

BROKE THE RECORD IN BIG RACE

By a margin of 11 minutes the Y. M. C. A. team won over the Chemawa Indian team in the annual Salem-Portland relay race Saturday. In the absence of Governor West from the city, Ben W. Olcott, secretary of state, acted as starter. The race was gotten off at 10:08, going west on State to Commercial street and then north to Hood, then east to Fairgrounds road and on to Chemawa. Large crowds lined the streets along the course, while about 1500 people were on hand to witness the start. The first lap was won by Kietas Jim of the Chemawas, winning by 7 1/2 seconds over his pale-faced opponent, notwithstanding that he lost one shoe at a point about one-half mile north of the city limits. He showed good grit by running with only one shoe. In the second lap McDonald, of the Y's, passed Eli Gangra about one mile before coming to the end of the lap. Payton gained steadily on his dark-colored competitor, winning out by several seconds. For the balance of the course the white men were in the lead and gaining until at the close of the race there was a difference of about two miles in favor of the Y. M. C. A. team, the difference in time being 11 minutes. The Y team made the distance in 5 hours and 14 minutes and the Chemawas in 5 hours and 25 minutes, thus breaking all previous records in this event. The records of former years are: 1907, 5 hours, 25 minutes; 1908, 5 hours, 16 1/2 minutes; 1909, 5 hours, 31 minutes; 1910, 5 hours, 17 minutes; 1911, 5 hours, 25 minutes.

William Dale, the fourth lap runner for Chemawas, collapsed on account of sickness and thus the Indians lost about five minutes time. He soon regained his strength and resumed his way, running about two miles after his collapse. An automobile had gone forward to bring back Paul Finley, who ran the remainder of that lap, as well as his own.

It looked for a time as though the race would be contested because Bardollar dropped the message, which was picked up by a bicycle rider and taken forward to him, but Superintendent Chalcraft, of the Indian Training School, said that he believed it was purely accidental and fair, thus showing true sportsmanship.

The race had hardly closed before Supt. Chalcraft and A. M. Griley, athletic director of the Portland Y. M. C. A., had arranged another race for next year between teams from the same associations.

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Hoislaw, Clarendon, Texas, was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by 10 bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for coughs and colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at J. C. Perry's.

PAVING OF FRONT NOW UNDER WAY

An idea of the character of the improvement under way in Salem may be had by walking along Front street, from Ferry north to D street. This street is being paved with concrete, the contract having been given to the Bi-Concrete Paving & Cement company, of which L. O. Harrold is the manager. Work was begun on this pavement late last fall, the delay of several months being caused by adjustments of matters in which the Welch lines and the Oregon Electric were the principals. The question of turnouts and crossovers, and the question of common user clauses in the franchise being the bone of contention. These matters were finally all adjusted, and work was started by the contracting firm. A new barrier has now arisen which will mean delay on the paving of this street. While it will cause some delay to the permanent improvement of the street, most of those affected are willing to suffer the inconvenience a while longer, in order that a good street may be secured. As intimated, some delay will be further occasioned on account of the viaduct being constructed by the Salem Flouring Mills company from the east line of front street at Division street to the property line on the west line of Front street at D street, a distance of about 500 feet. The viaduct will be 5 feet high by 20 feet wide, and is made entirely of concrete, with reinforced steel top, being about two feet below the grade of the street. This improvement will cost about $30,000, the work being done under the supervision of E. I. Cantline. The pavement is to cost about $37,000, while the Welch people and the Oregon Electric have spent several thousand dollars more, making the cost of the entire improvement almost $75,000. There are several other important improvements along this street, among which is a fine warehouse, built recently by the Oregon Electric railway, at the corner of Chemeketa and Front streets, costing several thousand dollars.

Mr. Harrold resumed work on the paving today and intends rushing it to completion at as early a date as possible.

HISTORY OF THE ARCHDIOCESE OF OREGON CITY

The most complete and authentic history of the Archdiocese of Oregon City, yet published, is contained in the eleventh volume of the new Catholic encyclopedia. The early strivings of Catholic settlers for recognition in western Oregon are graphically recounted and the rise of the diocese from its humble beginnings to its present day important position in the community is treated at length.

