

SOCIETY

Salem's most brilliant society event was given last evening when Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thielson, Miss Thielson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Catlin and Miss Catlin entertained with cards and dancing in Hotel Marion. Every detail of this beautiful affair was most perfectly arranged. The guests were received in the large corridor on the second floor, and here were divans and cushions and floral decorations of carnations, a chrysanthemum and ferns. In a small room opening from this hall a punch bowl was placed for the convenience of those who played cards on the floor. Assisting in the corridor were Mrs. G. G. Bingham, Mrs. S. C. Dyer, Mrs. Ada Strong and Mrs. J. D. Southland. The decorations of the dining room were appropriate for Thanksgiving season. Punch was served in a space used for that purpose, planned under the orchestra balcony. The floor was in perfect condition and the music faultless. Many magnificent gowns were displayed, glittering with silver and gold threads and beautiful jeweled ornamentation. There were dainty frocks of elaborate design to set off girlish beauty. A number of most charming robes were worn by out of town guests while those of the Salem women evidenced the handsomeness of all, making a scene of brilliancy and beauty long to be remembered.

Supper was served in the larger grill, beautiful with floral decorations. At the table, graced with a bouquet of immense fluffy, yellow chrysanthemums, Mrs. Bingham, Mrs. Robe Mrs. Kay and Mrs. Cross poured and Mrs. Dyer with Mrs. Linn served the salad. This last even in society circles was a continuation of the genial cordiality of these two prominent families.

The season's first Assembly party was given Wednesday evening in Hotel Marion, a very large crowd dancing to the fine music of Parson's orchestra from Portland, which will play for the winter Assemblies. Used for decorating the room were great bunches of aglantine, hundreds of college pennants and in honor of Thanksgiving day, innumerable fat, brown turkeys, forming a frieze behind plate rails.

Miss Margaret Rodgers and Miss Helen Rose served punch from a decorated booth under the balcony. Many guests came from out of town to attend the party. Telephoning a few friends, Mrs. S. G. Sargent arranged three tables of bridge for Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Frank Jordan. Mrs. William C. Knighton was awarded high score. A number came later in the afternoon for tea.

Mrs. William C. Knighton asked three tables of bridge for Monday afternoon, complimenting Mrs. Frank Jordan, who is a guest in Salem. Prizes were given Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Henry Myers and Mrs. Sargent. The flowers throughout the rooms were pink and white carnations. A few friends dropped in later for tea. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. George Waters and Mrs. Fredericks Waters.

Doctor and Mrs. F. H. Thompson gave a dinner party last Thursday at their home in Yew Park. The Henry B. Thielson are entertaining as house guests, Mrs. Harriet McArthur, Mrs. E. D. Whitney, Mrs. T. G. Halley, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thielson, Miss Florence Knapp, Miss Helen Whitney, Mr. Latimer Whitney, of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Conaway and Miss Lillian Conaway, of Vancouver.

Mrs. S. C. Dyer and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Walker were guests of the F. H. Kamms in Portland for Thanksgiving day. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dyer (Miss Madeline Walker) will be house guests for some weeks.

Mrs. Willis S. Dunaway has been with the W. Melvine Plimpton for the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Dunaway are not returning to Salem this winter for residence. The Plimptons are occupying their home on Court street.

Mrs. Chauncey Bishop entertained her Kensington club on Tuesday afternoon instead of Friday, the regular day. Miss Hendricks was invited guest.

There was a beautiful wedding in Portland at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bigger, on the fifteenth of November at eight-thirty in the evening, when Ada Mary was united in marriage to Mr. Lewis C. Smith, Reverend O. F. Jones, of the Episcopal church in Newport reading the service of that faith and binding with the ring. The home was artistically decorated. The dining room with quantities of immense yellow chrysanthemums and the first ceremony was performed. The bridal party remained under a large canopy fashioned of white flowers, green foliage and bows of white tulle. The bride's sister, Miss Evelyn Bigger, was her maid, and wore a charming creation, of flowered mull of white, predominating and cap of white, circled with tiny yellow flowers. Her bouquet was of rosebuds. The bride was very lovely in white, veiled in train. Her long, long veil caught with orange blossoms and her flowers an immense bouquet of white roses.

