

SOCIETY

We wish to urge people of Salem to become more familiar with the work of the open air sanatorium and the state anti-tuberculosis sanatorium located in this city, both for their own and the community's good. The work at these two institutions in forecasting, guiding and controlling the anti-tuberculosis movement in this state will mean the prevention of costly errors, and will also mean the hastening of the desired result—the eradication or the great diminution of the disease. The Salem Woman's club will distribute this year, the funds collected from the sale of red cross stamps throughout the state. At present there is encouraging indication for a heavy sale. The federated clubs have sent for quantities of stamps and all are working untiringly to make this Christmas tide sale larger than that of any previous year. Booths have been established at the U. G. Shipley company, H. W. and L. M. Meyers, Patton Brothers and the Commercial Book store.

The little folks attending kindergarten school, were invited by William Sherman Plimpton to join in celebrating his fifth birthday on the seventh of December. The party was given in the school rooms at 162 South Church street.

Under the delightful guidance of Miss Anna Nowlan, who understands so well the methods of entertaining very small girls and boys, the children enjoyed a merry afternoon.

The rooms were gaily decorated with festoons of red and green and Christmas bells in many sizes. These added to the pictures and kindergarten ornaments made very pretty surroundings. Screened from the smaller room, where the table was laid, the big play room was filled with happy youngsters enjoying familiar games and a snowball romp, all ending in a grand march with the birthday boy carrying an American flag at the head of the line. The screens were removed and the beautiful table disclosed. Each tiny guest stood until the signal was given when the little chairs were quietly filled. The festive board was covered with a Christmas spread bearing holly and fat little Santies, with dollies and napkins made to match. A Christmas tree centered the table, bright with its tinsel and red globe, while red lighted tapers in little candlesticks and candelabra were placed in length. Sherman presided at the head and in front of him was the beautiful big birthday cake with its five red candles and one to grow on, all brightly burning. Each place was marked with a little red basket filled with bon-bons. Ice cream was served in flower shaped cups of confectionery. The supreme moment came when Sherman puffed the candles and cut his cake. The invitations to kindergarten friends included Barbara Benham, Priscilla Fry, Helen Hopkins, Katherine Craig Hartley, Barbara Merritt, Louise Eustice Patterson, Janet Plimpton, Hanford Palmer Post, Marshall Brown, Marlin Mulehaupt, Ivan Bertif White, Carl Andrew Lee, Deryl Franklin Myers, Edwin Goodenough Winfield Charles Clark, Chester Kurtz and Dennis Henman, Helen Roberts, Henry Wesley Thelens and Robert Smith were also invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. McNary entertained very delightfully the Nemo club, last Tuesday evening when eight tables of five hundred were played. In addition to the club members, a few guests were asked. High scores gave prizes to Miss Hutton and Doctor R. E. Lee Steiner.

Miss Veda Cross entertained informally last Saturday evening for the pleasure of her guest, Miss Lucile Abrams, of Eugene.

Mr. Carey Martin's mother, Mrs. Caroline Martin, of Eugene is a guest of the family for a stay of some length.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cross gave a small dinner party last Wednesday evening, complimenting Miss Ellen Thelens's guest, Miss Helen Whitney, of Portland.

The members of Nachen Verein were entertained by Mrs. Stanley Morgan last Saturday in her apartments on North Commercial street. The day being the third anniversary of Mrs. Morgan's wedding, the club presented her with an immense bouquet of splendid yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Esther Ryan was invited guest.

This has been a week of church bazaars and cooked food sales. Among the very successful was that given by the women of St. Joseph parish in the hall on Chemeketa street. This affair was under the direction of Mrs. Eckerlin, Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Haas, with Mrs. Seymour Skiff and Mrs. August Hockenstein in charge of the candy booth.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien serving refreshments.

The Senior and Junior Guilds, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, closed last evening a most profitable Christmas sale of useful and fancy articles and home-made candy.

The Salem Woman's club is entertaining this afternoon for their annual guest day, presenting a musical program under direction of Miss Minnette Magers.

Miss Sophia Catlin telephoned a few of the younger crowd for last Tuesday evening in compliment to Miss Bertha McMasters, of Portland, who was her guest, Miss McMasters returned to her home yesterday.

