

PRINCETON DEFEATED YALE TODAY IN BEST PLAYED GAME OF SEASON

WHITE THE "HUMAN BULLET" RAN AWAY FROM PURSUERS SET THE BLEACHERS WILD

Tigers, by Their Victory Today, Win the "Big Four" Championship—The Game Was Won By White, "the Human Bullet," Who Played Left End, and Who Also Won the Game From Harvard—Yale Outplayed Princeton, and Lost Only by Captain Howe Falling Down in Kicking Goal.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18.—With three straight "fluke" victories, the Princeton Tigers today won the "Big Four" championship, the classic of the eastern university football circuit, by defeating Yale, 6 to 3. The contest was won by White, the fast Tiger left end, to whom may also be credited the victory over Harvard. White beat Yale, as he did Harvard two weeks ago, by obtaining the ball on a miscue, and running almost the entire length of the field to a touchdown.

only to have Howe fall to hold up his end under the shadow of the goal posts, with DeWitt booting it out of danger. A disastrously wild pass in which Howe failed to hold the ball in his position at center enabled White to get the ball and score the winning touchdown.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18.—The Yale squad were the first to take the field at 1:50 o'clock, and were greeted by wild cheering. The team came on the field with a snappy rush, while the crowd roared approval of the fine condition shown. Five minutes later the orange and black trotted from their training quarters, their appearance being the signal for another outburst from the grandstands.

The expected kicking game was apparent at the outset, both eleven punting several times. Princeton's much touted ends showed their speed to advantage, consistently smothering the Yale runners on punts. Camp, of Yale, however, evaded matters by long gains around the end after the lineups, which occasionally broke into the kicking exchanges. The Yale attack seemed to be built about the fleet footed left half, who was worked hard by his teammates at every opportunity.

STRANGE CASE PUZZLES THE PHYSICIANS

In a cataleptic trance for two days, Fred Buels, of Silverton, puzzled physicians and County Judge Bushey when he sat in a state of inertia, with closed eyes and to all intents and purposes lifeless, while he was examined. Once his eyelids fluttered as if he were about to open them. Dr. P. A. Loar, of Silverton, who examined Buels, says the case is peculiar, as Buels' body is not rigid like that of a cataleptic. Buels has had nothing to eat nor drink for two days and has not uttered a sound. He was committed to the asylum at the conclusion of his examination.

WILL LET THE GAS OUT OF THE BIG BALLOON

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 18.—Fearing that San Diego might suffer a gas explosion more disastrous than a severe earthquake, Edwin W. Jewell, gas inspector of that city, arrived in Los Angeles today and consulted with the aeronautical society of California regarding the possibility of removing the huge Toller airship from the city to an isolated spot in the mountains. Jewell was advised to secure the services of Roy Knabenshue, the dirigible expert to deflate the airship. At a conference with Knabenshue and officials of the society, at which Jewell explained the situation, it was decided that this could be done, and Knabenshue left for San Diego at noon to superintend the operations.

There are now nearly 6000 United States troops in the vicinity of the Mexican border, although none are actually on the frontier.

STILL THE WOMAN WAS NOT HAPPY

A Klamath woman suing for divorce, says her husband in one of his displays of temper shot holes through a cross-cut saw with a rifle, broke her stove and threw it out of the house, broke her trunk with an ax and burned the pieces, besides burning some of her clothing, broke picture frames and picture he removed from the walls and broke a hay derrick which was hers. Besides this he sold her mowing machine and kept the money, sold her cattle and the only payment he offered therefor was that he would brain her with an axe, if she didn't shut up. And yet with all this hilarity down on the frontier, she declares she was unhappy. Some women are unreasonable.

Japan Gets Foxy.

London, Nov. 18.—Japan has asked the powers to allow the mikado's government to act for them in China, according to semi-official information given out here today. In its request Japan is alleged to have pointed out that it has two full divisions of troops in Korea, and that it can make any desired movement at a moment's notice. The Japanese government said, if authorized to take charge of the situation, it would do so in the interest of all the powers concerned. The Japanese offer is interpreted here as a move to prevent the United States securing too firm a foothold in the country which Japan regards as being within its special sphere of influence.

