partisan standpoint. He showed that the proposed charter leaves the matter of the limit of bonded indebtedness practically where it is now under the amendment of the present charter adopted in 1909. He showed where the provision of the proposed charter regarding the assessment of the cost of street improvements is broader and more ample than in the present charter. He agreed with the position taken by Judge Burnett in yesterday morning's Statesman, that it would be in the power of the commissioners to block initiative or referendum measures until the next regular election, which might be nearly two years. He also admitted in answer to questions, that there was a difference of opinion among attorneys as to the possible application of the recall.

New Charter an Improvement.

Max O. Buren spoke of the careful and conscientious work of the committee that framed the charter, and suggested that if the voter would sit down and carefully compare the proposed charter with the old section by section, he would be able to get a much better insight into the improvement in the new charter. Councilman Laiky and Secretary Hofer of the Board of Trade, and others spoke briefly on the commission form of government, and a number of questions were asked and answered. There were few decided expressions either of approval or disapproval of the proposed charter.

MANCHU EMPEROR PREPARES TO FLY TREASURY EMPTY, TROOPS UNEASY

REBELS CAPTURE SIAN FU OLD CAPITAL OF EMPIRE GENERAL FENG IS KILLED

Big Bomb Dropped From a Window Explodes Near Him, Blowing Both He and His Escort to Pieces—Capture of Sian Fu, Makes the Government Lose All Hope, and the Emperor And His Officials Prepare for Flight—They Will Probably Abandon the Capital Today.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]

Shanghai, Oct. 25.—General Feng's death has been fully confirmed, and details of the assassination, reaching here today, say that a bomb was dropped from a house top. In addition to the general, several members of his escort were killed. It is believed that news of the commander's death will be followed by a general revolutionary outbreak in Canton, to be precipitated by troops. The governor has telegraphed officials at Peking advising them to grant the rebels' demands. He fears massacres. One of the most important strategic centers in the district has been occupied by the rebels. Sian Fu, the ancient capital of the empire, has also fallen.

These two defeats have completely broken the government's nerve, and reports from Peking are that members of the imperial court have made preparations for flight, and are ready to flee, following messages announcing one more victory of the revolutionists. They will seek refuge temporarily in the imperial palace at Je Ho, 120 miles north of Peking. The government is desperately pressed for funds, and is unable to pay the salaries of court attendants. They are aware of this, and disaffection is agitating them. Manchus are fleeing to Shanghai to escape massacre. General Feng had been newly appointed governor of Canton. His wife is said to have been with him and have been killed when the bomb exploded. He was chosen last spring to take the place of Chung, when the latter was assassinated. Details of the assassination of the new governor state he and his wife and an escort of 30 guards were leaving a steamboat at Canton when the bomb was dropped. The terrific explosion which followed hurled mangled bodies in all directions.

Messages from Hankow today say that the rebels are preparing to establish a provisional government.

Win Another Victory.
San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Strengthened by hundreds of pieces of artillery captured in engagements with government troops near Hankow, at the beginning of the revolution, 15,000 Chinese rebels yesterday met and defeated 20,000 imperialists under General Chang, near the town of Wu Sing, forming the boundary between Hupeh and Honan provinces, according to telegrams received here by the Chee Foo press by its Shanghai correspondent. The rebels advanced on the imperialists in the face of the fire of 170 cannon, and forced the government soldiers to retire in disorder. A cable received by the Young China, another Chinatown publication, says a large body of imperialists in the province of Sui Si, one of the states near the Manchurian border has revolted.

WITH THROAT CUT

Indianapolis, Oct. 25.—Governor Marshall, of Indiana, is considering today the offer of a state reward for the arrest of the murderer of Dr. Helen Knake, state bacteriologist and pathologist, who was found in her office with her throat cut. The police are baffled, and are working on a theory of revenge.

TEN MILLION-DOLLAR
SUIT OVER ALASKA

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Washington, Oct. 25.—Argument in the Alaska land case in which Munday and Shields were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government of lands valued at $10,000,000 was heard by the supreme court today. The point at issue is whether the United States court, for the western district of Washington is empowered to dismiss the indictments.

INSURGENTS AND REGULARS
DINE TOGETHER

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.]
Minneapolis, Oct. 25.—That politics make strange bedfellows was evidenced here today during the visit of President Taft. The two Republican factions breakfasted together with the president, but there was no spirit of amity present. Senator Nelson and former Congressman Tawney both were present, and across the table sat Senator Clapp, head and front of the insurgent faction. The breakfast over, the party left the Madison Hotel and went to the University of Minnesota, where President Taft delivered an address.

At noon the president was a guest at a dinner given by the Young Men's Republican club. He left at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for an automobile tour around the lakes.