Before the ceremony Miss Alva Broughton sang most beautifully, "Beloved, It Is Morn." Miss Jennie Donnell accompanied; and as the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her away, Miss Dorothy Pierce played the march. The groom's best man was Mr. Davis, of Vancouver, Washington.

A very informal reception followed the ceremony, Miss Helen Linn, Miss Irene Campbell, Miss Lillie Rodgers and Miss Jennie Donnell assisting in the dining room. The bride's gifts were many and very nice. A number of out of town guests were among those who witnessed the ceremony. After a short honeymoon trip, the young couple will reside in Newport, where Mr. Smith is in business.

The Philodotians and Philodotians met last Saturday evening for their third annual Thanksgiving dinner. This affair was given in the home of the Misses Graham at 1137 Court street. Covers were laid for thirty-six at the long table beautifully decorated with the pink rose variety of chrysanthemums and graced at each end with the brown, steaming American bird of the season. As guests, Spindlowheel and Grandmother Dunchhead and his family; the son who is a physician, Doctor Killenmeier and his family; the farmer son, St. Bushwacker, from the foot hills with his family; the millionaire son, Mr. Vandermorgan, his wife and family and the youngest son of the old people, who has very recently taken unto himself a wife. This crowd, costumed correctly, befitting their age and position in life, made a complete fancy dress gathering. Grandmother with her white hair and quaint gown; grandfather, with long white beard and old time costume, not forgetting the air trumpet; the farmer family in overalls and print dresses in contrast to the richly gowned and bejeweled millionaire's family, to say nothing of the short skirted children and long robed infants. It was a merry crowd that enjoyed the elaborate dinner and the evening following.

Mr. and Mrs. William Karon, of Portland, were visiting this week with the Doctor E. E. Lee Steiners. Miss Lucille Abrams, of Eugene, is house guest of Miss Veda Cross. Miss McMaisters, Miss Edith Cheby, Miss Lenora Hanson, of Portland, Miss Erma Clifford, of Eugene, Mr. Roy Prida, Mr. William McMaisters, of Portland; Mr. George Lockery, of Corvallis and Mr. Main, of Eugene, were guests of the Russel Catlins yesterday.

Miss Maud Steward, principal of the State Institute for Feeble-Minded, is enjoying a week end visit from Mrs. Walter D. Humiston, of Potlatch, Idaho, who was a former friend in Minneapolis, Minnesota. She will join Mr. Humiston in Portland for a short visit before returning to their home.

Mrs. William H. Burghardt returned last Saturday evening from a delightful visit with her mother in Oregon City. During her stay, Miss Pratt entertained informally asking a crowd of Mrs. Burghardt's close friends for an afternoon of cards, prizes being awarded Mrs. Charles Griffith and Miss Almee Bollack. There was music and refreshments to round out the afternoon. Miss Pratt's guests were Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr., Mrs. Charles Griffith, Mrs. M. D. Latourette, Mrs. J. Nelson Wisner, Miss Helen Daulton, Miss Dolle Pratt, Miss Almee Bollack, Miss Bess Daulton, Miss Marjorie Canfield, Miss Veda Williams and Miss Zida Goldsmith.

The Enterprise society presented a short program last Monday evening in Williamette university chapel. In music, poetry and art. Mendelssohn, Hood and Constable were illustrated. The characterizations were read by Mrs. Junk and Mr. Perry Reigelman. Miss Linn Slater and Miss Saxter played the piano and Miss Mary Schultz the violin selections. Mr. Reigelman gave the reading of a poem and Mrs. Junk presented the pictures. An assemblage of one hundred Williamette university students in Lawrence hall last Thursday evening made merry with music and games in honor of the football men. Assembly hall was gay with many pennants, and the parlors beautiful in chrysanthemum decorations. There was an informal program of piano duet, by Misses Maud Myers and Pearl Bradley; vocal solo, Miss Ava McMahon; reading, Miss Gretchen Calkins; vocal solo, Merton Delong; reading, Perry Reigelman, and piano solo, Mr. Fredsliff. Refreshments ended the delightful evening.