The general scope and influence of the ecclesiastical, educational and charitable work of the diocese is tellingly reviewed. Interesting statistics hitherto unpublished have been compiled by the author, Edwin V. O'Hara, of Portland. Much new information is contained in the following excerpts taken from its pages:

"The Archdiocese of Oregon City includes that part of the state of Oregon west of the Cascade mountains, being bounded on the east by the counties of Wasco, Crook and Klamath. It comprises an area of 21,398 square miles. By an indent of the Holy See dated February 28, 1836, the Oregon county north of the American line was annexed to the vicariate Apostolic of Manager Provencher of Red River. By letters of April 17, 1848, Rev. F. N. Blanchet was appointed vicar-general to the Archdiocese of Quebec and assigned to the Oregon mission. The vicar-general established his first mission at St. Paul on the Willamette, and on January 6, 1839, dedicated at that place the first Catholic church in Oregon. The church had been constructed three years earlier by the Canadian settlers who had anticipated the coming of a missionary among them.

"As the line of demarcation between British and American territory was still undecided, and missionary priests had been sent into the country both from Canada and from the United States (De Smet had come from St. Louis), Oregon, became a joint mission depending upon the Bishops of Quebec and Baltimore. At the suggestion of these bishops, the mission was erected into a vicariate Apostolic by a brief of December 1, 1843. On July 24, 1846, the vicariate was transformed into a province comprising the Archdiocese of Oregon City and the Dioceses of Walla Walla and Vancouver's Island. With the transfer of the See of Walla Walla to Nesqueally (1848), the northern boundary of the Archdiocese of Oregon City was fixed at the Columbia River and the 46th degree latitude. This territory was diminished by the erection of the Vicariate of Idaho (1868) and finally received its present limits by the erection of the Diocese of Baker City (1903).

"Bishops: (1) Francois Norbert Blanchet was born September 3, 1795, and consecrated July 25, 1845. There were in the diocese in 1845, 10 priests, 12 Sisters of Notre Dame, and two educational institutions. The first priest ordained in Oregon was Father Jayol, the ceremony being performed by Archbishop Blanchet at St. Paul, September 10, 1847. On November 30, the archbishop consecrated at St. Paul, Bishop Demers, of Vancouver's Island. He convened the First Provincial Council of Oregon City, February 28, 1848. On December 21, Archbishop Blanchet left St. Paul and took up his residence at Oregon City. In 1852 the first church in the city of Portland was dedicated under the title of the Immaculate Conception. It became the pro-cathedral when Archbishop Blanchet moved to Portland in 1862.

"(2) Charles John Seghers was born December 26, 1839, at Ghent, successor to the pioneer Bishop Demers of Vancouver Island, and was transferred to Oregon City, December 10, 1875, and became coadjutor to Archbishop Blanchet who at once retired from active life. Archbishop Seghers is remembered for his heroic devotion to the Indian missions of Alaska which led him to resign the See of Oregon City in 1884.

"(3) William H. Gross (consecrated Bishop of Savannah, 1873) was promoted to the archiepiscopal See of Oregon City, February 1, 1885, and invested with the pallium in Portland by His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, October 5. On his death November 14, 1898, he was succeeded by the present archbishop. (4) Most Rev. Alexander Christie (consecrated Bishop of Vancouver's Island, June 29, 1898) was promoted to the archiepiscopal See of Oregon City, February 12, 1899. Statistics for 1909: diocesan priests, 50; priests of religious orders, 40; colleges, 3; secondary schools, 12; elementary schools, 35; pupils, 5500."

THE BOARD SELECTS TEACHERS

School teachers and principals of the grade schools of the city were elected Saturday night by the board of education. The teachers' committee, the city superintendent and the school clerk were directed to draw up contracts for the teachers to sign, which must be done within 10 days. Nearly all of the teachers of last year have been re-elected, but in place of those dropped, no others were elected. It is understood that all those dropped did not desire positions for the coming year. The list of those elected follows:

Jas. C. Dahlmann, serving his third term as mayor, Omaha, Neb., again was successful in receiving the overwhelming support of the voters in the primary election. He also successfully rid himself of a bad case of kidney trouble by the aid of Foley Kidney Pills, and writes: "I have taken Foley Kidney Pills and they have given me a great deal of relief, so I cheerfully recommend them." What Foley Kidney Pills have done for Mayor Dahlmann, they will do for any other person bothered with backache, rheumatism, or any other form of kidney or bladder trouble. Just try them for quick and permanent results. Dr. Stone Drug Co.

DEMOCRATS TO PUBLISH NEWSPAPER

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Democratic county central committee held Saturday that Salem is to have another newspaper. This time it is to be a Democratic paper, James E. Godfrey and W. H. Dalrymple are to have charge of the business affairs of the paper, which has the sanction of the county central committee. The first issue of the paper will appear about June 1st, of which the mechanical work will be done at the other printing offices in the city, as no definite location has so far been selected. The paper is to be a permanent affair, and not simply a campaign organ. As soon as a location can be secured the necessary machinery will be secured, and the gentlemen will proceed to put out a paper that will endeavor to represent the party in the state. There is room for it.
