HERE ARE A FEW HINTS OF THE COMING MODES

PARISIAN SPRING MODELS—FABRICS AND TEXTURES—OPPORTUNITIES PRESENTED TO THE CLEVER SHOPPERS.

New York, Jan. 13.—Spring models are already to be seen in certain quarters known to the initiated, and the woman who wants her clothes to stay in style is always interested in the best Parisian gowns, for these have a way of remaining undated until they are worn out.

Skirt Lines.
Skirts will remain narrow, and those without other trimming than plait down the middle of the front and back are endorsed by Paquin for the street suit. On the other hand limp ruffles are to be worn on skirts of foulard and similar light, clinging fabrics. Crepe de chine is once more in the forefront of fashionable fabrics and is very much used for odd blouses as well as for entire frocks.

Black and White.
Black and white is an old story yet this combination remains and bids fair to continue in the van of modish effects. The combinations are simply endless and whatever the figure, age or complexion, the sable and white can be arranged becomingly. White lace or tulle can be used near the face, and this is sure to be complimentary to anyone. Then all one's belongings go together and are interchangeable which makes for economy, and if one must have color a dash is easily introduced in a flower—one of the silk or velvet kind that have been such popular gifts lately.

Some Instances.
A coat suit of ratine or velour de laine has a shawl collar and cuffs of black fur. The hat of white ratine is banded with matching fur, Cossack fashion. A black satin suit has enormous revers and flaring cuffs of white ratine—a cloth of velvet texture—a white satin waistcoat with crystal buttons, and a hat of black velvet with its rolling brim caught back with a white cockade.

For the Theatre.
For the theatre a gown of black satin with a skirt and waist line, has a Grecian blouse of white chiffon edged with a necklace of rhinestone trimmings and over the left shoulder a strap of black draped tulle, caught with a rhinestone ornament at the back and falling, sash fashion, to the hem of the skirt.

Long Coats.
Long coats of many styles are indispensable in a well dressed woman's wardrobe, and if well selected, are an excellent investment, since they have a way of looking right for many more seasons than any dress will last. Women who plan cleverly, or have Christmas money to spend are taking advantage of the reductions being offered in all the best stores, where it is not considered desirable to carry over stock to another season. Model coats of fur fit for an empress can be had at two-thirds of their former markings. Genuine seal coats that a few weeks since were nearly a thousand dollars can be bought for six hundred, more astrachan for $450, and so on down the line to small furs and auto coats, caps, gloves and robes. C. C. Shayne is showing irresistible bargains in furs just now with their well known quality guarantee.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

Dress Models.
French dresses that have done duty as models at the up-to-date shops can now be bought for the price of a copy, and while they always need to be sewed over, because the stitching is so poor, they are well worth the trouble at the price asked for them. Hats, lingerie, in fact almost everything, has tumbled from the former altitude and endless opportunities are offered for the clever buyer who will invest in staple styles liable to last, while her injudicious neighbor will carry off some flaring novelty that she and her friends will tire of seeing in a month or less. It's a wise woman who knows how to shop. LUCY CARTER.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach grow or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. J. C. Golden's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. PLAYS THAT ARE BILLED AT THE GRAND

Salem theater-goers have been having quite a lay-off this month, the Grand being dark, so far as plays were concerned, most of the time, and it will remain so until January 30, when the "Squaw Man" will be put on. Following this they come pretty thick for a couple of weeks, and they are all good ones. February 3 "The Rosary." Two nights later is "Graumark." On the 7th is the "Red Rose," a musical comedy, with a real plot and a strong company. On the 9th "The Bohemian Girl," on the 17th "Paid in Full" and on the 24th those inimitable newspaper personages, "Mutt and Jeff" will be presented alive and up-to-date.

ANOTHER SLOGAN RIPE FOR PICKING

"Justice without sale, denial or delay; a clean and vigorous administration."

Now that is the slogan that Allan R. Joy, of Portland, who today filed with Secretary of State Olcott his declaration of intention to run for district attorney for Multnomah county, wants placed after his name.

Joy also says in his platform that he "solicits the votes of all good citizens." He promises them that he will make "no discrimination between the rich and poor, or capital and labor."