A Thanksgiving program was presented last Wednesday evening by the boys in the State Training school before an audience that enjoyed every one of the selections. The piano and vocal numbers were a surprise, and showed good training and much practice. The selections were all good. Partly on account of Toy Lee's nationality, but more for his meritorious work, an encore was demanded. The program was: Piano solo, Dean Welcher; recitation, "When I Get to Thinking," Juno Babcock; Thanksgiving day, Toy Lee; solo, Verli Phillips; Boy'stown, Edward Weiss; recitation, "He'd Hed no Show," Willie Miller; recitation, "Always Dinner-time," Crestie Winberg; recitation, "The Owl and the Pussy Cat," Earl Moriat; recitation, "A Yellow Dog's Love for a Nigger," Mike Koski; recitation, "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin," Rufus Lemaster; recitation, "Business Condition," Frank Wilson; recitation, "Loyal Hearts," Albert Lang; song, Dean Welcher, Albert Lang, Frank Wilson, Verli Phillips; A Boy's Lecture, James Riggs.

The November meeting of the German Ladies' society was held at the home of Mrs. Dorfner on Division street last week Thursday. The afternoon's program was very entertaining. Vocal music by Mrs. George Schreiber, Mrs. Paulus and Mrs. Kaup; a recitation, "The Dutchman and Mother-in-law," by Mrs. Paulus, which was very comical and given in broken English. Miss Berndorfner and Miss Graetinger assisted with serving refreshments. The members of the society at this meeting were Mrs. Schreiber, Mrs. Hofer, Mrs. Heysler, Mrs. Kaup, Mrs. Grimmel, Mrs. Rosenberger, Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Gantenbein, Mrs. Bach, Mrs. Graetinger, Mrs. Markewitch, Mrs. Paulus and Mrs. Berndorfner.

The class party of senior members of liberal arts department of Williamette university was held at the home of Miss Alta Altman, on Liberty and Chemeketa streets, last week Friday. Music, merry games and a Dutch lunch made a jolly evening. This marked the first of the class meetings for the season. Quite out of the ordinary was an entertainment with which the seniors amused the junior class in the High school last Wednesday evening. A "country fair" was given, the halls being turned into "picks," while the class rooms opening from the hall were used for side shows. Highly advertised by "spielers" possessing a great flow of language, were the wonderful things to be seen, from an Egyptian mummy to an incubator baby. In addition to all this there was an "Orpheum Circuit" attraction of "four topplers," given in the assembly hall. An actress of high degree and magnificent costume (Miss Nannette Bloom) charmed the audience with a monologue; "Dancing Antiques," by one of the popular boys, brought to light a talent in cultivation, as fine as his voice. Amost thorough knowledge of the "suffragette" question was exhibited when Arnen Schreiber, representing the strong-minded person in woman's attire, delivered an interesting address. Out of the natural building material in two boys an oratorical freak was compiled which for unmanliness could not be surpassed. The same absence of dignity was carried out at refreshment hour. Hot "wieners" and rye bread with punch served as lemonade and ice cream in cones. The seniors were assisted by the sophomores and freshmen. The guests numbered about one hundred and seventy-five.

No birthday surprise has been more genuine than the celebration of Mrs. Frank Robinson's last Wednesday evening, when her immediate neighbors appeared at the Robinson house on South Thirteenth street, bringing a gift of twelve pieces of china and the collation to be served during the evening. The presentation in behalf of the guests was made by Mrs. Todd, who congratulated Mrs. Robinson and assured her of their great appreciation of her splendid neighborly qualities and good works. The recipient of this attention responded happily, assuring her guests that love for them and the delight with which she received their beautiful token. Mrs. Robinson is president of Yew Park circle of First Methodist church. The guests who gathered for this happy hour were Mrs. E. H. Todd, Mrs. Henry Ratcliff, Professor and Mrs. James Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lias, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lathan, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Luthy, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dennison, Miss Florence Todd, Miss Annie Ratcliff, Miss Alda Lias, Miss Vincent, Henry, Jr., Melbourne and Norris Ratcliff, Clara Lias, Osmond Lathan and John Dennison.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Knighton gave a family dinner on Thanksgiving day, asking for guest Mr. B. W. Oleott. Miss Avis Chapman spent her Thanksgiving day in Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Trover entertained with a dinner last Thursday in their home at 1830 North Water street.

