

THE POWER OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT

EUGENE REGISTER DISCUSSES THE SALEM MINISTER'S PLAN CONCERNING MARRIAGE OF DIVORCED PEOPLE.

Holding that easy marriage, easy divorce and easy remarriage are evils that are responsible for much of the infelicity and unhappiness of those who are not happily married, the ministers of Salem have met and passed resolutions agreeing to use all possible care not to marry couples where it is probable that a life-long union will not result, and to refuse to remarry during the lifetime of the other party anyone known to have been divorced for infidelity.

In this, the Salem ministers are attacking the problem of married unhappiness from the only angle that is likely, at present, to do much good. What their action amounts to is an expression of public sentiment. Of course, their refusal to perform the ceremony would not be an insuperable bar to the aspiring couple. There are other ministers, and railroad fare costs only three cents a mile. Or there is always the justice of the peace.

In reality, though, the knowledge that every minister in the city will refuse to perform the ceremony should have some effect upon couples who know themselves to be under the ban, in deterring them from contemplating marriage. Public sentiment is a powerful agent. People who know that by marrying they will call down upon themselves public disapprobation will probably hesitate about contemplating marriage.

There are grave doubts, however, as to the wisdom of another resolution adopted by the Salem ministers. The resolution reads:

"Resolved, That we ask the next legislature to pass a law requiring a physical examination by a competent authority of all candidates for matrimony, and denying a license to all who are found unfit."

Legal restriction of marriage has almost always resulted in increased immorality. Washington recently gave such a law a trial, and the results were anything but satisfactory. The divorce problem is one that should be solved before marriage, but public sentiment will prove more efficient than legal enactment.

Maybe you are one of those chaps who want the earth. If so, what would you do with the old thing if you had it?

TIZ REMINDS ME OF MY BAREFOOT DAYS

"My Feet Never Get Sore, Tired or Chafed Now, Because I Use Tiz." "Tiz makes me feel like a boy again. Nothing would hurt my feet in those days, even when I'd run around barefooted with Rover, over rocks and pebbles and sticks."

"To be able now to have feet that never ache, never get tired, blistered, swollen or chafed, or have corns, callouses or bunions, is a glorious recompense for all the other aches and pains one suffers in the winters of life. TIZ makes the feet feel young, and young feet make you feel young all over."

"I've tried many things for my poor old tired feet, for those bunions of 20 years, and for those corns that have added wrinkles to my face. I've tried plasters, powders and savens—and nothing has given the relief that TIZ has. My feet are now strong and vigorous, they never get tired or swollen, I have no corns, callouses or bunions any more—they are boy's feet on an old man!"

TIZ gives instant relief and cures all foot troubles. It operates on a new principle, draws out all the poisonous exudations that cause foot miseries.

Don't accept a substitute. An elderly man especially, has a mind of his own; see that you get TIZ.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere or sent direct, on receipt of the price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all drug stores, department and general stores.

MAYOR WOULD REFUSE OLD CARNEGIE'S MONEY

San Francisco, April 25.—Andrew Carnegie's money is no desired for San Francisco by Dr. Edward R. Taylor, former mayor of the city, and a member of the Municipal Library Board. At a meeting of the public welfare committee of the board of supervisors yesterday, he protested vigorously against the city accepting Carnegie's offer of $750,000 for a public library, made in 1910.

"Mr. Carnegie went to bed one night," he said, "with $130,000,000. He went down to breakfast the next morning and found the sum increased to $260,000,000. Do you want any of that money? I don't."

"I have always been against accepting the offer. Nothing could be more humiliating than the spectacle of the city holding out the hat to Carnegie. The city can build its own libraries without holding out the hat to Carnegie. Taking money from Carnegie is not popular."

OBEEDIENCE A NECESSITY IN TRAINING

AND THE BIGGEST AND BEST TRAINED LOT OF WILD ANIMALS EVER EXHIBITED IN SALEM, ARE THOSE TO BE SEEN HERE FRIDAY.

Absolute obedience from the animals is one of the great foundations of training wild animals. Without it, there would be no performing animals, and no trainer. Trainers often spend hours, and sometimes a whole day, insisting on an animal doing some little thing which he is reluctant to do. It is simply a matter of obedience and it must be insisted upon, no matter what trouble.

Herr Louis Roth, one of the most daring trainers in the world, who works a group of twenty African forest bred lions in the Al. G. Barnes Big Three Ring Wild Animal Circus, nearly lost his life at one time because he had not insisted on an animal promptly obeying him. Herr Roth prefers only to train the most savage and treacherous beasts, but in this case he had concluded that the animal was not feeling very well, and it is a strict rule that no animal who is the least sick is allowed to perform or be trained. For this reason the animal was led off; but the next time he absolutely refused to do what was wanted of him, and the fact of trying to make him do brought about an attack. As it was, Herr Roth got off with a badly torn hand and arm, and was ill for several weeks.

It is not the eye,—though that may express the qualities or resoluteness, of wariness, and patience,—it is the brain that controls a score of lions. In association with animals of the feline species, there is an ever present element of danger no matter how well trained they may be. Every time a trainer turns his back in a cage he risks his life; not a great risk, to be sure, but there is always a chance of death in a stroke. Yet it is impossible to keep the eye on half a dozen animals at once, let alone twenty, and the man must trust to good temper of his subjects and his own control and good fortune.

The greatest collection of wild animals ever assembled together at one time will be seen in Salem on Friday, when the Al. G. Barnes Big Three Ring Wild Animal Circus exhibits here.

Two performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. on the day of the exhibition. In order to view the mighty menageries the doors will be opened one hour preceding the show.

MAN AND THE SOIL.

Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, author of the Common Sense Medical Adviser, says "why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates. He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor, or by ill-health induced by some chronic disease."

Further, he says, "the great value of my Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the stomach and purify to the blood. It is like the phosphates which supply nature with the substances that build up the crops. The far-reaching action of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach. A bilious spell is simply the result of an effort made by the liver to catch up when over-worked and exhausted. I have found the 'Discovery' to be unsurpassed as a liver regulator and rich blood-maker."

Miss Lottie Knisely, of Perth, Kansas, says: "I will here add my testimony of the effectiveness of your remedy upon myself. I was troubled with indigestion for two years or more. Doctors with three different medicines besides taking numerous kinds of so-called 'stomach cures' but received no permanent relief. I was run down, could not sleep at night with the pain in my chest, caused by gas on the stomach. Was weak, could not scarcely anything although I was hungry nearly all the time. About one year and a half ago I began taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and after having taken several bottles an nearly cured of stomach trouble. Can now eat without distress and have gained fifteen pounds in weight. I thank you for your remedy and wish you all success in your good work."