Miss Alice Lupton inaugurated the Christmas parties last Monday when she asked a few girl friends for an evening of most enjoyable entertainment, followed by luncheon. The reds and greens of Christmas tide gaily decorated the rooms. The lights were covered with shades of the same bright hue. On the table were bells and red candles in sticks and the places were marked by cards in the shape of a sole; bearing Christmas greetings from the hostess.

Surrounding the table were Miss Eleanor Colony, Miss Eunice Craig, Miss Lola De Long, Miss Olive N. Metcalf, Miss Mabel DeLong, Miss Marie Schwab, Miss Helen Litchfield, Miss Nettie Belle Chenoweth, Miss Nellie Schwab, Miss Mary Wann, Miss Frankie Newman, and Mrs. Ralph Scharf (Miss Francis Smith).

Mrs. Ada Strong is settled in her apartment at 485 South Commercial street.

Colonel and Mrs. E. Hofer returned last Monday from Klamath Falls where they were guests at the opening of White Pelican hotel.

A banquet was given last Monday night in Hotel Marion, when seventy-five members and grand officers of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen entertained in honor of their guests, Mr. William Koch and Mr. W. E. Davy.

The dining room and tables were beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns. The following menu was served:

Oyster Cocktail
Olives
Riced Potatoes
Cheese
With Mr. Frederick Bynon as toastmaster, the following toasts were responded to:

"The Brotherhood of American Yeomen," Grand Foreman, William Kock.
"The Gentlemen," Worthy Foreman, Doctor M. E. Pomeroy.
"The Ladies," Chief Correspondent, W. E. Davy.
"W. C. P. and D.," State Manager, W. A. Bullock.
"Ladies in Fraternal Work," Mrs. Helen Kinwood Bollin.
"The Life of a Deputy," Major T. J. Buford.
"The Sunny Side of Life," Miss Minnette Magers.
"Our Wives and Sweethearts," Professor F. Z. Bartley.
Other toasts by other guests.

Miss Anna Nowlan, who established a kindergarten school in Salem a few months ago, is meeting with deserved success in her chosen profession. The children entrusted to her care are from three to six years of age and exhibit the greatest interest in their work. Miss Nowlan, of forceful character and charming personality is a staunch believer in discipline.

The Priscilla club met with Mrs. A. L. Brown yesterday afternoon, and adjourned until after the holidays.

Miss Gertrude Erixon asked a small crowd for last Tuesday evening when she entertained informally with cards.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Plimpton and Mrs. Plimpton's mother, Mrs. B. Miller, came up from Portland to surprise Mr. W. Melvine Plimpton on the occasion of his birthday, which occurs together with his son Sherman's, making a family house party of four generations. They are returning to Portland today, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Plimpton and children.

On the program for Memorial services in Albany lodge number 359, B. P. O. Elks last Sunday were the names of Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, who sang "Absent" by John W. Metcalf and Mascagni's "Ave Maria" from Cavalleria Rusticana, with Miss Georgia Booth accompanist and Miss Viola Vercler, violin obligato. Miss Vercler played two numbers, "Romanza," Arthur Hartman, and "Scherzo." Goetz.

In a note from Miss Joy Turner, who is hard at work with her violin and piano music in the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Massachusetts she speaks of the climate being far behind that of Oregon in excellence. In addition to her studies she finds time for advanced professional work. There are three thousand students attending this conservatory. Miss Turner's address is Gardiner hall, 133 Hemenway street, Boston, Mass.

Miss Jeffries was hostess for the Nemo club last Monday evening, at the home of Miss Hansen on Church street. This crowd of young women will gather every two weeks to enjoy a social evening of five hundred in the most informal manner. There will be no special decorations, no prizes and limited refreshments. The club members are Mrs. Sweet, the Misses Hansen, Harding, Kruse, Bannard, Hobbs, Putnam, Jeffries, Hegon, Culver, Hurlburt, Dayton and Downing. Miss Jeffries invited guests were Misses Bertha and Myrtle Duncan, Miss Iris Hanna and Miss Carrie Purkheiser.

One of a series of entertainments to be given by the High school literary society was enjoyed last Monday morning, when students and their friends listened to a well-selected program and an address by President Jewett. The number presented were piano solo and duet by Miss La Rue East, Miss Lola Slater and Miss East; violin solo, Miss Mary Schultz; readings, Russell Fields and Cleve Simpkins; vocal solo, Arthur Taso.