Mrs. Sherman of Portland, with her daughters Miss Vina Sherman and Miss Minette Sherman, are guests of Mrs. James Culver.

The sixteenth annual memorial service of Salem Elks will be held in the Grand opera house tomorrow afternoon, when for the first time Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer of this city, Mrs. Bauer's voice is a magnificent soprano with every quality that makes perfect music. Mr. J. Ross Fargo, also of Portland, who has recently returned from Paris where his splendid tenor voice was rounded to perfection, will be presented to Salem music lovers at this service. Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr. (Miss Martha Draper of Oregon City) who is a most excellent pianist and very well known throughout the state, will accompany the soloists. Adding much to the program, an orchestra under direction of Mr. C. J. Kurth, will give a number of selections during the afternoon. The memorial address will be delivered by Judge R. R. Butler, who is an eloquent speaker.

Professor T. S. Roberts, assisted by Miss Viola Vercler, violin, and Mr. Frank Sanders, piano, presented a recital last Tuesday evening, at the Oregon Institute for the Blind in dedication of the Estey pipe organ, made in Brattleboro, Vermont, which was installed a month ago by the Sherman-Clay company of Portland, Oregon. This instrument, most beautiful in tone and of attractive appearance, has compass manuals CC to C, sixty-one notes and compass of pedals CCC to F, thirty notes.

Great Organ—The stops, with number of pipes are open diapason (open basses), 61 pipes; dulciana (lower octave grooved to No. 3), 49 pipes; melodia, 61 pipes; octave, 61 pipes. Swell Organ—Salictonal (lower octave grooved to No. 5), 49 pipes; stoppage diapason, 61 pipes; flutes harmonic, 61 pipes; oboe, 49 pipes; vox celeste, 49 pipes. Pedal Organ—Bourdon, 30 pipes. Couplers—Swell to great, swell to great (octaves), swell to pedal, great to pedal.

Pedal Movements—Balanced swell pedal and crescendo pedal. There are six mechanical accessories and an electric blower. The dedication program was as follows: Bach, Prelude and Fugue in G minor; Rogers, (a) Intermezzo, (b) March; Rubinstein, Kamennoi-Ostrow; Dubois, Tocatta; Bachman, Chanson Balade. Gounod, Grand Processional March from "Queen of Sheba"; Lennard, Andantino; Wieniawski, Legend; Frysinger, Benediction Nuptiale; Wagner, Introduction to Third Act and Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

Mr. Roberts knows more about the instrument than does an average organist, and the fine numbers on the program gave such delight to his hearers, that the effect was unmistakable. Splendidly executed was the famous fugue in G minor; he reached a grand climax in the final crashing minor chord of this wonderful composition of dainty melody, Chanson Balade, which called for a touch of delicacy and clearness, showing in this strong contrast the versatility of this talented young organist.

A violin selection by Miss Viola Vercler is always welcome; in duet with Mr. Roberts last Tuesday the number captivated the audience and was received with persistent applause. Responsive, Miss Vercler played a favorite selection, Drella's "Souvenir." Mr. Roberts following with beautiful accompaniment. Mr. Frank Sanders' piano work was a revelation to his hearers. With faultless technique and most sympathetic interpretation, his solo and duet part with organ spoke eloquently of more than ordinary talent, and excellent training.

It is to be regretted that a larger modality could not have been accommodated in the chapel, for enjoyment of this recital of special merit. The Six O'clock club enjoyed a pleasant evening last Monday in the parlors of First Methodist church. A two hour session was given over to speech making, and the supper served by East Central circle of the Ladies' Aid society. Congressman Hawley introduced by Superintendent Powers, gave the chief address. E. Hofer and others following with short talks. The guests numbered about ninety-five. Attendance at these popular suppers is constantly growing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lewis gave an evening in their home at 165 North Thirteenth street last week Friday, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Luper, with music and games, refreshments following.

