SALEM TO HAVE ANOTHER ELECTRIC ROAD CONNECTION WITH PORTLAND

S. P. SURVEYORS ARE AT WORK LOCATING LINE TO DAYTON CONNECTS WITH WEST SIDE

Plan is to Electrify the West Side Road, With Which New Line Will Connect at Dayton and Also the Line From Salem to that Point--Falls City Road Will Soon Begin Work on Willamette Bridge Here, and Will Build a Depot to Be Used By It and the New Dayton Line Jointly.

Information reaching here today that a crew of Southern Pacific surveyors is now engaged in making surveys along the river between here and Dayton, confirms a story printed exclusively in The Journal several months ago to the effect that the Southern Pacific would build a line from here to Dayton, making connections there with the West Side line, and giving it a route to Portland which will exceed in distance that of the Oregon Electric by only five miles. The plan is to electrify the West Side line, and also the line to be built from here to connect with it at Dayton. The fact that the company is having some trouble in Portland relative to franchises in Portland, it is stated, is deferring the electrifying of the line. By the time that these franchises are secured, however, it is predicted that the surveyors will have completed their work, and the company will be ready to begin construction work. Information received here today has it that the material for the bridge to be built across the Willamette river by the Salem, Falls City & Western will soon arrive. This company, upon entering the city, will also build a depot, and it is understood that the Southern Pacific, of which it is a branch, will share it with it for the line to be built down the river. From the same source comes the additional information that the Oregon Electric is active in the vicinity of Newberg, and that it has a crew of surveyors in the field. This is taken as an indication that this road intends entering this territory and compete with the Southern Pacific for the traffic.

ALL BOARDS MUST TURN OVER FUNDS
Relying upon an opinion rendered by Attorney-General Crawford, State Treasurer Kay is making a demand on all the state boards to turn over to him all unexpended funds they may have in their possession.

During the last legislature a law was passed providing that all boards should within ten days after it became a law turn over any unexpended funds they might have. Contending that the law did not apply to them, a number of boards have ignored it. Attorney-General Crawford now holds that the law applies to all boards, and that they must comply with it.

The boards which have failed to observe the law, and which must now comply, are: Board of Pharmacy, the State Board of Medical Examiners, the State Board of Examiners in Optometry, the State Board to License Sailor Boarding Houses, the State Board of Agriculture, the State Board of Examiners to Examine and Register Graduate Nurses, and the State Board of Agriculture and Horticulture. The State Board of Horticulture, however, does not have to turn over moneys from gate receipts, according to a decision of the supreme court, but all other moneys must be turned over to the treasury department.

CITY HAS AN ARMY OF IDLE MEN
San Francisco, March 28.—Spurred to action by a visit to his office in the city hall of 400 idle men, begging for work, Mayor James Rolph today is planning ways and means to care for San Francisco's army of 40,000 unemployed.

The police attempted to prevent the body from entering the city hall, but after the mayor learned of their presence he ordered them admitted to the supervisors' room, where he heard their complaints.
"We want a place to sleep," the spokesman said. "We want to eat three meals a day. Also we want work, but particularly a place to sleep and eat. Unless we receive immediate relief somebody is going to suffer financially. There will be no violence, but we are going to eat."
"We have been doing all in our power to solve the unemployed situation," said Mayor Rolph. "Steps have been taken to provide relief."
"But we cannot wait," insisted the men. "We do not wish to steal, but we must eat. In the name of humanity we ask you to give us food and a place to sleep at once."

A dramatic incident occurred when all who had no place to sleep were asked to hold up their hands. A majority of those present held up their hands. Then the gathering dispersed in an orderly manner.
Harry R. Bogart, of the San Francisco industrial relief agency today gave several hundred men three hours work, in return for which they will receive food and lodging. The public welfare committee of the board of supervisors is meeting today by order of the mayor to provide some means of relieving the situation.