Miss Hazel McIntyre of South Nineteenth street returned from Portland last Sunday, after attending the Vesper-Doaneka wedding in Highland Congregational church on Tuesday evening, when she presided at the organ playing the bridal marches. Before removing to Salem for residence, Miss McIntyre was a member of the choir, which was considered one of the best in the city. She is a graduate pianist and vocalist, possessing a voice of natural beauty smoothed by good training.

Miss Ethel Fletcher entertained the Entre Nous embroidery club yesterday afternoon in her home on Fourth and Market streets. A literary program is presented at these gatherings every other week. Mrs. L. H. Fletcher gave a report on settlement work. Mrs. Peter Graber a talk on help about home affairs. Miss Nell Nichol an article on the Italian war. Miss Haupt spoke most interestingly on the subject of the education of nutes. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lewis H. Fletcher.

On the evening of the eighteenth of this month Mrs. Sara Brown Savage will present her pupils in a program and also forming the cast of a charming society comedy.

While she was absent last week Wednesday evening, a crowd of Mrs. James Godfrey's friends invaded her home at 214 Court street, planning a birthday surprise, which was successfully carried out. As Mrs. Godfrey entered the house the lights were turned on, displaying to her bewilderment a merry company in possession. A delightful evening followed the presentation of a beautiful piece of cut glass, Mr. Burdick making the congratulatory address. There was music and games and a fine luncheon. Mrs. Bernard and Mrs. Branson assisted. Guests for the evening were Mrs. L. K. Page, Mrs. Ida Niles Miss Minnie Moulter, Mr. and Mrs. Jackman, Mr. and Mrs. Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. Ellingson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Vall, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Branson and Mr. Glenn Niles.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richmond Matthews are pleasantly settled in their new home at 2404 Cedar street, Berkeley, California.

Mrs. Seymour Skiff and her small daughter Alicia Irene returned last Sunday from a delightful fortnight's visit with her parents in Portland.

Mr. Frank Waters of Portland, who has been in New York and Chicago for the past three weeks, stopped off in Salem last Wednesday, for the day's visit with his mother, Mrs. E. E. Waters.

Mrs. L. A. Westcott of Rickreal was the guest of Mrs. Ada Strong for a few days this week.

Doctor and Mrs. F. H. Thompson went to Albany this week where the doctor attended the medical association meeting and Mrs. Thompson visited friends.

Miss Zona Haight of Albany will be week end guest of Mrs. Lillian Josse Harris.

Coming too late for publication in this department last week, were the items of a most elaborate Thanksgiving dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Snyder, 85 Hollywood drive, Hollywood. The affair was in honor of Salem residents who formerly lived in Oklahoma. The rooms and long tables were beautifully decorated with Oregon grape and ferns, and laden with the best of viands, all grown in Hollywood.

As after-dinner entertainment, there was music by Professor Harr, Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe and Mr. Frederick House. The latter singing, "There is no place like Oregon," his own composition. One thoughtful guest brought "Oklahoma," but no felt inclined to sing the joys of living in that country.

Among Thanksgiving telegrams was one from the firm of Worden, Johnson, Drew and Parnell, waterworks builders, who will arrive in Salem before long to look over the project of installing a plant in Hollywood, where a number of families from Oklahoma have settled.

Including the children there were fifty guests for this dinner party, among whom were Reverend and Mrs. Leising, Mr. and Mrs. J. Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. L. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harr, Mr. and Mrs. J. T.

Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bedwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCleary, Mrs. Grace Webber, Mrs. Mary Bedwell, Miss Kate Hunt, Miss Cory, Miss Hunt, Misses Mary and Georgia Rouse, Mr. Alden Hunt, Mr. Gustave Leising, Mr. Earl Hunt, Mr. H. A. La Bier, Mr. C. D. Rouse and Mr. Walter Snyder.

Items for an account of the opening of the beautiful new hotel in Klamath Falls, Ore., were sent to the editor of this department for publication in this week's issue. In christening the White Pelican, Miss Louise Benson, surrounded by a large number of guests, broke a bottle of champagne on the stone steps of the front entrance. The lobby and dining room were decorated most elaborately with holly berries and cut flowers. A grand big fire place in the dining room gave the charming atmosphere which spoke of comfort. Manager J. E. Bower worked unceasingly and made the opening of the White Pelican the largest event ever recorded in Southern Oregon. A banquet was given to three hundred guests on Saturday night, and followed after-dinner speakers, Judge Henry L. Benson, a brother of the late Governor Frank Benson, was toastmaster and introduced each speaker in a manner that never failed to win a round of applause. Among the speakers was Burr McIntosh, so well known throughout the state as a most interesting entertainer, and Colonel E. Hofer, who spoke most enthusiastically of the future of Klamath Falls. He made the assertion that Eugene, Salem and Klamath Falls will, before long, rival Portland.