Mrs. James H. Murphy of Portland is the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Knighton.

For Thanksgiving and the week end visit, there was an exodus this week of many teachers and students in the Salem schools. Offsetting this were crowds of girls and boys returning from out of town college and university. Among the number, the Misses Gladys Cartwright, Jennie Fry, Mildred Bagley, Genevieve Cooper, Catherine Carson, Esther Carson, Grace Bean, Lyle Steiwer, Russell Brooks, William Mott, Jessup Strang, Ralph Moores, Alonzo Perkins, Millan McGeheist, Wallace Benson, Hawley Bean, Leland Hendricks, Ercei Kay.

The Salem Women's club will hold their annual meeting on December thirtieth in the parlors of First Congregational church, on Liberty and Center streets. It is hoped there will be a very large number of members and friends in attendance. The entertainment will be a musical recital under the direction of Miss Minnetta Magers, with the following program: Piano, Country Dance (Nevin), Misses LaRue East and Leila Slater; (a) Love's Echo (Newton), (b) Don Desir (Nevin), Miss Gertrude Erikson; vocal duet, selected, Mrs. C. L. Starr and Miss Ruth Pugh; piano, Ed Lorey (Seeling), Mrs. Vera Schaupt Trickey; (a) Summer-time's Song (Olaf Spake), (b) Remembrance (Seifman), Miss Inez Dennison; Serenade (Strauss), Miss Greta Phillips; (a) The Nightingale (Stephens), (b) O Little House of Dreams (Metcalf), (c) Goodbye (Toschi), Miss Mable Lantz; piano, G Minor Ballad (Chopin), Mrs. Vera Schaupt Trickey; accompanist, Miss Bernice Sauter and Miss Myrtle Lantz.

To a very large audience, filling Armory hall, on Thursday evening the German society of Salem presented the following program, introducing Doctor Emil Enna, pianist, of Portland, and his sister, Miss Harriet Enna, lieder singer, recently from German and numbers by the Salem German Verein, Frederick Heyer director, phonograph concert in assembly Professor Kurz.

Miss Enna was graduated from the Royal Conservatory of Copenhagen, the metropolis of art for Northern Europe, and has been in this country for three months. The polish and fine art of European training was added to nature's gift of a sweet, sympathetic voice. Miss Enna's folk songs were given with fine interpretation. Her voice is light and delicate, but under marvelous control. She is a true artist in her rendition of these most difficult Danish and German lieder. At the close of the first part of the program, a persistent encore brought an English song, dainty and petite, most beautifully sung. Ecquiste and delicate was "Halden-Roslein" and pathetic the "Adieu."

The F. P. Talkingtons had as guest for Thanksgiving dinner, Mr. Morris Abraham, of San Francisco.

On the evening of Thanksgiving day in the home of the bride's parents, Grace Viola Brady was united in marriage to Homer Aaron Dove, the Reverend W. T. Tapscott officiating. The living room was beautifully decorated with ferns, Oregon grape and white carnations. The dining room was artistic with pink and white carnations and ferns. Miss Alice Tapscott played the wedding march as the bridal party entered. Relatives and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride's gown was cream color and her bouquet of white carnations. Following the ceremony was an elaborate luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Dove will make their home on the groom's Liberty road farm, but a short distance removed from the home of Mrs. Dove's parents.

Miss Flora Grice was very delightfully surprised last Saturday evening when, upon returning from a visit in Independence, she found the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Grice, filled with friends who had assembled to honor her eighteenth birthday. The many gifts presented on this occasion were beautiful and useful. Games played formed the entertainment, followed by the birthday feast. Two of the guests, Charles Adams and John Lynch, were allowed to assist Miss Grice in cutting her cake, owing to the fact of the event coming on their natal days. The guests for this surprise party were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Southwick, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Koch, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bouffleur, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. L. L.
