BRIDGE FROCKS AND VELVET SASHES — CORSET WAISTS — HATS THAT STAY ON THOUGH BOREAS BLOWS — WOOL EMBROIDERIES — FIXINGS.

New York, Nov. 11.—Paquin, the celebrated Paris dressmaker, has a find for what he calls "Little Gowns." Pretty all round dresses that do for almost any occasion. Here we call them "bridge frocks," since they are just the sort of thing for an afternoon card party.

Materials and Colors.

Silks, especially the revived ribbed silks and soft grosgrains are just right for these dresses; also charmeuse, and all the hosts of silk and wool weaves that adapt themselves to present styles. Colorings are important, and one can choose a vivid tint that is becoming and have a striking frock that requires little trimming or select a neutral color, or black and by using a bit of vivid contrast in combined material or trimming have an equally impressive get-up. If liked pale tints or white can be selected, the lines brought out and emphasized by a dash of cerise, or black, or green or any tint desired that relieves the flatness of a pale-toned toilet.

Fringes, Beads and Fur.

Fringes of varying widths and styles, made up in silk or beads; bead embroideries, or the latest idea, wool embroideries in Egyptian patterns and colors; touches of fur to border the underskirt, edge a reverse, or bring out the line of a sleeve cuff. All these together in a single rig sometimes; or as many of them as are required to give character to the frock.

Brocades Modish.

Hits of brocade make modish trimmings. Often these are used either for the trim of a velvet crowned hat, or the crown of a velvet-brimmed one, with perhaps a bag to match which holds all the things that our grandmother's pockets formerly stowed away. The upholstery counters offer rich finds of odds and ends that work in beautifully with present modes of dress and hat trimming.

A Dinner Dress.

A dinner dress shown recently at an opening with the name of its Paris maker attached was, I am sure, made up largely from a damask with a certain, old gold in color. This was draped in the serpentine style now so modish, across the front of the skirt over a petticoat of gold satin veiled in black lace. The brocade finished in a narrow fish tail train in the back and was bordered with skunk fur on one edge. The waist of gold satin and lace had straps of fur at the shoulder and clusters of roses formed of black velvet and gold tissue.

Corkscrew Styles.

The corkscrew style of drapery is seen in many uses, the most novel perhaps being in muffs where the fur is shaped like a long bow, then wound round the muff, ending with the head at one end, the paws and tail at the other. A muff of "cross fox" seen at C. C. Shayne's was made after this fashion, and was accompanied by a beautiful scarf in which the animal skins were draped about the shoulders. A dyed muskrat stole and muff seen at the same time was trimmed with itself after a new and pretty fashion. There were cross strappings of the fur, used band fashion, that showed plainly notwithstanding the sameness of the material. This fur by the way looks exactly like seal to anyone not an expert and of course costs much less.

It is wonderful how attractive and stylish the medium priced furs look when made up in their best quality after thoroughly up-to-date models. Racoon and red fox go "cheek by jowl" with ermine and sable without losing a whit of their style.

Long Coats.

Every woman young or old wants a long fur coat, or one with a fur lining, or fur trimmings if she can compass its purchase, and as some of the reliable furs now come at the cost of a good cloth garment and last much better most people prefer these.

Low Set Hats.

Hats that stay on no matter how the wind blows are so desirable that the popularity of the hat that buries the head is sure to continue at least for auto-wear and traveling. Very little trimming is needed for

BAD COMPLEXIONS REMOVED BY ABSORPTION

(From Happy Home.)

It was discovered not long ago that ordinary mercerized wax had the power to absorb an old, faded or discolored complexion—or more literally, the old cuticle, or outer skin—revealing the fresher, healthier under-skin, blooming with the pink of life and the glow of youth. The dead and half-dead cuticle comes off so gradually, in fine, flour-like flakes, that there is no pain, no discomfort and no detention from one's everyday duties. Of course such troubles as chaps, freckles, moth patches, liver spots, and fine lines, go with the discarded skin. Mercerized wax, which druggists generally have in stock, should be spread over the face at night before retiring, in the manner cold cream is used. In the morning it should be washed off with warm water, followed by a dash of cold water.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, laryngitis, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry.

Senator Gore.

THE BLIND STATESMAN.

How Senator Gore Prepares His Speeches.

It is a well-known fact that no member of the United States senate has a wider fund of general knowledge, and a more accurate grasp of economic and political questions, than "the blind man eloquent," Senator Thomas P. Gore.

Although he has been totally blind since he was 10 years of age, it is a common remark, often heard about the state corridors in Washington, that "Gore has read everything." Mrs. Gore, who has been his constant adviser, has read hundreds of books to her distinguished husband. Senator Gore has a remarkable memory. He not only remembers the outline of everything which he has read, but he can quote verbatim paragraph after paragraph, page after page from history, literature and from learned and scholarly volumes on political and social economy. The result is that he is a veritable encyclopedia, and is frequently appealed to by other members of the senate as to the best authorities and the best publications on all sorts of themes.

No one can listen to Senator Gore without realizing his power. His lucid lectures, as well as his public speeches, sparkle with epigrams, allusions and quotations, all properly credited to their respective authors. His brilliancy in this respect is soon discovered in private conversation. His language, at once simple and elegant, is rich in these unusual qualities. His speech conforms to the truest standard of oratory, inasmuch as the adjustment of word to thought reveals the cultured mind, and sympathetic personality of a genuine patriot and a high-minded gentleman.

Senator Gore will appear at the Grand opera house next Friday night, November 14, being the first number on the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course.

SAGE TEA WAS USED BY OUR GRANDMOTHERS

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea" and their dark, glossy locks long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea," for their heads are fast following suit.

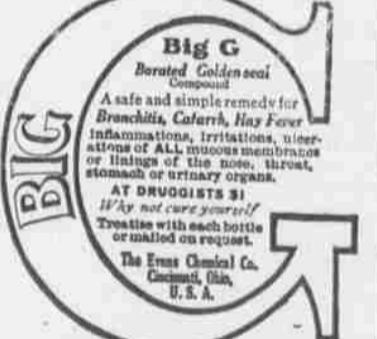

The present generation has the advantage of the past, in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

This remedy is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If your hair is losing color or coming out, start using Weyth's Sage and Sulphur today, and see how what a change it will make in a few days' time.

This preparation is offered to the public at 50 cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent, J. C. Perry.

The man who has nothing to say is the one who talks you to death.

A Burglar's Awful Deed may not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap of Leadhill, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at J. C. Perry's.
