

THE COUNCIL GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

REFUSES TO TRADE WITH SPAULDING CO. AND MAKES JAIL A TERROR TO TRAMPS BY ORDERING SHOWER BATHS.

Hot words and warm measures were the rule at the city council last evening. Several matters which have been simmering for the past few weeks came to a boil and it looked for a time as if some one would get scalded. Mayor Lachmund sent one bill back with an emphatic veto, and another bill concerning the vacation of certain city streets in favor of the Spaulding Logging company was reconsidered and laid on the table indefinitely. Alderman Huckestein brought up a bill to improve conditions at the city jail and was reprimanded by the mayor for butting in on the work of other committees.

Things went along smoothly for a time. $2,010.40 was ordered paid for the work on Twelfth street bridge. A. Burns was paid the balance of $2,074.81 for the completion of his North Salem sewer work, several additional sewer specifications were considered and then the fun started.

An Unequal Trade.

Councilman Durbin moved the reconsideration of the resolution for the city to vacate Water street south of Court, Ferry street, west of Front and the alleys in blocks 64 and 65, all of which property the resolution proposed the city should trade for certain water frontage owned by the Spaulding Logging company. In support of this motion Mr. Durbin said, "Gentlemen, I asked last week for a few days to investigate this matter and I wish to state that I have thoroughly done so. I have gone over the ground and I find that we would be trading 129,354 square feet of desirable streets for only 3,000 square feet of water front. I do not wish to work a hardship on the Spaulding people but I do believe that such a change would be vicious and entirely bad. We already have considerable water frontage that extends north from the end of the bridge. This is even a more desirable sight for a city dock than the place under discussion. I also find that the city has no legal right to bargain, sell or convey this property, or any other of the city streets. Of course these streets are, at the present being used only by the Spaulding people, but who knows how badly the city may need them in the future as we gradually develop and grow. It is not improbable that the city may wish to build bridges across the river at the foot of these streets, as I am informed by the city attorney that some of them run to the river."

Must Vacate Streets.

Against such a speech as this the mayor's feeble protest had little weight, and when Durbin's sentiments had been expressed over again by some of the other councilmen, the reconsideration was unanimously carried and a notice was ordered sent to the Spaulding people commanding them to vacate the streets which they have been using for so many years.

The next bomb to be exploded was Alderman Huckestein's resolution that the city council order the building committee to install in the basement of the city jail a concrete floor, two grated doors, one solid iron door and to make an entrance to the basement from the street. Also that two shower baths be installed in the jail. The mayor moved that the matter be referred to the building committee, but this method of delaying the effects of the resolution did not appeal to its author and he objected in the following manner.

Baths for Tramps.

"Gentlemen, this is a matter of grave importance to the city of Salem. You who do not know the facts have but to look into the basement of this building to find that the conditions as depicted in the papers of recent date are true. Such conditions have existed long enough and it is time that they should cease. Filth is no name for the city jail. When I asked the chief why there were no quilts for the cots, he answered that once there were quilts, but that they became so lousy that they walked away. Whoever the men are who inhabit our jails, they are human beings and deserve consideration as such. A means of getting clean and keeping that way is the least that we can do for them."

Chief Hamilton took this matter up with Mr. Moffitt of the building committee and he has so far neglected to act. It is now up to the council to see that it is done. After bemuddling temporary chairman Lafky considerably with several motions, the resolution was unanimously passed.

Overworked Jackscrews.

Moffitt and his jackscrews were then brought within the range of the mayor's powerful irony as he told why he had vetoed the paying of the bill for the use of the same. He said that such a bill was unjust, unfair, and if paid would be a disgrace to the city. Mr. Moffitt's bill was for the use of several jackscrews which the city had loaned and for which he was making a charge of 25 cents per day, which is the usual charge for the use of the same in this city. The mayor thought, however, that a tool that earned 1,800 per cent or more per year on the money invested in it was working overtime. The jacks cost but $3.50 when new and the city was paying $7.50 per month for the use of them only. This time the council was with the mayor and when a vote was taken, only two voted against his veto.

SOCIALISTS OUTLINE THEIR PLAN OF WORK

The Socialists of Salem held a meeting at Commercial Hall last night to consider the nomination of Socialist candidates candidates for councilmen in the various wards. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the trends of events everywhere is distinctly encouraging to Socialists. The natural and inevitable fruits of capitalism in the high cost of living, and its inability to keep the people employed, presage its early undoing.

In the United States the Socialists now control something like 50 cities, in every one of which, where there has been time for action, they are giving practical demonstration, which for beneficence and economy have never been equaled in this country.

In foreign lands the Socialist party is now nearing complete control of government, and in the very near future will be able to demonstrate on a national scale the beneficence of their political and economic ideas.

1. In local affairs we favor a city-owned water plant, and a city-owned lighting plant, water and light to be furnished the people at cost.

2. All work of public improvement should be done by the city and thus save to the people the money that now goes as profits to the contractors.

3. Home labor should have preference in all public work, and eight hours should constitute a day's labor.