He also promises many other things along the same line.

FRENCH BARONESS SENTENCED TO DEATH

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Paris, Jan. 13.—Death sentence was today passed here upon Baroness De Courvigny, and her son was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for the murder of Baron De Courvigny.

Extenuating circumstances secured the lighter sentence for the son, who shot his father, after the wife had made three attempts to poison her husband. The baron had cut off his wife's allowance. She got her son intoxicated with absinthe, and then induced him to kill.

MANCHU PRINCES READY TO ABDICATE

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Peking, Jan. 13.—DeJails for the abdication of the emperor and the Manchu princes were arranged at a prolonged meeting of the principal members of the government this afternoon, and it is reported that the court's retirement to Jehol will take place almost immediately.

The Manchu princes agreed that this was the only course open to the throne, owing to the growing disorders in the provinces.

JOHNSON WILL AID IN LA FOLLETTE FIGHT

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]
Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 3.—Governor Hiram Johnson, before leaving for San Francisco Friday night, intimated that he was almost sure to join the La Follette campaign in the Middle West. Johnson is eager to go, unless the pressure of state affairs keeps him in California. If he is able to clear up several matters, and the signs indicate he will, he will be found on his way East by the latter part of next week.

Cashier Is Missing.

Tomales, Cal., Jan. 13.—Cashier Louis Bailey, of the Tomales bank, a wealthy rancher, is missing, and his wife fears foul play or suicide. Bailey carried large sums of money. He was last seen Saturday, when he announced he might go to San Francisco on business.

WHAT MEN LIKE IN WOMEN.

We have all heard men grow eloquent over the charm of modesty in a woman's behavior, dress and conversation. And we have seen those same men turn from modesty to pursue the gay, striking, amusing coquette. We have heard them discourse upon the worth of the domestic woman, who had no longing for any life beyond the walls of her home; the sweet home-maker whose needles was her delight in hours of repose, and whose preserves and pickles and angel cakes were the talk of the town, writes Ella Wheeler Wilcox in McCall's Magazine for February.

Yet we have seen this girl grow old and remain unsought by the clear, wise, dapper man, while the giddy flirt, who danced till dawn and slept till noon—and then only arose to massage and manure and plan new toilettes for the evening—was pursued by eager suitors.

One thing can be said with something of certainty. A man likes a woman who has the tact to listen with interest while he talks, and who draws him out to talk of himself—of his hopes, ambitions and joys and sorrows. And he likes the woman who can make him laugh. Given those two qualities, almost any type of woman becomes ideal to man, at least for the time being.

A woman of perception and power of analysis must understand that she continually has to remake herself after marriage in order to remain the ideal woman to her husband. He has enjoyed the pliancy and elusiveness and coquetry of the sweetheart he pursued; it all lent keen interest to the chase. But he wants those elements of his ideal woman eliminated at the altar. It is one thing to have an elusive sweetheart, who is cold today and warm tomorrow, but it is quite another thing to have a moody wife. It is one thing to win a coquettish maid from her army of pursuers, but quite another thing to see men fluttering about a coquettish wife.

Therefore the ideal bride must not imagine she has nothing to do but remain as she is in order to be a permanently ideal wife. That is simply out of the question.

Her life work has only just begun; and if she settles down into mere domesticity, mere loyalty, mere phlegmatic goodness, she will soon cease to be an ideal. The coquettish sweetheart must not grow dull or commonplace in her letting go of old coquettish. She must simply grow more capable of entertaining and amusing and pleasing her husband and his friends.

ALL YOUR STOMACH MISERY RELIEVED IN FIVE MINUTES

If you had some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now, your stomach distress or indigestion would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disturbances.

OLD BRIDGE ON SANTIAM WENT OUT YESTERDAY

Judge Bushey received advices this forenoon that the Green's Bridge on the Santiam was washed out at about 4 o'clock this morning.

The bridge was an old one—about 35 years of age, and for some years it had been expected that it would give way to the high water. The board of county commissioners will now face the problem of building a new one to take its place, and it is estimated that a good steel bridge cannot be constructed for less than $45,000 or $50,000.