An informal dance followed the banquet, the music furnished by the White Pelican orchestra. The affair was made a society event and marked an epoch in the history of Klamath Falls. There were many guests from Portland, San Francisco and intermediate towns.

A basket social was given in Howell Prairie school house at Hazel Green on the evening of December the first. From proceeds gathered when the baskets were sold, some of them very beautiful and well-filled with good things to eat, lumber was bought for a shed which is completed and will be used for the shelter of horses and bringing the children to school. For the evening's entertainment there was an address by Superintendent Smith, an illustrated lecture by Mr. C. C. Thompson of Salem vocal music, recitations and games. About two hundred guests crowded the school house.

Last Monday evening a program was given in the Elks hall, honoring Mr. Koch, grand foreman, and Mr. William Davy, grand correspondent of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen. These officers are from Des Moines, Iowa, which is headquarters for the association. Mr. Ben W. Olcott introduced the speakers, who gave very interesting addresses. Doctor Marguerite Pomeroy presided over this meeting of the order, which is not entirely a men's order, but accepts women who signify a desire to become members. The very entertaining program included a piano duet, "Piccolo Fantasia," Brahms, by Professor Frank Churchill and Miss Clara Neuberger; readings, Miss Emma Kiehl, Mrs. Miss Blanche Liston; vocal solos, Miss Gertrude Erixon and Miss Lola DeLong, and two numbers by the Willamette glee club.

In memoriam the Salem lodge number 336, B. P. O. E., held its sixteenth annual service of sorrow last Sunday afternoon at the Grand opera house, in the presence of an immense audience. After opening ceremonies including the silent roll call, Father Moore spoke the words of the invocation. Under direction of Mr. C. J. Kurth the orchestral music including Chopin's "Funeral March," "Heart to Heart," by Prinkaus, and the "Tartar of the Navy" by Morse, was very excellent.

In their beautiful selections, soprano and tenor, the splendid voices of Mrs. Rose Bloch Bauer and Mr. J. Ross Fargo, with Mrs. William Burghardt's perfect accompaniments, thrilled the audience with the charm of their music. Judge R. R. Butler's most entertaining and excellently delivered address gave a thorough knowledge of the works and benefits of the Elks association, and left no room in the minds of the audience for adverse criticism of the order. The ceremonies concluded with Doxology sung by the members and audience, and benediction by Reverend Barr G. Lee.

Mrs. Mary C. Parsons of Portland, will be a guest for the winter of her daughter, Mrs. O. P. Hoff.

Mrs. C. K. Spaulding of Newberg was guest of the Roy H. Miller last week, enjoying the family dinner on Thanksgiving day and remaining for the week end.

In compliment to Judge R. R. Butler of The Dalles, a dinner was given

A large audience greeted Mrs. Olive Enright last Tuesday afternoon when she delivered a splendid address before the Salem Equal Suffrage association at the Woman's Christian Temperance union hall. The subject of Mrs. Enright's talk was "Personal Responsibility." Members of the association making impromptu speeches were Mrs. F. B. Spothwick, Mrs. Catherine Spray, Mrs. Good, Mrs. Frank Erixon and Mrs. E. M. Vandervoort.

When the Salem high school building was opened last Thursday evening for inspection, an immense crowd filled the halls and rooms. It there was any one who doubted the efficiency of its system of work before witnessing the demonstrations, there certainly was a change of heart at the evening's close. Salem is truly and justly proud of this splendid building, the ability of its teachers and the enthusiasm of its learners.

Mr. William G. Martin of Eugene, accompanied by his little daughter Josephine, visited Salem last Wednesday and Thursday for business and pleasure.

An interesting program had been prepared for entertainment of the guests; Miss Bertha Clark gave a charming whistling solo. Miss Mary Schultz played most beautifully on her violin. Miss Bertha Meyers and Cleve Simpkins delighted with readings. Short talks were given by Mayor Lachmund, Doctor Pittsboro, Doctor Miles and School Director P. J. Laiky. Swartz's orchestra gave pleasure with their excellent music during the evening.