ACCUSES DISTRICT ATTORNEY

John F. Kelley, Formerly Prominent in San Francisco Independence League, Files Complaint Against Fickert.

$150,000 SPENT TO ELECT

Says Public Service Corporations and Special Interests Put Up the Coin to Elect Him, and Asks the Grand Jury to Investigate—Kelley Says Suit Will Be Filed to Remove Him if Grand Jury Fails to Act.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Charging that special service corporations and special interests spent $125,000 to $150,000 to re-elect District Attorney Charles M. Fickert, at the recent election here, John F. Kelley, formerly prominent in the Independence League, has asked the grand jury to investigate. Failing this, Kelley says, suit will be filed in the superior court to bring about Fickert's removal from office, under the terms of the purity election law. Kelley claims to have traced at least $85,000 of Fickert's alleged campaign fund to the parties to whom the money was paid. He declares that the district attorney and his supporters outrageously violated the law, which says that not more than 10 per cent of the first year's salary shall be spent on a campaign for any office in California.

CHICAGO BEEF BARONS FACE TRIAL THE CASE WILL BE TAKEN UP MONDAY

The Chickens Talked.

Chico, Cal., Nov. 18.—Chickens that talk today are engrossing the attention of the scientists of this metropolis. An exhibition in front of the postoffice by Harold Sumner, a farmer, caused the furor. Sumner brought in a bunch of hens, fed them a brown powder, and they "talked." Any way, they made an awful racket. Sumner explained that the powder was ground phonograph cylinders. Then, to elucidate, he gave one hen a mixture taken from cylinders which carried Harry Lauder's "Safe Test of the Family" and "All Coons Look Alike to Me." The effect was astonishing. The hen strangled to death.

JUDGE KOHLSAAT REFUSED TO ADMIT THEM TO BAIL AND THEY WILL TAKE AN APPEAL

The Charge Against the Packers Is Violation of the Criminal Section of the Sherman Law—Their Attorneys Claim This Section Is Unconstitutional—Federal Judge Kohlsaat Refused to Admit Them to Bail, But Ordered Them Surrendered to Their Present Bondsmen—The Fight Will Be a Bitter One.

[UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE.] Chicago, Nov. 18.—Trial of J. Ogden Armour and nine other beef barons indicted for violation of the criminal section of the Sherman act, will begin here next Monday in the United States district court before Judge Carpenter.

This was decided today when United States Circuit Judge Kohlsaat granted the packers permission to appeal from his decision quashing writs of habeas corpus, but at the same time refused to take the defendants out of the custody of the United States district court and required their surrender back to their sureties who are pledged to the district court to produce them for trial on Monday.

The packers' counsel were granted the right by Judge Kohlsaat to appeal the question as to whether the court erred in quashing the habeas corpus writ. They will carry that point to the United States supreme court. The appeal will also involve an attempt to have the criminal section of the Sherman law declared unconstitutional.

By refusing to admit the defendants to bail and requiring their surrender to their bondsmen, Judge Kohlsaat keeps the packers in the custody of the district court. So far as the lawyers here can figure, it makes it impossible for them to avoid coming to trial on Monday. All the packers except Armour were in court today. After Judge Kohlsaat's decision, they marched out unmolested after Attorney Levy Mayer announced that the appeal granted by Judge Kohlsaat would be filed this afternoon. Immediately after Judge Kohlsaat quashed the habeas corpus writs, Attorney Mayer announced that the packers would appeal, intimating that unless it was allowed he would ask a superior United States court mandamus or a writ of certiorari which would act a supercedens and prevent the trial on Monday. Mayer said: "If the court realizes what he has done he will immediately undo it. At the present time the defendants in this case face debasement, humiliation and ignominy in being locked up until the United States supreme court passes upon the certiorari petition." He painted a gloomy picture of the packers being forced to remain in jail over Thanksgiving.

After Attorney Sheehan opposed the appeal, Judge Kohlsaat permitted it, but forced the packers to surrender to their bondsmen.
