For county judge ex-Senator Lot. Adams is making a vigorous campaign.

A. F. Blackerby, for some years postmaster and former as-sessor, is a candidate.

For representative A. A. Grinde and Dr. A. E. Wrightman are in the field.

The Silverton precincts have a big vote, and ought to get some places on the ticket.

SALEM HEIGHTS PROGRESSING.

The Capital Journal has established a carrier route at Salem Heights and about fifty papers are delivered every evening but

This shows how that beautiful suburb is building up, and where a few years ago stood the forest now are comfortable homes established.

Electric lights, telephones, the daily paper and sidewalks going in, are evidence of the rapid growth of the suburb to the Salem heights has a fine public school, regular church meetings, good street car service and the finest scenery in this part

THE LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

The Capital Journal is going to do all in its power to secure a good working delegation in the legislature from this county. The people do not want to make the mistake of sending too many men who are connected with the thousand and one grafts

A man goes to the legislature to protect and expand some board or commission or "institooshun" he must prove a burden-

He adds to the load father has to carry, and he has to stand in with all the other burden-makers, and the result is staggering taxes.

Geo. W. Johnson, of this city, seems to be the only one of the last delegation who desires a renomination to the legislature. Mr. Johnson says he made some mistakes, and voted for some big things he would not vote for again and believes he could do Geo. W. Weeks informs The Capital Journal that he will make an effort to be nominated and would fight to keep down

Mr. Weeks has some fighting ability and could stop some things, if he did not go there to get a job for himself or his

That kind of a man who would not introduce any bills to create offices and increase salaries and invent new burdens would The people want that kind of fellows and on top of that fellows who will fight everything of that kind, no matter who of-

Stop piling up the load father has to carry, or the people will abolish the legislature.

TAKING LAYMEN INTO THE PULPIT.

Rev. T. B. Ford, of the First Methodist church, of Oregon City, is a veteran church worker, and believes in making his church a homelike place for everybody.

He has had a series of talks in his church by lawyers, and school teachers and representatives of other professions. He believes in making the pulpit an open forum for the people, and if a man differs from him he does not roast him. He pulls off these special features on Sunday evenings and has enormous attendance from all classes of people, good bad and indifferent.

Dr. Ford has been a presiding elder of his church and belleves in making the church a social center for the whole com-

He recognizes the importance of higher socialization of the community, and stands for this writer's idea on that subject. If the more practical people in the churches and the best men and women outside of the churches would unite much could be done to improve conditions.

It is a better community atmosphere, a better social spirit, better environment of the young people and better equipment from the schools that must elevate mankind.

PECULIAR CONDITIONS IN OREGON.

With only one large city in the state and one great newspaper for the dominant party, Oregon is a lopsided state politically. The only recourse of the people, if they do not like the program that is put at them, is to defeat the Republican candidate.

That has been done so many times that it has become a habit with the people, and is about the only thing they think of doing. Outside of Portland the great majority of the newspapers do not express their political sentiment at all and remain non-com-

The Capital Journal alone expresses opinions on political matters at all forceful, or expreses any choice among candi-

So the few scattering stand-pat and postoffice newspapers are for Selling for senator, and the rest say nothing at all. If Senator Bourne were the best and most forceful senator in the United States, the state press would not say so. So it may be said to rest with the electorate—an electorate that will not be dictated to from Portland-to act, Fortunately in no state in the nation is the electorate so independent, and so ready to act. This is the political situation in Oregon as nearly as can be described at this time.

5-aw, who can beat this. S. A. J." The April St. Nicholas.

The April St. Nicholas.

The April St. Nicholas has two fine stories of adventure—very different, but with a brave lad the hero of each. One is Ford Walsh's "The Return of Okakok," the story of an exiled Eskitmo lad's hard journey home. The other is Frank B. Elser's "Wireless Peter," in which a plucky lad, fascinated by the magic of wire-opportunity will give you men opportunity and proportunity will give you men opportunity and proportunity will give you men lad, fascinated by the magic of wireless telegraphy, wins out in spite of many discouragements.

One of the joiliest bits of nonsense which has appeared in St. Nicholas for many a day are four illustrated pages of "The Canalboat Captain's told in jingle by Malcolm Douglas:

I'm werry like G. Washington, the old man said to me; cannot tell a whopper, which was just the case with G. But that story! Thoughts of Spring

New wearing apparel. When the buds begin to burst one naturally thinks of laying aside the heavy winter effects. Remember that the choicest blossoms may be plucked when the bush is in full bloom.

Now we offer the choicest of the season in every degarment---dependable merchandise at prices that credit stores can't match.

MEN'S SUITS

It may sound unreasonable to you when we say that our clothes display the same careful tailoring the same beautiful lines, the same perfect fitting qualities as high-class custom work. Brandegee, Kincaid & Co's tailors are men who are experts in their craft.

Furthermore there are no tedious try-ons---you get them immediately and the cost is about half. This spring styles are by far the brightest we have ever shown. Don't wait too long, Good things pass quickly.
