SAVE YOURSELF There is no reason why you should always be a slave.

If you are desirous of saving yourself or a friend from a drunkard's grave, you cannot afford to overlook the opportunity offered at the Hot Lake Sanatorium for the cure of the liquor and drug habit. IDAHO AND OREGON CAR IN THE EAST

Idaho and Oregon divide a car between them. The feature of the Idaho exhibit is that state's wonderful water power. Handsome photographs showing the lakes, rivers and waterfalls of Idaho are hung along the sides of the car. A large map shows the work that is now being done to develop this water power and the result that will be attained. One of the largest dams in the world will soon give Idaho some very remarkable water power, and this is all set forth in the Idaho exhibit. A most important part of this exhibit is that occupied by wheat, rye and oats. Idaho wants to show the east and the world at large that she grows the very best wheat and oats to be found anywhere. The other small grains and both the wild and tame grasses, are an important part of the Idaho exhibit. Alfalfa, the mortgage lifter, is shown from all parts of the state. Minerals will also be found an interesting exhibit. Lead and copper from the famous Coeur d'Alene district have their place in the exhibits of the state. James W. Jones of the bureau of immigration, labor and statistics of Idaho is in charge of the exhibit. The Oregon exhibit is divided into three sections. That section showing the natural products of Central Oregon features the small grains, wild and tame grasses and alfalfa. It is shown that this grass flourishes in all counties of the central part of the state, and that it is often the mainstay of the western farmer. It is a splendid food for fattening his stock and often helps him to lift the mortgage from his farm. The exhibit will also show that wheat is another well-established crop, while rye and oats are important all over the state. Another section of the car shows fine exhibits from the eastern part of the state, and still another section holds the exhibit of the western part of the state. Celery and asparagus, peaches, apricots, pears and apples complete the fruit exhibit. A beautiful salmon carefully preserved in a tall glass jar points to one of the chief industries of the state. The exhibit also gives a good idea of the magnitude of the water power of Oregon.

STEFFENS HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH CASE

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—Positive denial that Lincoln Steffens was a factor in arranging for the McNamara's to plead guilty was made by District Attorney Fredericks today. The first offer of a plea in the case, he said, was made to him last July, and was that if he would consent to a plea of guilty by J. B. McNamara and would let J. F. McNamara go free this would be done. He stated that he refused the offer, insisting that he could easily convict both men, and that finally Darrow and Davis came to his terms.

Would force Russia. Resolutions calling upon congress to demand of Russia that all American citizens be recognized and protected, no matter what their race or religion, while within Russian territory, or in default of such protection that the present treaty with Russia be abrogated by the United States, were presented in the California legislature today by Senator Wolfe.

AUTOS CARRY BIG LOADS OF FREIGHT

Bend, Or., Dec. 4.—The success of the auto truck as a freight carrier in that portion of Central Oregon not yet penetrated by railroad was shown by the first trip from here to Burns and return by the Central Oregon Trucking company's cars, which completed the round trip Saturday. The two big Packard machines made the 200 miles with a perfect score, the drivers declaring the road excellent. The cars left here Monday afternoon, arriving at the Harney county seat at 11 a. m. Wednesday. Their actual running time was 19 hours. One car carried 7200 pounds of freight and the other 7500 pounds. The biggest part of it was for Bill Hanley, and was delivered to his ranch near Burns. Some Thanksgiving goods for Burns merchants also was taken through in time to be sold before the holidays. The return trip was made in 14 hours' actual running time. About as much freight was brought back as taken from here, consisting mostly of hides.

A scene from "Checkers" at The Grand, December 4.

CHECKERS ONE OF THE VERY BEST

A SPLENDID PLAY AT THE GRAND TONIGHT—A PLAY FULL OF LIFE AND MOVEMENT, AND NOT A DULL MOMENT IN IT.

"Checkers" will play its engagement at the Grand Opera House tonight. There is no reason to doubt that this charming play is to the liking of the theater-goers of this city. "Checkers" is one of those plays which live. It has the heart interest which is essential to a play's long life and the story of which this heart interest is the soul is as simple in its unfolding as though it had flowed from the pen of Addison. Its wit is keen; its humor natural and spontaneous. The lines snap one another like the crack of the whip, and though some of the utterances are clothed in slang, there is, nevertheless, a homely, forceful wisdom in them quite, if not more, powerful in its effect than had they been put in the choicest of English. There is nothing of the suggestive in "Checkers". It is a play which all can see and bring their youngest and their oldest. And yet there is nothing of the nabby-pamby milk-and-water element about it. Even the blase old playgoer who has seen pretty nearly everything that has passed in his lifetime and has grown particular, not only sits through the entire performance but has been

DON'T LIE TO YOUR WIFE BUT PLAY 'CHECKERS'

"Don't Lie to Your Wife" drew a fairly good house at the Grand Saturday night, and deserved all the patronage it got, and more. The play is light as to plot, but is one continuous laugh from curtain to curtain, as the ridiculous circumstances come fast and furious on each other's heels. The company is a strong one, evenly balanced, and give an evening of jollity to their patrons, that makes dull care fly away, and the blues turn pink with blushes at the very idea that they could exist. It was good. Tonight "Checkers", a splendid play, strongly presented.

UNCLE SAM TO GET AFTER THE 'HIGHER UPS'

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—Much significance is attached to a conference today between District Attorney Fredericks and Assistant United States District Attorney Regan, which lasted nearly an hour. While Regan would make no definite statement as to the nature of the conference, he admitted that he had discussed the McNamara case. It is reported that one of the things considered was the federal probe here, at San Francisco and at Indianapolis, and that important developments could be expected within a few days. Regan said that the result of the conference was entirely satisfactory to both himself and the district attorney. District Attorney Fredericks refused to discuss it.

known to go time and again. The company presenting "Checkers" is deserving of high praise. The title role is in the hands of Hobart Cavanaugh, and Dave Braham, continues in his famous characterization of "Push" Miller. Miss Florence Weston will be seen as "Peri" Barlow, with whom Checkers falls in love. The supporting company is said to be one of the best on the road, including Carrie Lamont, Joseph Wilkes, Pauline Eberhard and George Merritt of the original company.

I can not say too much in their praise." Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney or bladder disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more. H.
