

"There's no 'Squeal' in Cottolene Madam"

Cottolene is a Pure Vegetable Product

Lard comes from pork and is simply hog fat. It is often indigestible. You take your chances.

Cottolene is made from the purest vegetable oil; it contains no hog fat, and never makes food greasy and indigestible. It is healthful and wholesome, and is economical because one-third less is required than of either butter or lard.

ROOSEVELT HAS MORE THAN ALL

(Kansas Weekly Star.)

Kansas City, Feb. 24.—It makes no difference whether the Weekly Star brings in two hundred or two thousand or ten thousand votes in the presidential possibilities, the result is always the same—Roosevelt gets more votes than all the others together. This ratio has prevailed day by day from the very beginning.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Votes. Lists names like Roosevelt, Bryan, etc. with corresponding vote counts.

THE OPEN FORUM

The Capital Journal invites public discussion in this department. Let both sides of all matters be fully brought out—it is not the purpose of this newspaper to do the thinking for its readers.

Ed. Journal: Since Teddy shied his hat into the ring it has caused some newspapers, as well as some of our statesmen to get up in the air for fear the "Keriol" will do something to the old constitution framed by the federal convention in Philadelphia on September 17, 1787.

It seems there is something wrong, and how to right that wrong is the question; not by adhering to old practices and theories, but by up-to-date plans and specifications.

A great question is before the people today. Labor and capital at war, high cost of living, scarcity of work in some localities, strikes and boycotts; nothing but fight! fight! fight!

It seems all our able statesmen at Washington have done in the last half century was to tinker with the tariff, and under that tinkering some have become quite wealthy, while the whole people paid for the music, and the band plays on.

JOHN SILVERTON

She Could Eat Him. [UNFINISHED LETTER.] Medford, Ore., March 1.—"I love Teddy Roosevelt; I could eat him; I wish he would be president all the time," thus spoke Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the world-famous contralto and prima donna, last night, when asked for her opinion of the political situation. The diva slipped into Medford last night unannounced, and passed a day at the Hotel Medford before the public was apprised of the fact. She was accompanied by her manager and 18-year-old son, Frederick.

"Dear old Teddy" she repeated with a smile of motherly affection. "I have sung for him, and I will sing his praises from one end of the country to the other. He stands for those things that go to make up the whole-some American home, the home with children, with ideals, and yet with a practical view of service."

"What do I think of woman suffrage?" Mme. Schumann-Heink gave a dramatic shudder. "No, no. The place for woman is in the home. The women of California tried to convert me, but I know too much of life and affairs. Politics is bad. Women would not lift politics up. Politics would drag women down. No, I never want to vote. My life is for my art and my eight children."

X-RAYS AND SMILES.

Madam Schumann-Heink, the hypnotized songstress, at Medford, made the statement that she "loved Teddy Roosevelt, and would like to eat him." Just imagine some of the extra high notes she would reach with the strenuous one in her little tummy, kicking against being digested.

If Madame Schumann-Heink really wants to eat Teddy, the horse editor can point out a gentleman from Ohio and another from Wisconsin who will furnish all the salt, pepper, mustard and other condiments to make the feed a hearty one, and enable her to clean up the dish.

W. J. Bryan enthused the Democrats at Portland last night in a two and a half-hour speech. He also enthused the stand-patters by roasting Roosevelt, even stirring the Oregonian up to words of praise for him.

The English coal miners' strike demonstrates that, coal miners doing nothing, can render the celebrated British navy harmless—putting them, as President Cleveland so epigrammatically put it, in a condition of "innocuous desuetude."

John Shaw, of Boston, 65 years old, has the jail record, having been thrown in 204 times, most of them for drinking not wisely but too much. Still with all those years a man who really wanted a record could get drunk oftener than that. The police must have been derelict in their duty, or the record would have been greater.

"to pay for the same and ease his conscience." A man who can stand a full grown mule on his conscience for 50 years is both tough and gritty, but the case illustrates the truth that "conscience makes cowards of us all," though during the Modoc war some one said it was "Sconchina."

WILL INVITE GRAND LODGE TO CEREMONY

The Elk's Lodge at its regular meeting last evening took a long stride toward the consummation of its new building project. A resolution was adopted pledging the resources of the lodge to whatever amount may be necessary for the erection of an up-to-date Elk's building. Among other things they fixed the date for the laying of the corner stone during the sessions of the Grand Lodge at Portland the second week in July.

This means a new building that will rival the Masonic Temple which is now under construction on State and High streets. It is everywhere conceded that the location of the Elk's hall on Court and High streets is one of the very finest in the city for this purpose, and will make a most desirable corner for business rooms and offices as well as for lodge purposes.

The greatest immediate point gained by the Elks in their action last evening is the securing of recognition from the Grand Lodge for the laying of the corner stone. This means that tens of thousands of visiting Elks from all points of the compass will come to Salem upon that occasion. An invitation will immediately go out to the Grand Lodge officials to take charge of the corner stone laying ceremonies, and the affair will be put on the official program, which alone is worth a great deal to the Salem Lodge as well as to the Capital City.
